JOHN J. McGEE,
Greffier du conseil privé.

HOTEL DU GOUVERNEMENT À OTTAWA.

Lundi, le 10e jour de juillet 1905.

PRÉSENT :

SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL EN CONSEIL.

ATTENDU que la maladie de la gale des bestiaux existe parmi le bétail dans toutes les régions des territoires d'Assiniboia et Alberta décrites comme étant bornées par la frontière internationale, les Montagnes Rocheuses et une ligne tirée comme suit :—

Une ligne depuis les Montagnes Rocheuses longeant la frontière sud-est de la Réserve des Assiniboines, de là longeant la frontière nord-est de la dite réserve jusqu'à la ligne mère du chemin de fer Canadien du Pacifique, de là dans une direction est longeant la dite ligne de chemin de fer jusqu'à la ligne entre les rangs 5 et 6 à l'ouest du 5e méridien, de là au nord longeant la dite ligne jusqu'à la ligne entre les townships 28 et 29, de là à l'est longeant la dite ligne jusqu'à la ligne du chemin de fer Calgary et Edmonton, de là au nord longeant le chemin de fer Calgary et Edmonton jusqu'à la ligne entre les townships 30 et 31, de là à l'est longeant la dite ligne jusqu'à la ligne entre les rangs 26 et 27 à l'ouest du 4e méridien principal, de là au nord longeant la dite ligne jusqu'à la ligne entre les townships 34 et 35, de là à l'est longeant la dite ligne jusqu'à la rivière du Daim, de là au nord longeant la dite rivière du Daim jusqu'à la ligne entre les townships 38 et 39, de là à l'est longeant la dite ligne jusqu'au 4e méridien principal, de là au sud longeant le 4e méridien principal jusqu'à la rivière du Daim, de là longeant les rivières du Daim et Saskatchewan jusqu'à la ligne entre les rangs 7 et 8 à l'ouest du 3e méridien, de là au sud longeant la dite ligne jusqu'à la ligne frontière internationale.

Et attendu qu'il est de la plus haute importance pour les intérêts des propriétaires de bétail et pour la conservation d'un marché profitable pour le bétail de l'ouest que la politique adoptée l'année dernière (1904) soit continuée dans le but d'extirper la maladie en question ;

Qu'après mûre considération et une enquête soigneuse il a été décidé que la période entre le 15 août et le 31 octobre est la plus convenable et la plus facile pour le traitement dans le but susdit,—

A ces causes, il plaît au Gouverneur général en conseil, en vertu des dispositions de l'article 29, chapitre 11, 3 Edouard VII, intitulé "Acte concernant les épizooties", d'ordonner que la région du pays ci-dessus décrite sera et elle est par le présent déclarée lieu infecté, et que toutes personnes possédant ou ayant la charge de bestiaux dans la région ci-dessus décrite, devront, durant la dite période, immerger ou autrement traiter les dits animaux à la satisfaction des officiers du ministère de l'Agriculture, pourvu que dans le cas où il sera démontré à la satisfaction des dits officiers que des animaux gardés enclos dans une étendue ou district bien défini dans la dite région ne sont pas atteints, et n'ont pas été exposés d'une façon quelconque à la contagion de la gale, ou ont été durant la dite période traités d'une manière satisfaisante et ensuite isolés de tous autres bestiaux, le directeur vétérinaire général pourra, en étant informé des faits, exempter cette étendue ou district du traitement compulsoire, mais cette disposition ne s'appliquera en aucun cas aux animaux gardés sur des ranches ouverts, ou sur du terrain non clôturé.

Un traitement satisfaisant consiste en l'immersion pendant deux minutes au moins dans une solution de chaux et de soufre d'une force d'au moins dix livres de chaux et vingt-quatre livres de soufre pour cent gallons d'eau préparée d'après les prescriptions des officiers du ministère de l'Agriculture.

Lorsqu' la chose sera approuvée par l'inspecteur en charge du district dans lequel sont gardés les animaux à traiter, les personnes possédant ou en charge de troupeaux d'au plus 30 têtes, pourront traiter leurs bestiaux à la main, et dans ce cas la préparation ci-dessous sera employée :—

Soufre.....	2 livres.
Huile de goudron.....	8 onces.
Huile de graine de lin crue...	1 gallon.

Dans chaque cas le fluide sera appliqué à une température d'au moins 105° et d'au plus 110° Fahrenheit, et le traitement sera répété après un intervalle d'au moins 10 jours et d'au plus 15 jours.

Si un propriétaire manque de traiter ou de faire une préparation satisfaisante pour le traitement de ses bestiaux le ou avant le 15 octobre, les dispositions de l'Ordre général en conseil concernant la gale, établi le 27 juin 1904, sera mis en vigueur.

Il plaît en outre au Gouverneur général en conseil d'ordonner qu'aucun bétail ne sera déplacé ni ne sera sorti de la région plus haut décrite, sans être accompagné du certificat d'un inspecteur du ministère de l'Agriculture, énonçant que ce bétail a été examiné par lui et trouvé exempt de contagion de la gale. Tout tel bétail, toutefois, sera, si l'inspecteur le juge à propos, détenu, immergé, arrosé ou autrement traité de la même manière que le directeur général vétérinaire prescrira de temps à autre.

Nulle compagnie de chemin de fer n'acceptera ni ne chargera un envoi d'animaux à aucun point dans la dite région sauf pour abattage immédiat, tel que prescrit par l'article 7 du susdit acte, à moins que cet envoi ne soit accompagné du certificat d'un inspecteur.

Aux endroits où des bestiaux du dit district sont déchargés, ils seront placés dans des cours spéciales, et ces cours ne serviront à nulle autre fin et seront nettoyés et désinfectés quand un inspecteur l'ordonnera.

Tous les wagons et autres véhicules employés au transport de ces bestiaux seront nettoyés et désinfectés à la satisfaction d'un inspecteur aussitôt que possible après avoir été déchargés et avant d'être employés à un autre envoi.

Toutes les factures et connaissements qui accompagnent des envois de bestiaux provenant du dit district porteront à leur face lisiblement écrit ou estampé, un avis à l'effet que les dits wagons doivent être nettoyés et désinfectés immédiatement après avoir été déchargés.

Les animaux qui sont atteints ou ont été exposés à la contagion de la gale peuvent être expédiés pour abattage immédiat à des endroits dans la région plus haut décrite aux conditions suivantes :—

(1) A moins qu'ils ne soient chargés dans des cours spéciales et chutes réservées exclusivement à ces envois, toutes les cours et chutes employées par eux seront déclarées lieux infectés et ne seront pas une seconde fois employées à l'envoi de bétail sain sans avoir été nettoyées et désinfectées à la satisfaction de l'inspecteur ; on ne les laissera pas venir en contact avec d'autres animaux ; ils seront directement consignés qu'aux abattoirs dans la région plus haut décrite qui sont munis de cours et chutes privées ; ils ne seront pas déchargés à aucun point en route et ne seront pour aucune raison que ce soit déplacés vivants de l'abattoir ou des cours et lieux qui y sont attachés.

(2) Les wagons qui transportent ces animaux seront nettoyés et désinfectés à la satisfaction d'un inspecteur immédiatement après avoir été déchargés.

PRÉSENTS :

A. C. KILLAM, C.R.,

Chef de la Commission.

L'honorable M. E. BERNIER, LL.D.,

Chef suppléant de la Commission.

DANS L'AFFAIRE DE LA plainte de la Dominion Millers' Association, en vertu de l'Acte des chemins de fer, 1903, à la Commission, relativement aux taux exigés par la Compagnie du Grand-Tronc de chemin de fer du Canada, et la Compagnie de chemin de fer Canadien du Pacifique pour le transport de la fleur et autres produits du grain ;

La Dominion Millers' Association, la Canadian Manufacturers' Association, la Compagnie de chemin de fer Canadien du Pacifique, et la Compagnie du Grand-Tronc de chemin de fer du Canada ayant comparu par leurs représentants respectifs ; sur le rapport de l'officier-chef du trafic de la Commission et la preuve produite—

ORDONNÉ,—

1. Que, tant que les compagnies possédant ou exploitant des lignes de voies ferrées dans Ontario trouveront avantageux et à propos de continuer le présent système de baser leurs taux de transport d'exportation jusqu'aux ports de mer du Canada et des Etats-Unis, sur les pourcentages des taux oo-existants de Chicago à New-York ou jusqu'à ce que la Commission en ordonne autrement, les dites compagnies substitueront les groupements de stations suivants et les pourcentages maxima suivants des taux de Chicago à New-York, aux groupements de stations et pourcentages antérieurement adoptés et aujourd'hui en usage, savoir :—

groupe.

1. De Toronto à King, Kleinburg, Waterloo, Galt, Paris, Brantford et Jarvis, et la péninsule de Niagara ;

3. Nord et ouest du groupe 2 jusqu'à Haliburton, Midland, Penetanguishene, Collingwood, Proton, Listowel, Mount Forest, Harriston, Goderich, et les rivières St. Clair et Détroit..... 78%

5. Nord du groupe 4 jusqu'à Emsdale, Owen Sound, Wiarton, Southampton et Kincardine..... 85%
6. Nord de Emsdale jusqu'à et y compris North Bay..... 90%

2. Que, lorsque les taux sur le fret d'exportation depuis Chicago, Détroit, Port Huron et les points intermédiaires jusqu'à Montréal sont, comme aujourd'hui, plus bas que les taux exigés pour le même fret, dans le même temps, depuis les mêmes points, jusqu'à New-York, alors la même différence existera au moins entre les taux d'exportation depuis des endroits en Ontario jusqu'à Montréal et les taux exigés pour le même fret, dans le même temps, depuis les mêmes endroits, jusqu'à New-York, les taux jusqu'à Montréal étant les plus bas ; et les taux ordinaires pour l'été et les facilités jusqu'à la ville de Montréal ne seront pas excédés sur le fret d'exportation, pour lequel les mêmes taux seront assujétis à l'article 252, paragraphe 3 de l'Acte des chemins de fer de 1903, tel que modifié par l'article 268, paragraphe 4.

3. Que les taux depuis Toronto jusqu'à Montréal, pourront, comme maxima, être appliqués depuis des endroits à l'est jusqu'à et y compris la ligne Whitby-Manilla-Lindsay ; à l'est de laquelle ligne jusqu'à et y compris la ligne Cobourg-Hastings-Norwood, les taux seront cinq pour cent moindres que depuis Toronto ; et à l'est de la dite ligne Cobourg-Hastings-Norwood jusqu'à et y compris Belleville, Ivanhoe et Madoc dix pour cent moindres que depuis Toronto. Depuis les stations à l'est de Belleville, Ivanhoe et Madoc les taux seront gradués en descendant comme dans les tarifs actuellement en force.

4. Les frais de transfert et de havre au port d'exportation seront comme de coutume, et sans disparité entre les ports, ou entre les expéditeurs ou les localités.

5. Que l'annonce et la publication des changements de taux ne seront pas effectués au détriment des expéditeurs canadiens.

6. Que les dispositions du présent arrêté devront couvrir tout le trafic d'exportation, y compris les grains et les produits du grain.

IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 26th May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting with reference to two Orders in Council dated respectively 3rd February, 1903, and 17th August, 1904, under the provisions of which Orders in Council certain lands in Manitoba which had been reported as swamp lands by joint reports of Messrs. Jukes and Ducker, Swamp Lands Commissioners, dated respectively 30th April, 1902, and 12th May, 1903, (and being the lands enumerated in Schedule marked "B" attached to the said Order in Council dated 3rd February, 1903, and comprising a total area of 90,840 acres, and the lands enumerated in Schedule marked "B" attached to the said Order in Council dated 17th August, 1904, and comprising a total area of 87,840 acres) were reserved for the purpose of transfer to the Province of Manitoba, title to the said lands to be vested in the Province when the Surveyor General reported the lands surveyed.

The Minister states that included in the said schedules are the lands enumerated in the Schedule marked "A", comprising a total area of 16,285 acres, according to the plans of the township surveys, and these lands being surveyed and there being, therefore, no reason why they should not be transferred to the said Province the Minister recommends that title to the said lands enumerated in Schedule marked "A" be vested in His Majesty King Edward VII for the purposes of the Province of Manitoba under the provisions of the fourth section of chapter forty-seven of the Revised Statutes of Canada.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

THE Committee of the Privy Council have had under consideration a communication dated 19th January 1905, from the Lieutenant Governor of the Province of British Columbia with respect to the reclamation of certain lands situated within what is known as the Sumas Dyking District.

The Minister of the Interior to whom the matter was referred states that having considered the scheme proposed for the dyking and reclamation of the lands in question and for their protection thereafter; and having also considered the petitions of those persons who are opposed to such enterprise, recommends as follows:—

(a) That the proposed enterprise is in the public interest and is one which merits the grant of lands (enumerated in the schedule) which are at present of no marketable value and which unless they are properly dyked and reclaimed will remain of no value;

(b) That the Minister of the Interior be authorized, as the representative of King Edward VII in this matter, to enter into an agreement with James A. Lewis of Chicago, in the terms set forth in the draft agreement or in such other terms as may be agreed upon between them, for the proper dyking, reclamation and protection of all lands situated in Townships sixteen (16) Nineteen (19) Twenty (20) Twenty-two (22) and Twenty-three (23) in the District of New Westminster, in the Province of British Columbia, which are now liable to periodical overflow from the Fraser River at high water;

(c) That upon the completion of such dyking works to the satisfaction of the Dyking Commissioners and to the satisfaction of the Minister of the Interior as provided or set forth in the draft agreement, the Minister of the Interior may cause to be issued in favour of Mr. Lewis or of him and his associates or of the company mentioned or referred to in such draft agreement, letters patent under the Great Seal of Canada, for the Dominion Lands in the area to be so benefited, which said Dominion Lands are mentioned or set out in the schedule.

(d) That all other undertakings or agreements which have been entered into with any person or company under the authority of any Order in Council or otherwise by the Department of the Interior and all concessions which have been granted to any person or company in pursuance of any of such undertakings or agreements, for the dyking and reclamation of the lands to be so dyked, reclaimed and protected under the authority of the agreements to be so entered into between the Minister of the Interior and Mr. Lewis, to be declared to have lapsed and to have become absolutely null and void.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, 22nd day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 13th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting that section 4 of the regulations governing the issue of yearly licenses and permits to cut timber on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the North-west Territories and the Railway Belt in the Province of British Columbia, which regulations were established by Order in Council of the 1st July, 1898, and subsequent Orders in Council, provides that before any timber can be cut on a berth held under license the licensee shall have a survey made by a duly qualified Dominion Land Surveyor and the plan and field notes of such survey filed in the Department of the Interior.

The Minister states that Mr. Thomas Quigley acquires under license Berth No. 1165, which comprises the north-east quarter of Section 2 and the south-west quarter of Section 12, Township 27, Range 6, west of the 5th Meridian. As this township has been subdivided some of the boundaries of the berth have been surveyed. Mr. Quigley has cut a considerable quantity of timber without having the other boundaries of the berth surveyed, which is contrary to the regulations above referred to.

The Minister further states that an inspection has been made of this berth by an officer of the Department of the Interior, who reports that the operations conducted by Mr. Quigley have been confined to the limits of his berth and that there is no necessity of having a survey made as the berth is comprised of a strip of timbered lands bounded by a surveyed line on one side and open prairie on the other.

The Minister recommends, as the object in having a survey made is to confine the licensee to the limits of his berth, that, under the circumstances above cited, it is not necessary to have a survey made of Berth No. 1165.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

RÈGLES RELATIVES AUX AVIS DE BILLS PRIVÉS.

Toutes demandes, quelles qu'elles soient, adressées au Parlement pour bills privés, devront être précédées d'un avis dans la Gazette du Canada; le dit avis devra énoncer clairement et distinctement la nature et l'objet de la demande, et devra être signé par ou au nom des postulants avec les adresses des signataires; et lorsque la demande aura pour objet un acte constitutif, le nom de la compagnie projetée devra être donné dans l'avis. Et si les travaux de quelque compagnie (constituée ou à être constituée légalement) doivent être déclarés comme étant d'utilité générale, cette intention sera spécifiquement mentionnée dans l'avis; et les postulants feront adresser une copie du dit avis, par lettre chargée, au greffier de chaque municipalité qui pourra être affectée spécialement par la construction ou l'exploitation des dits travaux, et aussi au secrétaire de la province dans laquelle les dits travaux sont ou pourront être situés; et une déclaration statutaire devra constater que cette formalité a été remplie par les postulants.

Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de " l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893 ".

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation, doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis, d'une déclaration qu'il a été signifié une copie de l'avis, et d'une copie du bill qui doit être présenté.

ON a Report dated 25th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that a large number of persons have taken possession of certain parcels or lots of land in the Townsite of Field in the Province of British Columbia, and improved the same and that many of such persons have built dwelling-houses and stores or shops upon such lots or parcels of land, respectively, although they have no title thereto.

The Minister further states that applications are now constantly being received in the Department of the Interior from many of the persons referred to, for title to the lands they have so taken possession of, built upon and improved.

The Minister therefore recommends that Thomas Gainsford Rothwell, of the City of Ottawa, in the Province of Ontario and Dominion of Canada, Law Clerk of the Department of the Interior, be appointed a Commissioner for the purpose aforesaid, to conduct an inquiry into each and every claim of the nature before mentioned to any lands in the said Townsite of Field and to submit all evidence taken by him at such inquiry with his report thereto to the Minister of the Interior so that he, the Minister, may take or cause to be taken such action as he may consider fair and equitable, in the interest not only of the several claimants but also in the interests of the Crown, and in the public interest, to finally adjust and settle such claims; and that he, the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell be also authorized to inquire into, take and submit evidence and report thereon to the Minister, with regard to any other matter or thing connected with or in any way concerning the said Townsite of Field, which may appear to him, the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell, the Minister should be informed of, so that the same may be finally adjusted and settled in the manner before mentioned.

The Minister further recommends that there be conferred upon the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell by his Commission all powers which the Governor in Council is authorized to confer by virtue of the provisions of chapter 114 of the Revised Statutes of Canada.

IN COUNCIL.

THE Committee of the Privy Council have had under consideration a communication dated 19th January 1905, from the Lieutenant Governor of the Province of British Columbia with respect to the reclamation of certain lands situated within what is known as the Sumas Dyking District.

The Minister of the Interior to whom the matter was referred states that having considered the scheme proposed for the dyking and reclamation of the lands in question and for their protection thereafter; and having also considered the petitions of those persons who are opposed to such enterprise, recommends as follows :—

(a) That the proposed enterprise is in the public interest and is one which merits the grant of lands (enumerated in the schedule) which are at present of no marketable value and which unless they are properly dyked and reclaimed will remain of no value ;

(b) That the Minister of the Interior be authorized, as the representative of King Edward VII in this matter, to enter into an agreement with James A. Lewis of Chicago, in the terms set forth in the draft agreement or in such other terms as may be agreed upon between them, for the proper dyking, reclamation and protection of all lands situated in Townships sixteen (16) Nineteen (19) Twenty (20) Twenty-two (22) and Twenty-three (23) in the District of New Westminster, in the Province of British Columbia, which are now liable to periodical overflow from the Fraser River at high water ;

(c) That upon the completion of such dyking works to the satisfaction of the Dyking Commissioners and to the satisfaction of the Minister of the Interior as provided or set forth in the draft agreement, the Minister of the Interior may cause to be issued in favour of Mr. Lewis or of him and his associates or of the company mentioned or referred to in such draft agreement, letters patent under the Great Seal of Canada, for the Dominion Lands in the area to be so benefited, which said Dominion Lands are mentioned or set out in the schedule.

(d) That all other undertakings or agreements which have been entered into with any person or company under the authority of any Order in Council or otherwise by the Department of the Interior and all concessions which have been granted to any person or company in pursuance of any of such undertakings or agreements, for the dyking and reclamation of the lands to be so dyked, reclaimed and protected under the authority of the agreements to be so entered into between the Minister of the Interior and Mr. Lewis, to be declared to have lapsed and to have become absolutely null and void.

[Ref. 493,536]

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, 22nd day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 13th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting that section 4 of the regulations governing the issue of yearly licenses and permits to cut timber on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the North-west Territories and the Railway Belt in the Province of British Columbia, which regulations were established by Order in Council of the 1st July, 1898, and subsequent Orders in Council, provides that before any timber can be cut on a berth held under license the licensee shall have a survey made by a duly qualified Dominion Land Surveyor and the plan and field notes of such survey filed in the Department of the Interior.

The Minister states that Mr. Thomas Quigley acquires under license Berth No. 1165, which comprises the north-east quarter of Section 2 and the south-west quarter of Section 12, Township 27, Range 6, west of the 5th Meridian. As this township has been subdivided some of the boundaries of the berth have been surveyed. Mr. Quigley has cut a considerable quantity of timber without having the other boundaries of the berth surveyed, which is contrary to the regulations above referred to.

The Minister further states that an inspection has been made of this berth by an officer of the Department of the Interior, who reports that the operations conducted by Mr. Quigley have been confined to the limits of his berth and that there is no necessity of having a survey made as the berth is comprised of a strip of timbered lands bounded by a surveyed line on one side and open prairie on the other.

The Minister recommends, as the object in having a survey made is to confine the licensee to the limits of his berth, that, under the circumstances above cited, it is not necessary to have a survey made of Berth No. 1165.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Clerk of the Privy Council.

Jukes and Ducker, Swamp Lands

Commissioners, dated respectively 30th April, 1902 and 12th May, 1903, (and being the lands enumerated in Schedule marked "B" attached to the said Order in Council dated 3rd February, 1903, and comprising a total area of 90,840 acres, and the lands enumerated in Schedule marked "B" attached to the said Order in Council dated 17th August, 1904, and comprising a total area of 87,840 acres) were reserved for the purpose of transfer to the Province of Manitoba, title to the said lands to be vested in the Province when the Surveyor General reported the lands surveyed.

(174) DETROIT RIVER—AMHERSTBURGH REACH—ELLIOTT POINT RANGE LIGHTS AND THE FLOAT LIGHTS CHANGED IN POSITION.

On the 26th July, 1905, in order to cause vessels to traverse the western portion of the channel abreast of Amherstburg, Detroit river, instead of the eastern portion as at present, and because of dredging operations now in progress, the following changes in aids to navigation in that channel were made.

Two steel skeleton towers 50 and 70 feet high, respectively, have been erected on Elliott point to mark the centre line of the channel to be used, which is 300 feet wide. The range targets now on Elliott point have been removed and the buoys and floating lights have been moved to the westward 300 feet, marking the side lines of the channel.

Each of the Elliott point fixed red reflector lights was moved about 500 feet southwesterly and re-established in the above mentioned steel towers on the eastern side of Detroit river. The range line now marked by these lights has the same bearing as the former line and lies about 300 feet to the westward of it.

Canada.—No. 296.

DOWNING STREET, August 17, 1905.

MY LORD,—With reference to your despatch No. 147 of 17th April last, I have the honour to transmit to you, for the information of your Ministers, an extract from a letter from the Board of Agriculture relative to the embargo on the importation of live cattle into this country.

2. I have to add that His Majesty's Government have given the fullest consideration to the representations made to them on this subject, but much regret that they feel themselves unable to propose to Parliament any amendment of the existing law.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble servant,

ALFRED LYTTTELTON.

Governor General

EARL GREY, G. C. M. G.,

&c., &c., &c.

Extract of a Letter from the Board of Agriculture to the Colonial Office, dated 1st August, 1905.

* * * *

Experience has shown that the existing Statutory requirement that all cattle imported into this country shall be slaughtered in wharves provided for the purpose at the port of landing is no obstacle to the development and maintenance of a large and valuable trade. In the case of Argentine, the number of cattle imported into Great Britain steadily rose from 4,200 in 1891, to 85,000 in 1899, when the trade was interrupted by the introduction of Foot and Mouth Disease in that country. The value of the imports in question was £68,000 in 1891 and £1,392,000 in 1899. During the whole of that period the requirement of slaughter was in force. The case of the United States shows similar results. The number of cattle imported in 1879 was 76,000 with a value of £1,782,000. In 1904 the number imported was 401,000 with a value of £7,160,000. Slaughter at the port of landing was required for the first time in 1879 and has been enforced ever since. The Board are glad to observe that similar results are indicated in the case of Canada. The imports during the past two years have been as follows:—

	No. of cattle imported.	Declared value.
1903.....	190,812	£3,315,762
1904.....	146,598	2,547,451

The highest figure recorded prior to 1892, when slaughter at the port of landing was first required, was in 1890. The imports in that year were 120,469 with a declared value of £1,892,298.

The existing law does not cast any stigma or discredit upon Canadian cattle, for it holds good not only in the case of the United States and other foreign countries, but also in that of every British Colony; including both Australia and New Zealand whence live cattle have in the past been imported into Great Britain. It is in fact a sanitary law of universal application of great importance to stock-owners at home as a valuable safeguard against the introduction of disease, but not at all inconsistent with the transaction of a large and growing trade, as has already been shown.

The experience of Argentina in 1900, and more recently of the United States in 1902 has shown how suddenly and unexpectedly Foot and Mouth Disease may make its appearance in a country, quite irrespective of the maintenance of an efficient veterinary organization. In the former case diseased animals were actually imported into this country, and it was only by dint of good fortune and the most strenuous exertions that the infection was kept within the limits of the Foreign Animals Wharves. A similar result might well have happened in 1902 in the case of the United States, notwithstanding the ability and the energy of the Department of Agriculture in that country.

The enormous losses which British agriculturists have suffered during the last thirty years, mainly by reason of the increased pressure of colonial and foreign competition, make it more than ever necessary that every possible precaution should be taken against the introduction of disease, consistent with the reasonable requirements of colonial producers and the interests of consumers at home. The consequence of the recurrence in Great Britain of epidemics of disease, such as have been experienced in the past, would now be disastrous, and consumers as well as producers would be affected throughout the country. It is therefore in the general interest that no risk should be taken which can be avoided by the maintenance of a law which provides a considerable measure of security against the introduction of disease, and at the same time does so without any serious stoppage of trade and without rendering it necessary for any action of an invidious character to be taken in regard to the cattle imported from a particular colony or country.

ON a Report dated 25th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that a large number of persons have taken possession of certain parcels or lots of land in the Townsite of Field in the Province of British Columbia, and improved the same and that many of such persons have built dwelling-houses and stores or shops upon such lots or parcels of land, respectively, although they have no title thereto.

The Minister further states that applications are now constantly being received in the Department of the Interior from many of the persons referred to, for title to the lands they have so taken possession of, built upon and improved.

The Minister therefore recommends that Thomas Gainsford Rothwell, of the City of Ottawa, in the Province of Ontario and Dominion of Canada, Law Clerk of the Department of the Interior, be appointed a Commissioner for the purpose aforesaid, to conduct an inquiry into each and every claim of the nature before mentioned to any lands in the said Townsite of Field and to submit all evidence taken by him at such inquiry with his report thereto to the Minister of the Interior so that he, the Minister, may take or cause to be taken such action as he may consider fair and equitable, in the interest not only of the several claimants but also in the interests of the Crown, and in the public interest, to finally adjust and settle such claims; and that he, the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell be also authorized to inquire into, take and submit evidence and report thereon to the Minister, with regard to any other matter or thing connected with or in any way concerning the said Townsite of Field, which may appear to him, the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell, the Minister should be informed of, so that the same may be finally adjusted and settled in the manner before mentioned.

The Minister further recommends that there be conferred upon the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell by his Commission all powers which the Governor in Council is authorized to confer by virtue of the provisions of chapter 114 of the Revised Statutes of Canada.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

THE Committee of the Privy Council have had under consideration a communication dated 19th January 1905, from the Lieutenant Governor of the Province of British Columbia with respect to the reclamation of certain lands situated within what is known as the Sumas Dyking District.

The Minister of the Interior to whom the matter was referred states that having considered the scheme proposed for the dyking and reclamation of the lands in question and for their protection thereafter; and having also considered the petitions of those persons who are opposed to such enterprise, recommends as follows:—

(a) That the proposed enterprise is in the public interest and is one which merits the grant of lands (enumerated in the schedule) which are at present of no marketable value and which unless they are properly dyked and reclaimed will remain of no value;

(b) That the Minister of the Interior be authorized, as the representative of King Edward VII in this matter, to enter into an agreement with James A. Lewis of Chicago, in the terms set forth in the draft agreement or in such other terms as may be agreed upon between them, for the proper dyking, reclamation and protection of all lands situated in Townships sixteen (16) Nineteen (19) Twenty (20) Twenty-two (22) and Twenty-three (23) in the District of New Westminster, in the Province of British Columbia, which are now liable to periodical overflow from the Fraser River at high water;

(c) That upon the completion of such dyking works to the satisfaction of the Dyking Commissioners and to the satisfaction of the Minister of the Interior as provided or set forth in the draft agreement, the Minister of the Interior may cause to be issued in favour of Mr. Lewis or of him and his associates or of the company mentioned or referred to in such draft agreement, letters patent under the Great Seal of Canada, for the Dominion Lands in the area to be so benefited, which said Dominion Lands are mentioned or set out in the schedule.

(d) That all other undertakings or agreements which have been entered into with any person or company under the authority of any Order in Council or otherwise by the Department of the Interior and all concessions which have been granted to any person or company in pursuance of any of such undertakings or agreements, for the dyking and reclamation of the lands to be so dyked, reclaimed and protected under the authority of the agreements to be so entered into between the Minister of the Interior and Mr. Lewis, to be declared to have lapsed and to have become absolutely null and void.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

ON a Report, dated 13th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting that section 4 of the regulations governing the issue of yearly licenses and permits to cut timber on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the North-west Territories and the Railway Belt in the Province of British Columbia, which regulations were established by Order in Council of the 1st July, 1898, and subsequent Orders in Council, provides that before any timber can be cut on a berth held under license the licensee shall have a survey made by a duly qualified Dominion Land Surveyor and the plan and field notes of such survey filed in the Department of the Interior.

The Minister states that Mr. Thomas Quigley acquires under license Berth No. 1165, which comprises the north-east quarter of Section 2 and the south-west quarter of Section 12, Township 27, Range 6, west of the 5th Meridian. As this township has been subdivided some of the boundaries of the berth have been surveyed. Mr. Quigley has cut a considerable quantity of timber without having the other boundaries of the berth surveyed, which is contrary to the regulations above referred to.

The Minister further states that an inspection has been made of this berth by an officer of the Department of the Interior, who reports that the operations conducted by Mr. Quigley have been confined to the limits of his berth and that there is no necessity of having a survey made as the berth is comprised of a strip of timbered lands bounded by a surveyed line on one side and open prairie on the other.

The Minister recommends, as the object in having a survey made is to confine the licensee to the limits of his berth, that, under the circumstances above cited, it is not necessary to have a survey made of Berth No. 1165.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

ON a Report, dated 26th May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting with reference to two Orders in Council dated respectively 3rd February, 1903, and 17th August, 1904, under the provisions of which Orders in Council certain lands in Manitoba which had been reported as swamp lands by joint reports of Messrs. Jukes and Ducker, Swamp Lands Commissioners, dated respectively 30th April, 1902, and 12th May, 1903, (and being the lands enumerated in Schedule marked "B" attached to the said Order in Council dated 3rd February, 1903, and comprising a total area of 90,840 acres, and the lands enumerated in Schedule marked "B" attached to the said Order in Council dated 17th August, 1904, and comprising a total area of 87,840 acres) were reserved for the purpose of transfer to the Province of Manitoba, title to the said lands to be vested in the Province when the Surveyor General reported the lands surveyed.

The Minister states that included in the said schedules are the lands enumerated in the Schedule marked

"A", comprising a total area of 16,285 acres, according to the plans of the township surveys, and these lands being surveyed and there being, therefore, no reason why they should not be transferred to the said Province the Minister recommends that title to the said lands enumerated in Schedule marked "A" be vested in His Majesty King Edward VII for the purposes of the Province of Manitoba under the provisions of the fourth section of chapter forty-seven of the Revised Statutes of Canada.

(174) DETROIT RIVER—AMHERSTBURGH REACH—
ELLIOTT POINT RANGE LIGHTS AND THE FLOAT LIGHT CHANGED IN POSITION.

On the 26th July, 1905, in order to cause vessels to traverse the western portion of the channel abreast of Amherstburg, Detroit river, instead of the eastern portion as at present, and because of dredging operations now in progress, the following changes in aids to navigation in that channel were made.

Two steel skeleton towers 50 and 70 feet high, respectively, have been erected on Elliott point to mark the centre line of the channel to be used, which is 300 feet wide. The range targets now on Elliott point have been removed and the buoys and floating lights have been moved to the westward 300 feet, marking the side lines of the channel.

Each of the Elliott point fixed red reflector lights was moved about 500 feet southwesterly and re-established in the above mentioned steel towers on the eastern side of Detroit river. The range line now marked by these lights has the same bearing as the former line and lies about 300 feet to the westward of it.

SUBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

L'époux qui a l'intention de demander un bill de divorce doit faire connaître cette intention, ainsi que les noms de l'autre époux et la cause du divorce, par

avis inséré durant six mois avant la présentation de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, la Colombie-Britannique ou les territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province ; mais si ce nombre de journaux ne s'y trouve pas, l'avis sera publié dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins. Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de " l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893 ".

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

DESPATCHES, Etc.

Canada.—No. 296.

DOWNING STREET, August 17, 1905.

My LORD,—With reference to your despatch No. 147 of 17th April last, I have the honour to transmit to you, for the information of your Ministers, an extract from a letter from the Board of Agriculture relative to the embargo on the importation of live cattle into this country.

2. I have to add that His Majesty's Government have given the fullest consideration to the representations made to them on this subject, but much regret that they feel themselves unable to propose to Parliament any amendment of the existing law.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,
Your Lordship's most obedient humble servant,

ALFRED LYTTELTON.

Governor General

EARL GREY, G. C. M. G.,
&c., &c., &c.

Extract of a Letter from the Board of Agriculture to the Colonial Office, dated 1st August, 1905.

* * * *

Experience has shown that the existing Statutory requirement that all cattle imported into this country shall be slaughtered in wharves provided for the purpose at the port of landing is no obstacle to the development and maintenance of a large and valuable trade. In the case of Argentine, the number of cattle imported into Great Britain steadily rose from 4,200 in 1891, to 85,000 in 1899, when the trade was interrupted by the introduction of Foot and Mouth Disease in that country. The value of the imports in question was £68,000 in 1891 and £1,392,000 in 1899. During the whole of that period the requirement of slaughter was in force. The case of the United States shows similar results. The number of cattle imported in 1879 was 76,000 with a value of £1,782,000. In 1904 the number imported was 401,000 with a value of £7,160,000. Slaughter at the port of landing was required for the first time in 1879 and has been enforced ever since. The Board are glad to observe that similar results are indicated in the case of Canada. The imports during the past two years have been as follows :—

	No. of cattle imported.	Declared value.
1903.....	190,812	£3,315,762
1904.....	146,598	2,547,451

The highest figure recorded prior to 1892, when slaughter at the port of landing was first required, was in 1890. The imports in that year were 120,469 with a declared value of £1,892,298.

The existing law does not cast any stigma or discredit upon Canadian cattle, for it holds good not only in the case of the United States and other foreign countries, but also in that of every British Colony ; including both Australia and New Zealand whence live cattle have in the past been imported into Great Britain. It is in fact a sanitary law of universal application of great importance to stock-owners at home as a valuable safeguard against the introduction of disease, but not at all inconsistent with the transaction of a large and growing trade, as has already been shown.

The experience of Argentina in 1900, and more recently of the United States in 1902 has shown how suddenly and unexpectedly Foot and Mouth Disease may make its appearance in a country, quite irrespective of the maintenance of an efficient veterinary organization. In the former case diseased animals were actually imported into this country, and it was only by dint of good fortune and the most strenuous exertions that the infection was kept within the limits of the Foreign Animals Wharves. A similar result might well have happened in 1902 in the case of the United States, notwithstanding the ability and the energy of the Department of Agriculture in that country.

The enormous losses which British agriculturists have suffered during the last thirty years, mainly by reason of the increased pressure of colonial and foreign competition, make it more than ever necessary that every possible precaution should be taken against the introduction of disease, consistent with the reasonable requirements of colonial producers and the interests of consumers at home. The consequence of the recurrence in Great Britain of epidemics of disease, such as have been experienced in the past, would now be disastrous, and consumers as well as producers would be affected throughout the country. It is therefore in the general interest that no risk should be taken which can be avoided by the maintenance of a law which provides a considerable measure of security against the introduction of disease, and at the same time does so without any serious stoppage of trade and without rendering it necessary for any action of an invidious character to be taken in regard to the cattle imported from a particular colony or country.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 11th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that the Royal North-west Mounted Police have been for some time in occupation of the North-East quarter of Section 20, and the south half of Section 29, in Township 5, Range 27, west of the fourth meridian ; that they have fenced in about 50 acres of the former and about 60 acres of the latter for the purpose of the " Police Kootenai Detachment " and that the police buildings are located upon the N.E. ¼ of Section 20.

[Ref. 493,536]

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, 22nd day of July, 1905.

PRESENT:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 13th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, submitting that section 4 of the regulations governing the issue of yearly licenses and permits to cut timber on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the North-west Territories and the Railway Belt in the Province of British Columbia, which regulations were established by Order in Council of the 1st July, 1898, and subsequent Orders in Council, provides that before any timber can be cut on a berth held under license the licensee shall have a survey made by a duly qualified Dominion Land Surveyor and the plan and field notes of such survey filed in the Department of the Interior.

The Minister states that Mr. Thomas Quigley acquires under license Berth No. 1165, which comprises the north-east quarter of Section 2 and the south-west quarter of Section 12, Township 27, Range 6, west of the 5th Meridian. As this township has been subdivided some of the boundaries of the berth have been surveyed. Mr. Quigley has cut a considerable quantity of timber without having the other boundaries of the berth surveyed, which is contrary to the regulations above referred to.

The Minister further states that an inspection has been made of this berth by an officer of the Department of the Interior, who reports that the operations conducted by Mr. Quigley have been confined to the limits of his berth and that there is no necessity of having a survey made as the berth is comprised of a strip of timbered lands bounded by a surveyed line on one side and open prairie on the other.

The Minister recommends, as the object in having a survey made is to confine the licensee to the limits of his berth, that, under the circumstances above cited, it is not necessary to have a survey made of Berth No. 1165.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. MCGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

DÉPÊCHES, Etc.

Canada.—No 296.

DOWNING STREET,
17 août 1905.

MILORD,—Relativement à votre dépêche No 147 du 17 d'avril dernier, j'ai l'honneur de vous transmettre, pour le renseignement de vos ministres, un extrait d'une lettre du Bureau d'Agriculture au sujet de l'embargo sur l'importation du bétail dans ce pays.

2. Je dois ajouter que le gouvernement de Sa Majesté a étudié soigneusement les représentations qui lui ont été faites à ce sujet, mais il regrette beaucoup qu'il se trouve incapable de proposer au parlement aucune modification à la loi actuelle.

J'ai l'honneur d'être,

Milord,

Votre très humble et obéissant serviteur,

ALFRED LYTTTELTON.

Au Gouverneur général

Son Excellence le Très honorable

COMTE GREY, G.C.M.G.,

etc., etc., etc.

Extrait d'une lettre du Bureau de l'Agriculture au Bureau des Colonies, datée le 1er d'août 1905.

* * * *

L'expérience a démontré que la loi actuelle qui exige que tout le bétail importé dans ce pays soit abattu aux quais pourvus à cette fin au port de débarquement, n'offre pas d'obstacle au développement et entretien d'un trafic considérable et profitable. Dans le cas de la République Argentine, le nombre des bestiaux importés dans la Grande-Bretagne s'éleva graduellement de 4,200 en 1891, à 85,000 en 1899, alors que le trafic fut interrompu par l'introduction de la maladie du pied et de la bouche dans ce pays-là. La valeur des importations en question fut de £68,000 en 1891 et £1,392,000 en 1899. Durant toute cette période la loi de l'abattage fut en vigueur. Le cas des Etats-Unis fait voir des résultats semblables. Le nombre des bestiaux importés en 1879 fut de 76,000, avec une valeur de £1,782,000. En 1904 le nombre importé fut de

401,000 avec une valeur de £7,160,000. L'abattage au port de débarquement fut obligatoire pour la première fois en 1879, et a toujours été mis en force depuis. Le Bureau est heureux d'observer que de semblables résultats sont indiqués dans le cas du Canada. Les importations durant les deux dernières années sont comme suit :—

	N° de bestiaux importés.	Valeur déclarée.
1903.....	190,812	£3,315,762
1904.....	146,598	2,547,451

Le plus haut chiffre connu avant 1892, alors que l'abattage au port de débarquement fut premièrement exigé, a été en 1890. Les importations de cette année-là furent de 120,469, avec une valeur déclarée de £1,892,298.

La loi actuelle ne jette aucun louche ou tache sur le bétail canadien, car elle est exécutoire non seulement pour les Etats-Unis et autres pays étrangers, mais aussi pour chaque colonie britannique, y compris l'Australie et la Nouvelle-Zélande d'où du bétail a été par le passé importé dans la Grande-Bretagne. De fait, c'est une loi sanitaire d'application universelle d'une grande importance pour les propriétaires de bestiaux dans ce pays comme sauvegarde contre l'introduction de la maladie, mais nullement incompatible avec un commerce considérable et lucratif, comme la chose a déjà été démontrée.

L'expérience de la République Argentine en 1900, et plus récemment des Etats-Unis en 1902, a fait voir avec quelle soudaineté et quel imprévu la maladie du pied et de la bouche peut se déclarer dans un pays, nonobstant le maintien d'une organisation vétérinaire efficace. Dans le premier cas des animaux malades furent actuellement importés dans ce pays, et ce ne fut que par bonheur et grâce à des efforts énorés que l'infection fut restreinte dans les limites des quais destinés aux bestiaux étrangers. Un résultat identique aurait bien pu arriver en 1902 dans le cas des Etats-Unis malgré l'habileté et l'énergie du Département de l'Agriculture de ce pays-là.

Les pertes énormes qu'ont subies les agriculteurs britanniques dans le cours des derniers trente ans, dues principalement à la pression toujours croissante de la concurrence coloniale et étrangère, font qu'il est plus que jamais nécessaire que toutes les précautions possibles soient prises contre l'introduction de la maladie, compatibles avec les exigences raisonnables des producteurs coloniaux et les intérêts des consommateurs de ce pays. Les conséquences d'une recrudescence dans la Grande-Bretagne des épidémies de maladie, comme celles qui ont été éprouvées par le passé, seraient désastreuses aujourd'hui, et les consommateurs aussi bien que les producteurs en souffriraient par tout le pays. L'intérêt du public en général exige donc qu'aucun risque ne soit couru qui peut être évité par le maintien d'une loi qui offre un certain degré de sûreté contre l'introduction de la maladie, et en même temps opère sans gêner sérieusement le commerce, et sans rendre nécessaire de prendre des mesures d'une nature irritante au sujet des bestiaux importés d'une certaine colonie ou pays en particulier.

Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de "l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893".

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

DOWNING STREET, August 17, 1905.

MY LORD,—With reference to your despatch No. 147 of 17th April last, I have the honour to transmit to you, for the information of your Ministers, an extract from a letter from the Board of Agriculture relative to the embargo on the importation of live cattle into this country.

2. I have to add that His Majesty's Government have given the fullest consideration to the representations made to them on this subject, but much regret that they feel themselves unable to propose to Parliament any amendment of the existing law.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble servant,

ALFRED LYTTTELTON.

Governor General

EARL GREY, G. C. M. G.,

&c., &c., &c.

Extract of a Letter from the Board of Agriculture to the Colonial Office, dated 1st August, 1905.

* * * *

Experience has shown that the existing Statutory requirement that all cattle imported into this country shall be slaughtered in wharves provided for the purpose at the port of landing is no obstacle to the development and maintenance of a large and valuable trade. In the case of Argentine, the number of cattle imported into Great Britain steadily rose from 4,200 in 1891, to 85,000 in 1899, when the trade was interrupted by the introduction of Foot and Mouth Disease in that country. The value of the imports in question was £68,000 in 1891 and £1,392,000 in 1899. During the whole of that period the requirement of slaughter was in force. The case of the United States shows similar results. The number of cattle imported in 1879 was 76,000 with a value of £1,782,000. In 1904 the number imported was 401,000 with a value of £7,160,000. Slaughter at the port of landing was required for the first time in 1879 and has been enforced ever since. The Board are glad to observe that similar results are indicated in the case of Canada. The imports during the past two years have been as follows :—

	No. of cattle imported.	Declared value.
1903.....	190,812	£3,315,762
1904.....	146,598	2,547,451

The highest figure recorded prior to 1892, when slaughter at the port of landing was first required, was in 1890. The imports in that year were 120,469 with a declared value of £1,892,298.

The existing law does not cast any stigma or discredit upon Canadian cattle, for it holds good not only in the case of the United States and other foreign countries, but also in that of every British Colony; including both Australia and New Zealand whence live cattle have in the past been imported into Great Britain. It is in fact a sanitary law of universal application of great importance to stock-owners at home as a valuable safeguard against the introduction of disease, but not at all inconsistent with the transaction of a large and growing trade, as has already been shown.

The experience of Argentina in 1900, and more recently of the United States in 1902 has shown how suddenly and unexpectedly Foot and Mouth Disease may make its appearance in a country, quite irrespective of the maintenance of an efficient veterinary organization. In the former case diseased animals were actually imported into this country, and it was only by dint of good fortune and the most strenuous exertions that the infection was kept within the limits of the Foreign Animals Wharves. A similar result might well have happened in 1902 in the case of the United States, notwithstanding the ability and the energy of the Department of Agriculture in that country.

The enormous losses which British agriculturists have suffered during the last thirty years, mainly by reason of the increased pressure of colonial and foreign competition, make it more than ever necessary that every possible precaution should be taken against the introduction of disease, consistent with the reasonable requirements of colonial producers and the interests of consumers at home. The consequence of the recurrence in Great Britain of epidemics of disease, such as have been experienced in the past, would now be disastrous, and consumers as well as producers would be affected throughout the country. It is therefore in the general interest that no risk should be taken which can be avoided by the maintenance of a law which provides a considerable measure of security against the introduction of disease, and at the same time does so without any serious stoppage of trade and without rendering it necessary for any action of an invidious character to be taken in regard to the cattle imported from a particular colony or country.

ORDERS IN COUNCIL.

[Ref. 493,539]

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Saturday, the 22nd day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS representations have been made to the Department of the Interior that the South-west quarter of Section 28, Township 11, Range 5, west of the 4th Meridian, was valuable for stock-watering purposes ;

An whereas it has been reported that this land is situated at the crossing of a creek on a much used trail ; that the ranchers for a considerable distance north and south in driving stock along the road are in the habit of camping at this point to water their stock and to allow them to graze ; and that, under the circumstances, the Minister of the Interior regards the request made that this land be reserved a reasonable one,—

Therefore the Governor General in Council is pleased to order that the South-west quarter of Section 28, Township 11, Range 5, west of the 4th Meridian, shall be and the same is hereby reserved for stock-watering purposes.

JOHN J. McGEE,

Clerk of the Privy Council.

[Ref. 495,891]

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Thursday, the 27th day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by an Order in Council dated the 28th November, 1903, provision was made that the patent for a mining location in the Yukon Territory shall reserve to the Crown forever the same royalty upon the products of the location as is provided, or may hereafter be provided, in the case of placer mining claims, such royalty to be paid in the manner provided in the regulations governing placer mining ;

And whereas by an Order in Council dated the 21st of May, 1902, provision is made that on all gold sought to be shipped from the Yukon Territory there shall be levied and collected a royalty of two and one-half per cent of its value, such royalty to be paid in currency to the Comptroller of the Yukon Territory or to some person duly authorized by him in that behalf, and the gold for the purpose of estimating such royalty shall be valued at $15.00 per ounce ;

And whereas it is considered expedient that the royalty collected, under the provisions of the regulations, on gold extracted by quartz mining operations, be abolished,—

Therefore, the Governor General in Council is pleased, in virtue of clause 47 of The Dominion Lands Act, as enacted by section 5 of chapter 15 of 55-56 Victoria, and of section 8 of The Yukon Territory Act, as amended by section 3 of chapter 34 of 2 Edward VII, to order and it is hereby ordered that the Minister of the Interior be authorized to abolish the collection of royalty on gold produced from any quartz claim or group of quartz claims in the Yukon Territory in respect to which expenditure of money has been made to the amount of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars, within five years after the date of the Order in Council authorizing such abolition of the collection of royalty or within five years after the date of issue hereafter of the patent for such claim, or, in case of a group of claims, within five years after the date of issue hereafter of the patent first issued for one of the claims included in such group, in developing mining and milling ore from such claim or group of claims or in otherwise treating such ore so as to obtain the gold therefrom and in respect to which claim or group of claims a suitable plant, the cost of which shall be included in estimating the amount of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars above mentioned, has been installed and put in actual operation within such five years for milling or otherwise so treating such ore, and provided that such plant is capable of milling or otherwise so treating not less than five tons of such ore per day for every claim in respect to which such plant is installed.

The Governor in Council, is further pleased to order that the Minister of the Interior be authorized to make such regulations as may seem necessary,—

(1) to provide for the issue by the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory, upon satisfactory evidence being furnished to him of the facts, in every proper case,

(a) of a certificate that certain claims specified in such certificate are entitled to be included in any such group, and

(b) of a certificate that such expenditure has been made within such years and such plant installed and put in operation, and that such plant is capable of milling or otherwise treating as aforesaid such quantities of ore as aforesaid, and

(2) to enable the officers of the Crown engaged in the collection of royalty to distinguish such gold from that produced from placer mining operations.

The Governor in Council is further pleased to order as follows:—

(1) No gold mined from any quartz claim in respect to which such certificates have been issued shall thereafter for a period of ten years be liable to pay any royalty or export tax provided that the regulations to be made as aforesaid have been fully complied with.

(2) Any attempt to defraud the Crown, by mixing placer mining gold with gold produced from quartz mining operations, shall be punished by confiscation of both the quartz and placer mining gold so mixed or sought to be mixed.

And whereas by an Order in Council dated 12th of September, 1898, provision was made that there shall be paid to the Government on the gross output of copper mined in the Yukon Territory a royalty to be fixed by the Minister of the Interior, not exceeding five per cent on such gross output, and it has been represented that the reasons advanced for the abolition of the royalty on gold produced from quartz mining apply with equal force to copper mined in the Territory, and that the abolition of such tax in the case of copper would probably result in the establishment of a smelter within the Territory.

Therefore the Governor General in Council is pleased to order as follows:—

(1) That the provisions of the Order in Council of the 12th of September, 1898, imposing a royalty on the gross output of copper mining locations in the Yukon, be amended so as to exempt from payment of royalty any copper claim or group of copper claims in respect to which expenditure of money has been made to the amount of not less than fifty thousand dollars within ten years after the date of the Order in Council authorizing such exemption, or within ten years after the date of issue hereafter of the patent for such claims or, in case of a group of claims, within ten years after the date of issue hereafter of a patent first issued for one of the claims included in such group, in developing and mining copper ore from such claim or group of claims and in reducing the copper and other metals in such ore into mattes and in respect to which claim or group of claims a suitable smelter or other plant, the cost of which shall be included in estimating the amount of not less than fifty thousand dollars above mentioned, has been installed and put in operation within such ten years for mining and so reducing such ore and provided that such smelter or other plant is capable of reducing into such mattes not less than ten tons of such ore per day for every claim in respect to which such smelter or other plant is installed, and that the Minister of the Interior be authorized to make regulations to provide for the issue by the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory, upon satisfactory evidence being furnished to him, of the facts, in every case, of a certificate (a) that certain claims specified in such certificate are entitled to be included in any such group, and of a certificate (b) that such expenditure has been made within such years and such smelter or other plant has been installed and put in operation and that such smelter or other plant is capable of reducing as aforesaid such quantities as aforesaid.

(2) That no copper, gold, silver or other metal obtained from copper ore, mined from any copper claim in respect to which such certificates have been issued, shall be liable to pay any royalty or export tax provided any regulations made in regard to the mode of proof requiring to establish that such copper, gold, silver and other metals have been obtained from copper ore mined as aforesaid, are fully complied with.

Clerk of the Privy Council.

[Ref. 493,792].

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Friday, 21st day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 29th May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating as follows with regard to the application of Mr. J. B. Ferguson, of Vancouver, and his associates, now the Western Oil and Coal Company, hereinafter referred to as the company, for a grant to that company or to Mr. William Aldridge or his legal representatives of the north-west quarter of section 29 in Township 1, Range 30, west of 4th Meridian, and of the other lands hereafter described under the regulations approved by the Governor in Council respecting prospecting for petroleum in Dominion Lands and for the sale of such lands :—

1. That petroleum has been discovered in paying quantities by Mr. Aldridge and by the company in the north-west quarter of Section 29 in Township 1 and Range 30, west of the 4th Meridian, the first discovery having been made by Mr. Aldridge in that quarter section in 1899.

2. That although such quarter section is School Lands the company, with the full knowledge and consent of the late Minister of the Interior (the Honourable Mr. Sifton) and his Deputy (Mr. Smart) and of other officers of the Department of the Interior, having entered into an agreement (of which a copy was received in the Department of the Interior on the 8th September, 1904) with M. Aldridge for the purchasing of his interests in such quarter section and in other lands which he might be granted or be entitled to be granted under the regulations before referred to, has expended, according to solemn declarations on file in such Department, $28,000.00 and over, between the year 1903 and the present date, in placing the machinery upon the quarter section before mentioned and in the operations necessary for the proper opening up of Mr. Aldridge's and the company's discoveries.

3. That under the Regulations before referred to an applicant who has discovered petroleum in paying quantities is entitled to a grant, as provided in such regulations, of the surface rights of 1,920 acres and of all the petroleum therein but not of any other minerals.

4. That if the machinery which is now upon such lands belonged to Mr. Aldridge he would now be entitled to a grant of the surface rights of 1,920 acres of land including the said north-west quarter of Section 29 and of the petroleum therein, and that if the company had filed in the Department of the Interior an absolute and unconditional assignment executed in favour of the company by Mr. Aldridge of his interests in such lands, in accordance with his agreement with the company, the company would be entitled to such grant.

5. That as one of the provisions of the regulations before referred to is that the grant of 1,920 acres provided for by such regulations must be contiguous, one of the parcels of land which would be therefore included in such area of 1,920 acres would be the whole of fractional Section 11 in Township 1 and Range 1, west of the 5th Meridian; but that as it is also School Lands the adjoining fractional Section 2 in the same township and range has been substituted for such fractional Section 11, although it—fractional Section 2—is not contiguous to the other lands selected.

6. That before the said Section 29 can be patented to Mr. Aldridge or to the company the provisions of a Bill, or to the like effect, must be enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

7. That all the lands in question were of no commercial value until the operations of the company made them of value and that it therefore appears to the Minister of the Interior to be but just and equitable that the price of such lands and of the other lands hereafter described, making in all the total area of 1920 acres, should be the prices fixed by the regulations before referred to.

The Minister, therefore, recommends that the following parcels of land which (including the north-west quarter of Section 29 before mentioned) have been selected by the company to make the total grant of 1920 acres provided for under the regulations hereinbefore referred to, and which have been already reserved in the books of the Department of the Interior for such purpose, be reserved until an Act has been passed by the Parliament of Canada containing the provisions in a Bill, or provisions to like effect, and that letters patent for such lands be then issued by the Minister of the Interior upon the terms and prices provided by and specified in the regulations before referred to in favour of Mr. William Aldridge or his legal representatives : the north-west quarter and the south-west quarter of Section 29, the north-east quarter and the fractional south-west quarter of Section 19, all in Township 1, and Range 30, west of the 4th Meridian and the north half of Section 13, the south-east quarter of Section 23, the east half of Section 14, and all of fractional Section 2, all in Township 1 and Range 1, west of the 5th Meridian.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. McGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

Excepting and reserving thereout the surveyed public road one chain in width crossing the said land and containing an area of fifty-one and seventy-nine hundredths (51.79) acres more or less, and as shown on a plan of Indian Reserve number 150C, signed by A. W. Ponton, Dominion Land Surveyor, of record in the Department of Indian Affairs, a certified copy whereof is of record in the Department of the Interior under number 10810, and as shown outlined in blue on a plan.

The Minister recommends under sub-clause A of clause 90, of the Dominion Lands Act, that two Indian Reserves as above described be confirmed subject to existing rights as defined or created thereunder and be subject to the jurisdiction of the Department of Indian Affairs.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

4. The lessee shall pay an annual rental at the rate of two cents for every acre covered by his lease, and

The lessee will be required to furnish a return to the Department of the Interior on the 1st of July in each year showing the number of head of stock on the leasehold owned by the lessee. Should the number of stock on the leasehold, after the expiration of the period in which the lessee is required under these Regulations to have the requisite number of stock placed thereon, be less than the number mentioned in this clause, the lessee shall be liable on receiving three months' notice to have withdrawn from his leasehold an area of twenty acres for each head of stock less than the number which the Regulations provide he shall place on the leasehold.

5. Before a lease is issued it will be necessary for the applicant to either homestead land or purchase 160 acres within the tract applied for at the rate of $3.00 per acre as a home farm and corral, and the lessee will be required to place his buildings thereon within one year from the date of the lease.

6. If any of the lands leased produces hay, the lessee is not entitled to use, sell or barter the same, but the lessee may, upon applying to the Agent of Dominion Lands in whose district the land is situated, obtain in accordance with the Regulations in that behalf, the first permit free of dues, to cut so much of the hay as the lessee actually requires for the use of his own stock, provided the rental of the leasehold has been paid. The Agent may then issue permits to other applicants and the permittees will be entitled to enter upon the leasehold to cut and remove the quantity of hay specified in their permits, subject, however, to such conditions as the Minister of the Interior may think proper for the protection of the lessee.

7. Leases can only be acquired by owners of stock, and if the leasehold has been secured by misrepresentation as to the ownership of stock, or other material facts, the lease may be summarily cancelled.

8. Before an application can be considered it will be necessary for the applicant to post up notices of his applications in at least four conspicuous places on the lands applied for, and also in the nearest post office for thirty days, and make a statutory declaration of having done so. Leases may be granted for an area of land at the rate of sixty acres for each head of stock, or five sheep, of which the applicant is the owner at the time he makes his application, and a statutory declaration must be furnished as to the number of stock and the owner thereof. A report shall also be obtained by the Department of the Interior from the Inspector of Ranches that upon inspection of the land applied for he found it unfit for agricultural purposes. He shall also report as to whether, and to what extent, the land is occupied, and, if so, by whom and what improvements, if any, there are upon it; the names of the owners of stock grazing within six miles of the land applied for; the number of stock owned by each, and the location of the owners' headquarters. That in case of dispute as to the land to be leased to each owner of stock, the decision of the Minister of the Interior shall be final.

9. The frontage of a leasehold on a lake, river or creek shall not exceed one mile for every four miles in depth.

10. The lessee will not be entitled to break or crop any portion of the leasehold.

11. No person shall be allowed to place sheep on Dominion Lands except in such tracts as have already been or may at any future time be specially set apart for that purpose by the Minister of the Interior.

12. Failure to fulfil any of the conditions of his lease shall subject the lessee to forfeiture thereof.

13. The lease shall be in such form as may be determined by the Minister of the Interior, in accordance with these Regulations.

Clerk of the Privy Council.

Saturday, the 22nd day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 31st May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that a number of applications have from time to time been made to the Department of the Interior for permission to remove stone or rock from School Lands, but as there is no provision in the Regulations under which permits could be issued for this purpose, and some revenue derived for the School Lands Fund, it has been considered advisable to refuse all applications of this kind.

The Minister further states that it has however, been represented to him that it would be in the interests of the School Endowment Fund, and also in that of the public, to issue permits authorizing the removal of field stone or boulders from School Lands subject to the payment of a certain office fee and certain dues, the permit to be on the lines of the one issued for cutting hay on School Lands and Dominion Lands,—that is to say, to cover a certain number of loads of stone applied for, and to be returnable at the end of the period for which it was issued, with the affidavit of the permittee endorsed thereon as to the quantity of field stone or boulders taken from the land.

The Minister therefore recommends that authority be granted for the issue of permits to remove field stone or boulders from School Lands, subject to the following conditions,—the permit to be issued for a period of such number of months as the Minister may determine, and to be subject to an office fee of twenty-five cents, and also to dues at a rate to be determined by the Minister, to be returnable at the expiration of that period with the affidavit of the permittee endorsed thereon as to the quantity of stone or rock taken from the land.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Clerk of the Privy Council.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 31st May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that applications are made to the Department of the Interior from time to time for permits to explore for Petroleum on School Lands, and, while there is provision in the Regulations for the issue of permits for that purpose on Dominion Lands, there is no provision for such permits with respect to School Lands.

That the conditions of the permit to explore for Petroleum on Dominion Lands would not be applicable to School Lands for the reason that should Petroleum be found in paying quantities the purchaser is given the option, under the Dominion Lands Permit, to purchase the land at a certain rate while the Dominion Lands Act expressly provides that School Lands shall be sold at public auction only.

The Minister is of opinion, however, that it would be in the interest of the public, as well as in that of the School Lands Endowment Fund, to grant permits to explore for petroleum on School Lands for a certain period, giving the permittee the option, should he find petroleum in paying quantities, of leasing the land for a term of years, subject to a certain rental, and to the payment of a royalty to the School Lands Fund on the output of oil.

The Minister, therefore, recommends that authority be given for the issue of permits to explore for Petroleum on School Lands, subject to the following terms and conditions :—

The permit to be subject to the payment of an office fee of twenty-five cents and also to the payment of a ground rent of $5.00 for each section, or part thereof, for the period covered by the permit. The permit to be issued for a period of six months, but to be renewable at the expiration of that time at the option of the Minister of the Interior.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 15th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that applications are received from time to time by the Department of the Interior to acquire School Lands for the purpose of boring for Petroleum thereon, and as the Dominion Lands Act provides that School Lands shall only be sold by public auction, and as the regulations do not provide for the issue of leases for the purpose mentioned it has been necessary to refuse all such applications.

The Minister further states that representations, however, have been made that it would be in the interest both of the School Lands Endowment Fund and of the public to issue leases of School Lands for this purpose as a revenue would be derived therefrom for the School Lands Fund and at the same time the Petroleum industry would be encouraged.

The Minister therefore recommends that he be authorized to issue leases of School Lands for the purpose of boring for Petroleum, the lease to be issued for a term of ten years and to be subject to a rental of thirty cents per acre, payable yearly in advance, and also to a royalty of five per cent on the oil sold, the lessee to furnish sworn statements to the Department of the Interior at such time, and in such form as the Minister of the Interior may prescribe, as to the quantity of oil sold.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

(8) That clause 21 be amended by changing the words, "A claim shall be recorded with the Mining Recorder," to the words, "an application for a claim shall be filed with the Mining Recorder."

(9) That clause 26 be amended by providing that during the absence of the Mining Recorder the application for an entry for a claim may be received by any person the Mining Recorder may appoint, but the grant must be issued by the Mining Recorder.

(15) That section 43 be omitted as there are now no Crown Claims on Dominion Creek.

(16) That section 45 be omitted as there are now no whole or fractional mining claims reserved to the Crown.

(17) That Form "H," the form of application for a placer mine, be amended by the adding of the words "that I am entitled to receive an entry in accordance with section 36 of the Regulations."

ON a Report dated 25th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that a large number of persons have taken possession of certain parcels or lots of land in the Townsite of Field in the Province of British Columbia, and improved the same and that many of such persons have built dwelling-houses and stores or shops upon such lots or parcels of land, respectively, although they have no title thereto.

The Minister further states that applications are now constantly being received in the Department of the Interior from many of the persons referred to, for title to the lands they have so taken possession of, built upon and improved.

The Minister therefore submits that it is expedient to afford each of them and all others who may be in any way interested in any lands in the Townsite of Field, an opportunity of establishing his claim before a Commissioner to be appointed by the Governor in Council, and to be clothed with the powers of summoning witnesses and of requiring them to give evidence on oath and with the other powers which may be conferred upon him under the provisions of chapter 114 of the Revised Statutes of Canada.

The Minister therefore recommends that Thomas Gainsford Rothwell, of the City of Ottawa, in the Province of Ontario and Dominion of Canada, Law Clerk of the Department of the Interior, be appointed a Commissioner for the purpose aforesaid, to conduct an inquiry into each and every claim of the nature before mentioned to any lands in the said Townsite of Field and to submit all evidence taken by him at such inquiry with his report thereto to the Minister of the Interior so that he, the Minister, may take or cause to be taken such action as he may consider fair and equitable, in the interest not only of the several claimants but also in the interests of the Crown, and in the public interest, to finally adjust and settle such claims; and that he, the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell be also authorized to inquire into, take and submit evidence and report thereon to the Minister, with regard to any other matter or thing connected with or in any way concerning the said Townsite of Field, which may appear to him, the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell; the Minister should be informed of, so that the same may be finally adjusted and settled in the manner before mentioned.

The Minister further recommends that there be conferred upon the said Thomas Gainsford Rothwell by his Commission all powers which the Governor in Council is authorized to confer by virtue of the provisions of chapter 114 of the Revised Statutes of Canada.

DOWNING STREET,
17 août 1905.

MILORD,—Relativement à votre dépêche No 147 du 17 d'avril dernier, j'ai l'honneur de vous transmettre, pour le renseignement de vos ministres, un extrait d'une lettre du Bureau d'Agriculture au sujet de l'embargo sur l'importation du bétail dans ce pays.

2. Je dois ajouter que le gouvernement de Sa Majesté a étudié soigneusement les représentations qui lui ont été faites à ce sujet, mais il regrette beaucoup qu'il se trouve incapable de proposer au parlement aucune modification à la loi actuelle.

J'ai l'honneur d'être,

Milord,

Votre très humble et obéissant serviteur,

ALFRED LYTTTELTON.

Au Gouverneur général
Son Excellence le Très honorable
COMTE GREY, G.C.M.G.,
etc., etc., etc.

Extrait d'une lettre du Bureau de l'Agriculture au Bureau des Colonies, datée le 1er d'août 1905.

* * * *

L'expérience a démontré que la loi actuelle qui exige que tout le bétail importé dans ce pays soit abattu aux quais pourvus à cette fin au port de débarquement, n'offre pas d'obstacle au développement et entretien d'un trafic considérable et profitable. Dans le cas de la République Argentine, le nombre des bestiaux importés dans la Grande-Bretagne s'éleva graduellement de 4,200 en 1891, à 85,000 en 1899, alors que le trafic fut interrompu par l'introduction de la maladie du pied et de la bouche dans ce pays-là. La valeur des importations en question fut de £68,000 en 1891 et £1,392,000 en 1899. Durant toute cette période la loi de l'abattage fut en vigueur. Le cas des Etats-Unis fait voir des résultats semblables. Le nombre des bestiaux importés en 1879 fut de 76,000, avec une valeur de £1,782,000. En 1904 le nombre importé fut de 401,000 avec une valeur de £7,160,000. L'abattage au port de débarquement fut obligatoire pour la première fois en 1879, et a toujours été mis en force depuis. Le Bureau est heureux d'observer que de semblables résultats sont indiqués dans le cas du Canada. Les importations durant les deux dernières années sont comme suit :—

	N° de bestiaux importés.	Valeur déclarée.
1903.....	190,812	£3,315,762
1904.....	146,598	2,547,451

Le plus haut chiffre connu avant 1892, alors que l'abattage au port de débarquement fut premièrement exigé, a été en 1890. Les importations de cette année-là furent de 120,469, avec une valeur déclarée de £1,892,298.

La loi actuelle ne jette aucun louche ou tache sur le bétail canadien, car elle est exécutoire non seulement pour les Etats-Unis et autres pays étrangers, mais aussi pour chaque colonie britannique, y compris l'Australie et la Nouvelle-Zélande d'où du bétail a été par le passé importé dans la Grande-Bretagne. De fait, c'est une loi sanitaire d'application universelle d'une grande importance pour les propriétaires de bestiaux dans ce pays comme sauvegarde contre l'introduction de la maladie, mais nullement incompatible avec un commerce considérable et lucratif, comme la chose a déjà été démontrée.

L'expérience de la République Argentine en 1900, et plus récemment des Etats-Unis en 1902, a fait voir avec quelle soudaineté et quel imprévu la maladie du pied et de la bouche peut se déclarer dans un pays, nonobstant le maintien d'une organisation vétérinaire efficace. Dans le premier cas des animaux malades furent actuellement importés dans ce pays, et ce ne fut que par bonheur et grâce à des efforts épuisés que l'infection fut restreinte dans les limites des quais destinés aux bestiaux étrangers. Un résultat identique aurait bien pu arriver en 1902 dans le cas des Etats-Unis malgré l'habileté et l'énergie du Département de l'Agriculture de ce pays-là.

Les pertes énormes qu'ont subies les agriculteurs britanniques dans le cours des derniers trente ans, dues principalement à la pression toujours croissante de la concurrence coloniale et étrangère, font qu'il est plus que jamais nécessaire que toutes les précautions possibles soient prises contre l'introduction de la maladie, compatibles avec les exigences raisonnables des producteurs coloniaux et les intérêts des consommateurs de ce pays. Les conséquences d'une recrudescence dans la Grande-Bretagne des épidémies de maladie, comme celles qui ont été éprouvées par le passé, seraient désastreuses aujourd'hui, et les consommateurs aussi bien que les producteurs en souffriraient par tout le pays. L'intérêt du public en général exige donc qu'aucun risque ne soit couru qui peut être évité par le maintien d'une loi qui offre un certain degré de sûreté contre l'introduction de la maladie, et en même temps opère sans gêner sérieusement le commerce, et sans rendre nécessaire de prendre des mesures d'une nature irritante au sujet des bestiaux importés d'une certaine colonie ou pays en particulier.

Circular.

DOWNING STREET,
31st August, 1905.

SIR,—I have the honour to communicate to you, with a view to the attention of traders in the Colony being drawn to the matter, the following representations made by His Majesty's Consul in Buenos Aires in a dispatch to the Foreign Office, respecting the registration of Trade Marks in the Argentine Republic.

Mr. Consul Ross suggests from what has come under his notice, that the importance of registration in the Republic of marks well known and therefore valuable, is not understood or appreciated by British merchants either in the United Kingdom or in the Colonies. He states that, according to the Argentine law, it is permissible for anyone to register in the Republic a trade mark for one class or for any number of different classes of goods, provided that mark has not already been registered in that country; that the cost of registration including agents' fees is about £10 and the time necessary to obtain registration about six weeks and that registration gives protection for ten years.

Attention is called to the serious disadvantage which may result from non-registration. A person not necessarily being the real owner of a particular trade mark, but having registered that mark in the Argentine, can lay an embargo on any goods he may find bearing that mark, although such goods may have been made by the original owner of the mark and have been legitimately introduced into the country. An instance is given of the case of a Canadian firm which has been selling for some years under a certain mark and now finds that it may not import its own goods into the Argentine Republic under that mark because it has been registered by a firm of importers in Buenos Aires; and so far as the Consul can learn there is no remedy except for the original owners to buy up the local registered owner of the mark, unless the manufacturer is prepared to invent and push another trade mark.

Registration in the Argentine Republic can be effected by an agent acting under a power of attorney in the form enclosed, which should be certified to by an Argentine consul; and His Majesty's Consul at Buenos Aires has declared his willingness to furnish the name of a reliable patent agent in that city.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient humble servant,

ALFRED LYTTTELTON.

Government of Canada.

Clerk of the Privy Council.

[Ref. 495,891]

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Thursday, the 27th day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by an Order in Council dated the 28th November, 1903, provision was made that the patent for a mining location in the Yukon Territory shall reserve to the Crown forever the same royalty upon the products of the location as is provided, or may hereafter be provided, in the case of placer mining claims, such royalty to be paid in the manner provided in the regulations governing placer mining ;

And whereas by an Order in Council dated the 21st of May, 1902, provision is made that on all gold sought to be shipped from the Yukon Territory there shall be levied and collected a royalty of two and one-half per cent of its value, such royalty to be paid in currency to the Comptroller of the Yukon Territory or to some person duly authorized by him in that behalf, and the gold for the purpose of estimating such royalty shall be valued at $15.00 per ounce ;

And whereas it is considered expedient that the royalty collected, under the provisions of the regulations, on gold extracted by quartz mining operations, be abolished,—

Therefore, the Governor General in Council is pleased, in virtue of clause 47 of The Dominion Lands Act, as enacted by section 5 of chapter 15 of 55-56 Victoria, and of section 8 of The Yukon Territory Act, as amended by section 3 of chapter 34 of 2 Edward VII, to order and it is hereby ordered that the Minister of the Interior be authorized to abolish the collection of royalty on gold produced from any quartz claim or group of quartz claims in the Yukon Territory in respect to which expenditure of money has been made to the amount of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars, within five years after the date of the Order in Council authorizing such abolition of the collection of royalty or within five years after the date of issue hereafter of the patent for such claim, or, in case of a group of claims, within five years after the date of issue hereafter of the patent first issued for one of the claims included in such group, in developing mining and milling ore from such claim or group of claims or in otherwise treating such ore so as to obtain the gold therefrom and in respect to which claim or group of claims a suitable plant, the cost of which shall be included in estimating the amount of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars above mentioned, has been installed and put in actual operation within such five years for milling or otherwise so treating such ore, and provided that such plant is capable of milling or otherwise so treating not less than five tons of such ore per day for every claim in respect to which such plant is installed.

The Governor in Council, is further pleased to order that the Minister of the Interior be authorized to make such regulations as may seem necessary,—

(1) to provide for the issue by the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory, upon satisfactory evidence being furnished to him of the facts, in every proper case,

(a) of a certificate that certain claims specified in such certificate are entitled to be included in any such group, and

(b) of a certificate that such expenditure has been made within such years and such plant installed and put in operation, and that such plant is capable of milling or otherwise treating as aforesaid such quantities of ore as aforesaid, and

(2) to enable the officers of the Crown engaged in the collection of royalty to distinguish such gold from that produced from placer mining operations.

The Governor in Council is further pleased to order as follows :—

(1) No gold mined from any quartz claim in respect to which such certificates have been issued shall thereafter for a period of ten years be liable to pay any royalty or export tax provided that the regulations to be made as aforesaid have been fully complied with.

(2) Any attempt to defraud the Crown, by mixing placer mining gold with gold produced from quartz mining operations, shall be punished by confiscation of both the quartz and placer mining gold so mixed or sought to be mixed.

And whereas by an Order in Council dated 12th of September, 1898, provision was made that there shall be paid to the Government on the gross output of copper mined in the Yukon Territory a royalty to be fixed by the Minister of the Interior, not exceeding five per cent on such gross output, and it has been represented that the reasons advanced for the abolition of the royalty on gold produced from quartz mining apply with equal force to copper mined in the Territory, and that the abolition of such tax in the case of copper would probably result in the establishment of a smelter within the Territory.

Therefore the Governor General in Council is pleased to order as follows :—

(1) That the provisions of the Order in Council of the 12th of September, 1898, imposing a royalty on the gross output of copper mining locations in the Yukon, be amended so as to exempt from payment of royalty any copper claim or group of copper claims in respect to which expenditure of money has been made to the amount of not less than fifty thousand dollars within ten years after the date of the Order in Council authorizing such exemption, or within ten years after the date of issue hereafter of the patent for such claims or, in case of a group of claims, within ten years after the date of issue hereafter of a patent first issued for one of the claims included in such group, in developing and mining copper ore from such claim or group of claims and in reducing the copper and other metals in such ore into mattes and in respect to which claim or group of claims a suitable smelter or other plant, the cost of which shall be included in estimating the amount of not less than fifty thousand dollars above mentioned, has been installed and put in operation within such ten years for mining and so reducing such ore and provided that such smelter or other plant is capable of reducing into such mattes not less than ten tons of such ore per day for every claim in respect to which such smelter or other plant is installed, and that the Minister of the Interior be authorized to make regulations to provide for the issue by the Commissioner of the Yukon Territory, upon satisfactory evidence being furnished to him of the facts, in every case, of a certificate (a) that certain claims specified in such certificate are entitled to be included in any such group, and of a certificate (b) that such expenditure has been made within such years and such smelter or other plant has been installed and put in operation and that such smelter or other plant is capable of reducing as aforesaid such quantities as aforesaid.

(2) That no copper, gold, silver or other metal obtained from copper ore, mined from any copper claim in respect to which such certificates have been issued, shall be liable to pay any royalty or export tax provided any regulations made in regard to the mode of proof requiring to establish that such copper, gold, silver and other metals have been obtained from copper ore mined as aforesaid, are fully complied with.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Friday, 21st day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 29th May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating as follows with regard to the application of Mr. J. B. Ferguson, of Vancouver, and his associates, now the Western Oil and Coal Company, hereinafter referred to as the company, for a grant to that company or to Mr. William Aldridge or his legal representatives of the north-west quarter of section 29 in Township 1, Range 30, west of 4th Meridian, and of the other lands hereafter described under the regulations approved by the Governor in Council respecting prospecting for petroleum in Dominion Lands and for the sale of such lands :—

1. That petroleum has been discovered in paying quantities by Mr. Aldridge and by the company in the north-west quarter of Section 29 in Township 1 and Range 30, west of the 4th Meridian, the first discovery having been made by Mr. Aldridge in that quarter section in 1899.

2. That although such quarter section is School Lands the company, with the full knowledge and consent of the late Minister of the Interior (the Honourable Mr. Sifton) and his Deputy (Mr. Smart) and of other officers of the Department of the Interior, having entered into an agreement (of which a copy was received in the Department of the Interior on the 8th September, 1904) with M. Aldridge for the purchasing of his interests in such quarter section and in other lands which he might be granted or be entitled to be granted under the regulations before referred to, has expended, according to solemn declarations on file in such Department, $28,000.00 and over, between the year 1903 and the present date, in placing the machinery upon the quarter section before mentioned and in the operations necessary for the proper opening up of Mr. Aldridge's and the company's discoveries.

3. That under the Regulations before referred to an applicant who has discovered petroleum in paying quantities is entitled to a grant, as provided in such regulations, of the surface rights of 1,920 acres and of all the petroleum therein but not of any other minerals.

4. That if the machinery which is now upon such lands belonged to Mr. Aldridge he would now be entitled to a grant of the surface rights of 1,920 acres of land including the said north-west quarter of Section 29 and of the petroleum therein, and that if the company had filed in the Department of the Interior an absolute and unconditional assignment executed in favour of the company by Mr. Aldridge of his interests in such lands, in accordance with his agreement with the company, the company would be entitled to such grant.

5. That as one of the provisions of the regulations before referred to is that the grant of 1,920 acres provided for by such regulations must be contiguous, one of the parcels of land which would be therefore included in such area of 1,920 acres would be the whole of fractional Section 11 in Township 1 and Range 1, west of the 5th Meridian; but that as it is also School Lands the adjoining fractional Section 2 in the same township and range has been substituted for such fractional Section 11, although it—fractional Section 2—is not contiguous to the other lands selected.

6. That before the said Section 29 can be patented to Mr. Aldridge or to the company the provisions of a Bill, or to the like effect, must be enacted by the Parliament of Canada.

7. That all the lands in question were of no commercial value until the operations of the company made them of value and that it therefore appears to the Minister of the Interior to be but just and equitable that the price of such lands and of the other lands hereafter described, making in all the total area of 1920 acres, should be the prices fixed by the regulations before referred to.

The Minister, therefore, recommends that the following parcels of land which (including the North-west quarter of Section 29 before mentioned) have been selected by the company to make the total grant of 1920 acres provided for under the regulations hereinbefore referred to, and which have been already reserved in the books of the Department of the Interior for such purpose, be reserved until an Act has been passed by the Parliament of Canada containing the provisions in a Bill, or provisions to like effect, and that letters patent for such lands be then issued by the Minister of the Interior upon the terms and prices provided by and specified in the regulations before referred to in favour of Mr. William Aldridge or his legal representatives: the north-west quarter and the south-west quarter of Section 29, the north-east quarter and the fractional south-west quarter of Section 19, all in Township 1, and Range 30, west of the 4th Meridian and the north half of Section 13, the south-east quarter of Section 23, the east half of Section 14, and all of fractional Section 2, all in Township 1 and Range 1, west of the 5th Meridian.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Clerk of the Privy Council.

Excepting and reserving thereout the surveyed public road one chain in width crossing the said land and containing an area of fifty-

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

THE Governor General in Council is pleased to order and it is hereby ordered that the Regulations for the issue of leases of Dominion Lands for grazing purposes, approved by Order in Council dated 15th February, 1905, shall be, and the same are hereby rescinded.

The Governor General in Council is further pleased to make the following Regulations for the issue of leases of Dominion Lands in the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, and the same are hereby made and adopted accordingly :—

1. The issue of leases shall be confined to lands within the following described territory :—

Comprising that portion of the Province of Alberta which lies to the south of the north boundary of Townships numbered 28.

Comprising that portion of the Province of Saskatchewan described as follows, viz.:—Commencing at the intersection of the north boundary of Township 28 with the fourth meridian, thence easterly following the north boundary of Townships numbered 28 to the west boundary of the South Saskatchewan River, thence southerly along the said west boundary of the South Saskatchewan River to a point opposite Aiktow Creek, thence across the said South Saskatchewan River to the mouth of the said Aiktow Creek, thence up the southerly side of Aiktow Creek and across the divide between said creek and the Qu'Appelle River to the head of the said Qu'Appelle River, thence down the southerly side of the Qu'Appelle River to its intersection with the third meridian, thence southerly along the said third meridian to the north boundary of Township 12, thence easterly along the north boundary of Townships numbered 12 to the west boundary of Range 24, thence southerly along the said west boundary of Range 24 to the north boundary of Township 8, thence easterly along the north boundary of Townships numbered 8 to the west boundary of Range 18, thence southerly along the said west boundary of Range 18, to the north boundary of Township 4, thence easterly along the north boundary of Townships numbered 4, to the west boundary of Range 15, thence southerly along the west boundary of Range 15 to the international boundary, thence westerly along the international boundary to the fourth meridian, thence northerly along the fourth meridian to the point of commencement.

2. The term of a lease shall be for a period not exceeding twenty-one years and no lease shall cover a greater area than 100,000 acres.

3. Should the Governor in Council at any time during the term of the lease think it to be in the public interest to withdraw the lands therein described, or any portion thereof, or to cancel the lease for any reason, the Minister of the Interior may, on giving the lessee two years' notice, withdraw such lands or cancel the lease.

4. The lessee shall pay an annual rental at the rate of two cents for every acre covered by his lease, and shall within each of the three years from the date of the lease, place upon the tract of land leased not less than one-third of the whole number of the stock which is required to be placed upon the said tract, namely, one head of cattle or five head of sheep for every twenty acres of land covered by the lease, and shall, during the rest of its term, maintain cattle thereon in that proportion. The lessee will be required to furnish a return to the Department of the Interior on the 1st of July in each year showing the number of head of stock on the leasehold owned by the lessee. Should the number of stock on the leasehold, after the expiration of the period in which the lessee is required under these Regulations to have the requisite number of stock placed thereon, be less than the number mentioned in this clause, the lessee shall be liable on receiving three months' notice to have withdrawn from his leasehold an area of twenty acres for each head of stock less than the number which the Regulations provide he shall place on the leasehold.

5. Before a lease is issued it will be necessary for the applicant to either homestead land or purchase 160 acres within the tract applied for at the rate of $3.00 per acre as a home farm and corral, and the lessee will be required to place his buildings thereon within one year from the date of the lease.

6. If any of the lands leased produces hay, the lessee is not entitled to use, sell or barter the same, but the lessee may, upon applying to the Agent of Dominion Lands in whose district the land is situated, obtain in accordance with the Regulations in that behalf, the first permit free of dues, to cut so much of the hay as the lessee actually requires for the use of his own stock, provided the rental of the leasehold has been paid. The Agent may then issue permits to other applicants and the permittees will be entitled to enter upon the leasehold to cut and remove the quantity of hay specified in their permits, subject, however, to such conditions as the Minister of the Interior may think proper for the protection of the lessee.

7. Leases can only be acquired by owners of stock, and if the leasehold has been secured by misrepresentation as to the ownership of stock, or other material facts, the lease may be summarily cancelled.

8. Before an application can be considered it will be necessary for the applicant to post up notices of his applications in at least four conspicuous places on the lands applied for, and also in the nearest post office for thirty days, and make a statutory declaration of having done so. Leases may be granted for an area of land at the rate of sixty acres for each head of stock, or five sheep, of which the applicant is the owner at the time he makes his application, and a statutory declaration must be furnished as to the number of stock and the owner thereof. A report shall also be obtained by the Department of the Interior from the Inspector of Ranches that upon inspection of the land applied for he found it unfit for agricultural purposes. He shall also report as to whether, and to what extent, the land is occupied, and, if so, by whom and what improvements, if any, there are upon it; the names of the owners of stock grazing within six miles of the land applied for; the number of stock owned by each, and the location of the owners' headquarters. That in case of dispute as to the land to be leased to each owner of stock, the decision of the Minister of the Interior shall be final.

9. The frontage of a leasehold on a lake, river or creek shall not exceed one mile for every four miles in depth.

10. The lessee will not be entitled to break or crop any portion of the leasehold.

11. No person shall be allowed to place sheep on Dominion Lands except in such tracts as have already been or may at any future time be specially set apart for that purpose by the Minister of the Interior.

12. Failure to fulfil any of the conditions of his lease shall subject the lessee to forfeiture thereof.

13. The lease shall be in such form as may be determined by the Minister of the Interior, in accordance with these Regulations.

JOHN J. MCGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

Saturday, the 22nd day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report dated 31st May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that a number of applications have from time to time been made to the Department of the Interior for permission to remove stone or rock from School Lands, but as there is no provision in the Regulations under which permits could be issued for this purpose, and some revenue derived for the School Lands Fund, it has been considered advisable to refuse all applications of this kind.

The Minister further states that it has however, been represented to him that it would be in the interests of the School Endowment Fund, and also in that of the public, to issue permits authorizing the removal of field stone or boulders from School Lands subject to the payment of a certain office fee and certain dues, the permit to be on the lines of the one issued for cutting hay on School Lands and Dominion Lands,—that is to say, to cover a certain number of loads of stone applied for, and to be returnable at the end of the period for which it was issued, with the affidavit of the permittee endorsed thereon as to the quantity of field stone or boulders taken from the land.

The Minister therefore recommends that authority be granted for the issue of permits to remove field stone or boulders from School Lands, subject to the following conditions,—the permit to be issued for a period of such number of months as the Minister may determine, and to be subject to an office fee of twenty-five cents, and also to dues at a rate to be determined by the Minister, to be returnable at the expiration of that period with the affidavit of the permittee endorsed thereon as to the quantity of stone or rock taken from the land.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Saturday, the 22nd day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 31st May, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that applications are made to the Department of the Interior from time to time for permits to explore for Petroleum on School Lands, and, while there is provision in the Regulations for the issue of permits for that purpose on Dominion Lands, there is no provision for such permits with respect to School Lands.

That the conditions of the permit to explore for Petroleum on Dominion Lands would not be applicable to School Lands for the reason that should Petroleum be found in paying quantities the purchaser is given the option, under the Dominion Lands Permit, to purchase the land at a certain rate while the Dominion Lands Act expressly provides that School Lands shall be sold at public auction only.

The Minister is of opinion, however, that it would be in the interest of the public, as well as in that of the School Lands Endowment Fund, to grant permits to explore for petroleum on School Lands for a certain period, giving the permittee the option, should he find petroleum in paying quantities, of leasing the land for a term of years, subject to a certain rental, and to the payment of a royalty to the School Lands Fund on the output of oil.

The Minister, therefore, recommends that authority be given for the issue of permits to explore for Petroleum on School Lands, subject to the following terms and conditions :—

The permit to be subject to the payment of an office fee of twenty-five cents and also to the payment of a ground rent of $5.00 for each section, or part thereof, for the period covered by the permit. The permit to be issued for a period of six months, but to be renewable at the expiration of that time at the option of the Minister of the Interior.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Tuesday, the 18th day of July, 1905.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL
IN COUNCIL.

ON a Report, dated 15th July, 1905, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that applications are received from time to time by the Department of the Interior to acquire School Lands for the purpose of boring for Petroleum thereon, and as the Dominion Lands Act provides that School Lands shall only be sold by public auction, and as the regulations do not provide for the issue of leases for the purpose mentioned it has been necessary to refuse all such applications.

The Minister further states that representations, however, have been made that it would be in the interest both of the School Lands Endowment Fund and of the public to issue leases of School Lands for this purpose as a revenue would be derived therefrom for the School Lands Fund and at the same time the Petroleum industry would be encouraged.

The Minister therefore recommends that he be authorized to issue leases of School Lands for the purpose of boring for Petroleum, the lease to be issued for a term of ten years and to be subject to a rental of thirty cents per acre, payable yearly in advance, and also to a royalty of five per cent on the oil sold, the lessee to furnish sworn statements to the Department of the Interior at such time, and in such form as the Minister of the Interior may prescribe, as to the quantity of oil sold.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

Circulaire.

DOWNING STREET,
31 août 1905.

MONSIEUR,—J'ai l'honneur de vous communiquer, dans le but d'attirer l'attention des négociants dans la colonie sur l'affaire, les représentations suivantes faites par le consul de Sa Majesté à Buenos-Ayres dans une dépêche au Foreign Office concernant l'enregistrement de marques de commerce dans la République Argentine.

M. le consul Ross suggère, d'après ce qui est venu à sa connaissance, que l'importance de l'enregistrement dans la République de marques bien connues et conséquemment de valeur, n'est pas comprise ou appréciée par les marchands britanniques soit dans le Royaume-Uni ou dans les colonies. Il dit, que la loi argentine permet à tout chacun d'enregistrer dans la République une marque de commerce pour une catégorie ou pour tout nombre de différentes catégories de marchandises, pourvu que cette marque n'ait pas déjà été enregistrée dans ce pays-là, que le coût d'enregistrement y compris des émoluments des agents est d'environ £10 et le temps nécessaire pour obtenir l'enregistrement est d'environ six semaines, et que l'enregistrement donne protection pour dix ans.

On attire l'attention au sérieux désavantage qui peut résulter du défaut d'enregistrement. Une personne qui n'est pas nécessairement le véritable propriétaire d'une marque particulière, mais qui a enregistré cette marque dans la République Argentine, peut mettre un embargo sur tous effets qui porteront cette marque, bien que ces effets puissent avoir été faits par le propriétaire primitif de la marque et introduits légitimement dans le pays. On cite le cas d'une maison canadienne qui a vendu pendant des années une marque spéciale, et constate aujourd'hui qu'elle ne peut importer ses propres effets dans la République Argentine sous cette marque parce qu'elle a été enregistrée par une maison d'importateurs de Buenos-Ayres; et en tant que le consul est informé les propriétaires primitifs n'ont d'autres recours que celui d'acheter le propriétaire local enregistré de la marque, à moins que le manufacturier n'invente et mette sur le marché une autre marque de commerce.

L'enregistrement dans la République Argentine peut s'effectuer par un agent agissant en vertu d'un fondé de pouvoir dans la forme ci-jointe, laquelle doit être certifiée par un consul de la République Argentine; et le consul de Sa Majesté à Buenos-Ayres s'est prononcé prêt à fournir le nom d'un agent de brevets compétent dans cet endroit-là.

J'ai l'honneur d'être,

Monsieur,

Votre très obéissant serviteur,

ALFRED LYTTELTON.

DOWNING STREET,
17 août 1905.

MILORD.—Relativement à votre dépêche No 147 du 17 d'avril dernier, j'ai l'honneur de vous transmettre, pour le renseignement de vos ministres, un extrait d'une lettre du Bureau d'Agriculture au sujet de l'embargo sur l'importation du bétail dans ce pays.

2. Je dois ajouter que le gouvernement de Sa Majesté a étudié soigneusement les représentations qui lui ont été faites à ce sujet, mais il regrette beaucoup qu'il se trouve incapable de proposer au parlement aucune modification à la loi actuelle.

J'ai l'honneur d'être,
Milord,

Votre très humble et obéissant serviteur,

ALFRED LYTTTELTON.

Au Gouverneur général
Son Excellence le Très honorable
COMTE GREY, G.C.M.G.,
etc., etc., etc.

Extrait d'une lettre du Bureau de l'Agriculture au Bureau des Colonies, datée le 1er d'août 1905.

* * * *

L'expérience a démontré que la loi actuelle qui exige que tout le bétail importé dans ce pays soit abattu aux quais pourvus à cette fin au port de débarquement, n'offre pas d'obstacle au développement et entretien d'un trafic considérable et profitable. Dans le cas de la République Argentine, le nombre des bestiaux importés dans la Grande-Bretagne s'éleva graduellement de 4,200 en 1891, à 85,000 en 1899, alors que le trafic fut interrompu par l'introduction de la maladie du pied et de la bouche dans ce pays-là. La valeur des importations en question fut de £68,000 en 1891 et £1,392,000 en 1899. Durant toute cette période la loi de l'abattage fut en vigueur. Le cas des Etats-Unis fait voir des résultats semblables. Le nombre des bestiaux importés en 1879 fut de 76,000, avec une valeur de £1,782,000. En 1904 le nombre importé fut de 401,000 avec une valeur de £7,160,000. L'abattage au port de débarquement fut obligatoire pour la première fois en 1879, et a toujours été mis en force depuis. Le Bureau est heureux d'observer que de semblables résultats sont indiqués dans le cas du Canada. Les importations durant les deux dernières années sont comme suit :—

	N° de bestiaux importés.	Valeur déclarée.
1903.....	190,812	£3,315,762
1904.....	146,598	2,547,451

Le plus haut chiffre connu avant 1892, alors que l'abattage au port de débarquement fut premièrement exigé, a été en 1890. Les importations de cette année-là furent de 120,469, avec une valeur déclarée de £1,892,298.

La loi actuelle ne jette aucun louche ou taché sur le bétail canadien, car elle est exécutoire non seulement pour les Etats-Unis et autres pays étrangers, mais aussi pour chaque colonie britannique, y compris l'Australie et la Nouvelle-Zélande d'où du bétail a été par le passé importé dans la Grande-Bretagne. De fait, c'est une loi sanitaire d'application universelle d'une grande importance pour les propriétaires de bestiaux dans ce pays comme sauvegarde contre l'introduction de la maladie, mais nullement incompatible avec un commerce considérable et lucratif, comme la chose a déjà été démontrée.

L'expérience de la République Argentine en 1900, et plus récemment des Etats-Unis en 1902, a fait voir avec quelle soudaineté et quel imprévu la maladie du pied et de la bouche peut se déclarer dans un pays, nonobstant le maintien d'une organisation vétérinaire efficace. Dans le premier cas des animaux malades furent actuellement importés dans ce pays, et ce ne fut que par bonheur et grâce à des efforts épuisés que l'infection fut restreinte dans les limites des quais destinés aux bestiaux étrangers. Un résultat identique aurait bien pu arriver en 1902 dans le cas des Etats-Unis malgré l'habileté et l'énergie du Département de l'Agriculture de ce pays-là.

Les pertes énormes qu'ont subies les agriculteurs britanniques dans le cours des derniers trente ans, dues principalement à la pression toujours croissante de la concurrence coloniale et étrangère, font qu'il est plus que jamais nécessaire que toutes les précautions possibles soient prises contre l'introduction de la maladie, compatibles avec les exigences raisonnables des producteurs coloniaux et les intérêts des consommateurs de ce pays. Les conséquences d'une recrudescence dans la Grande-Bretagne des épidémies de maladie, comme celles qui ont été éprouvées par le passé, seraient désastreuses aujourd'hui, et les consommateurs aussi bien que les producteurs en souffriraient par tout le pays. L'intérêt du public en général exige donc qu'aucun risque ne soit couru qui peut être évité par le maintien d'une loi qui offre un certain degré de sûreté contre l'introduction de la maladie, et en même temps opère sans gêner sérieusement le commerce, et sans rendre nécessaire de prendre des mesures d'une nature irritante au sujet des bestiaux importés d'une certaine colonie ou pays en particulier.

Tous ces avis, qu'ils soient insérés dans la Gazette du Canada ou dans une feuille publique, devront être publiés au moins une fois par semaine pendant une durée de cinq semaines consécutives; et en ce qui concerne les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba, ils devront y être publiés en anglais et en français; et des exemplaires marqués de chaque numéro de tous les journaux contenant le dit avis devront être adressés aux greffiers du Sénat et de la Chambre, et devront porter à l'endos 'Avis de Bill Privé'; ou une déclaration statutaire attestant la publication pourra être envoyée au lieu des dits exemplaires.

RÈGLES RELATIVES AUX PÉTITIONS ET BILLS PRIVÉS

Toute personne désirant obtenir un bill privé devra, dans les huit jours au moins qui précéderont l'ouverture du parlement, déposer au bureau du greffier de la Chambre dans laquelle le bill doit prendre naissance, une copie de ce bill en langue anglaise ou en langue française, avec une somme suffisante pour en payer la traduction et l'impression. Après la seconde lecture et avant la prise en considération du bill par tout comité, le pétitionnaire aura aussi à payer au greffier du Sénat, ou au comptable de la Chambre des Communes (selon le cas) un honoraire de $200, plus une somme suffisante pour défrayer le coût de l'impression de l'acte dans les Statuts. L'honoraire de $200 ne sera payé que dans la Chambre où le bill a pris naissance; mais les frais de réimpression et de traduction seront payés dans la Chambre où ces frais sont encourus.

Aucune pétition pour l'obtention d'un bill privé ne sera reçue par le Sénat ou par la Chambre des Communes, après les premières trois semaines de la session.

Aucun bill privé ne pourra être présenté au Sénat ou à la Chambre des Communes après les premières quatre semaines de la session.

Nulle pétition demandant la constitution légale d'une compagnie de chemin de fer ou d'une compagnie de canal, ou le prolongement de la ligne de quelque chemin de fer ou canal existant ou autorisé ne sera prise en considération par les comités des Ordres Permanents, à moins qu'il n'ait été soumis au comité une carte ou plan indiquant le territoire sur lequel devront être construits les travaux projetés, et chaque comté ou district dans lesquels devront être construits le chemin de fer ou canal projeté, ou quelque embranchement ou prolongement d'eux.

RÈGLES ADDITIONNELLES DE LA CHAMBRE DES COMMUNES CONCERNANT LES BILLS PRIVÉS.

Tous les bills privés demandant des actes constitutifs devront être rédigés de manière à y incorporer, en les spécifiant, les clauses des Actes généraux concernant les détails qui font l'objet de ces bills; les bills qui ne seront pas rédigés conformément à cette Règle, devront être remodelés par les auteurs et réimprimés à leurs frais, avant qu'aucun comité en examine les clauses.

52. Tous les bills privés pour chartes ou pour modification de chartes de compagnies de chemins de fer seront rédigés conformément au bill-modèle dont copie peut être obtenue du greffier de la Chambre;

(a.) Les dispositions contenues dans un bill quelconque qui ne seront pas conforme au bill-modèle, seront insérées entre crochets, et après avoir été revues par l'officier compétent, elles seront imprimées ainsi; et les bills qui ne seront pas rédigés en conformité de cette règle seront renvoyés aux auteurs pour être remodelés avant leur revision et impression;

(b.) Toutes clauses d'actes existants que l'on proposera de modifier, seront imprimées en entier, avec les amendements insérés en leur lieu et place, et entre crochets;

(c.) Toutes dispositions exceptionnelles que l'on proposera d'insérer dans un bill quelconque, seront imprimées dans l'avis publié.

53. Nul bill pour la constitution légale d'une compagnie de chemin de fer ou pour changer le tracé du chemin de fer d'une compagnie déjà constituée ne sera pris en considération par le comité des chemins de fer à moins qu'il n'ait été donné au comité, au moins une semaine avant la prise en considération du bill—

(b.) Un exhibit faisant connaître le montant total du capital que l'on se propose de prélever pour les fins de l'entreprise, et la manière dont on se propose de le prélever, soit au moyen d'actions ordinaires, obligations, débiteures ou autres garanties, et le montant respectif de chacune.

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

SUBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

L'époux qui a l'intention de demander un bill de divorce doit faire connaître cette intention, ainsi que les noms de l'autre époux et la cause du divorce, par

avis inséré durant six mois avant la présentation de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, la Colombie-Britannique ou les territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province; mais si ce nombre de journaux ne s'y trouve pas, l'avis sera publié dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins. Dans les provinces de Québec et de Manitoba, les insertions seront faites dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district; autrement, elles se feront en anglais et en français au même journal.

Il doit être signifié, à la diligence de l'époux pétitionnaire, un mois au moins avant la présentation de la pétition, une copie de cet avis à l'autre époux en personne, si cela est possible.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est reçue après l'expiration des trente premiers jours de la session.

Toute pétition en divorce devra être écrite lisiblement et porter la signature du pétitionnaire. Elle énoncera sommairement le fait du mariage, le lieu et l'époque de sa célébration, les noms du célébrant, les griefs qui donnent lieu à la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé, et en outre contiendra assurance qu'il n'y a pas eu réconciliation, collusion ni connivence. Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de "l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893".

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.

La pétition en obtention d'un bill de divorce n'est présentée que lorsque le pétitionnaire a versé au bureau du greffier du Sénat une somme de $200.

La pétition, au moment de sa présentation, doit être accompagnée de la preuve de la publication d'avis, d'une déclaration qu'il a été signifié une copie de l'avis, et d'une copie du bill qui doit être présenté.

ORDONNANCES ET REGLEMENTS

DE LA

MILICE DU CANADA, 1904.

PRESEANCE DES CORPS DE TROUPES.

1. L'ordre de préséance des corps de troupes de la milice du Canada est fixé comme suit :—

- 1° Cadets du Collège militaire royal.
- 2° Dragons royaux canadiens.
- 3° Chasseurs montés royaux canadiens.
- 4° Gardes du corps à cheval du Gouverneur général.
- 5° Régiments et escadrons de cavalerie.
- 6° Artillerie de campagne royale canadienne.
- 7° Batteries de campagne de l'artillerie canadienne.
- 8° Artillerie de forteresse royale canadienne.

- 11° Corps du génie canadien.
- 12° Corps des guides.
- 13° Régiment royal canadien.
- 14° Gardes à pied du Gouverneur général.
- 15° Régiments d'infanterie et de chasseurs à pied (Rifles).
- 16° Régiments provisoires et compagnies d'infanterie ou de chasseurs à pied non enregistrés.
- 17° Corps du train des équipages militaires (Army Service Corps).
- 18° Corps du service médical.
- 19° Corps des magasins et du service de l'artillerie (Ordnance Corps).

2. Les différentes unités d'une même arme prennent préséance entre elles d'après leur numéro de série, à l'exception des unités des forces permanentes, qui ont toujours préséance sur une unité de même arme, n'appartenant pas aux troupes permanentes.

A la parade ou à la manœuvre, les unités seront réparties et disposées de la manière que l'officier commandant juge nécessaire pour l'exécution de telle parade ou manœuvre.

NOMINATIONS.

3. Les nominations d'officiers sont faites au plus bas grade du corps ou du département, dans lequel ces officiers sont nommés.

4. Les nominations sont toujours provisoires et ne deviennent permanentes que lorsque les titulaires ont obtenu les qualifications nécessaires. Les officiers provisoires doivent subir les examens réglementaires dans le cours de la première année de leur nomination, sinon leurs noms sont rayés des cadres de la milice active.

5. Quand un officier provisoire obtient un certificat d'aptitude, il prend rang à la date de ce certificat seulement (à l'exception des officiers des troupes permanentes).

6. Des commissions d'officiers ne sont accordées qu'à ceux qui ont obtenu des certificats d'aptitude.

7. Les officiers nommés dans l'état-major ou dans les troupes permanentes, cessent de retenir le grade et la préséance qu'ils avaient dans la milice active, et prennent rang et préséance, à la date de la lettre de service par laquelle ils sont nommés dans ces corps.

8. Les candidats doivent être âgés d'au moins 18 ans, avoir une taille minimum de 5 pieds 4 pouces, et 33 pouces de tour de poitrine. Ils doivent en outre être sujets britanniques de naissance ou de naturalisation.

Nominations d'adjudants.

9. Pour être nommés adjudants, les officiers doivent posséder des certificats d'équitation et d'aptitude pour le grade d'officier supérieur.

10. Un officier subalterne, faisant les fonctions d'adjutant, par nomination publiée dans les Ordres généraux de la Milice, obtient le grade supérieur, en devenant le plus ancien de son grade dans le régiment ou le bataillon auquel il appartient.

11. Si un officier, après cinq ans de service comme adjudant, avec le grade de lieutenant, n'a pas été promu capitaine à l'expiration de son stage, d'après les dispositions de l'article 10, il aura droit alors d'obtenir cette promotion.

Cette disposition n'est pas applicable aux unités des troupes permanentes.

Colonels honoraires.

12. La nomination d'un colonel honoraire peut être faite, dans un régiment de cavalerie, une brigade d'artillerie de campagne, un régiment d'artillerie de forteresse, un corps du génie militaire, un corps des guides, un régiment d'infanterie ou de chasseurs à pied, un corps du service médical de la milice, et un corps du train des équipages militaires, dans les conditions suivantes :—

La nomination est purement honoraire, ne donne aucun droit au commandement et n'entraîne aucune dépense au trésor public.

Les recommandations pour ces nominations sont faites par le commandant du district.

Aides de camp honoraires.

13. Pour donner une distinction honorifique à certains officiers d'élite de la milice canadienne, la nomination d'aide de camp honoraire de Son Excellence le Gouverneur général se rapproche, autant que possible, de celle d'aide de camp du roi.

14. Les aides de camp honoraires sont nommés par Son Excellence, pendant la durée de ses fonctions, après quoi le titre cesse d'exister d'office.

15. Les noms des aides de camp honoraires sont imprimés dans l'annuaire de la milice, sous l'entête d'aides de camp honoraires de Son Excellence, et cette position est entièrement distincte de celle des aides de camp supplémentaires ou personnels de Son Excellence, dont les noms sont imprimés dans une liste à part.

16. Pour les cérémonies officielles, les aides de camp honoraires reçoivent des instructions du secrétaire militaire de Son Excellence le Gouverneur général, lequel tient une liste de tour de service à cet effet.

17. Les aides de camp honoraires de Son Excellence le Gouverneur général ont droit à des frais d'hôtel et de transport, quand ils sont appelés à accompagner Son Excellence dans une cérémonie officielle quelconque.

Durée du terme d'emploi et de commandement.

18. La durée du terme d'emploi aux quartiers-généraux, à l'état-major général ou de district, à dater du 1er janvier, 1901, inclusivement, est de cinq ans, à moins de prolongation accordée dans des cas spéciaux.

19. La durée du terme d'emploi de tous les officiers commandants est de cinq ans. Cette durée peut être prolongée dans des cas spéciaux, sur la recommandation du commandant du district, présentée trois mois avant l'expiration de ce commandement.

20. Aucun officier ne peut retenir son commandement après avoir atteint la limite d'âge fixée par les règlements.

21. Dans l'artillerie de campagne, l'officier commandant une brigade est le seul considéré comme officier commandant, par rapport aux dispositions ci-dessus.

Aumôniers militaires.

22. Des aumôniers militaires peuvent être nommés, dans les corps ou les régiments de la milice active, et non dans les troupes permanentes.

A leur nomination, les aumôniers reçoivent le grade honoraire de capitaine, et de major honoraires après dix ans de service.

Les aumôniers, actuellement au service, comptent leurs services pour obtenir ce dernier grade honoraire à dater de leur nomination dans leur corps.

Les aumôniers, faisant le service dans leur corps ou dans les camps d'instruction, reçoivent la solde et les allocations de leur grade.

Les aumôniers peuvent porter l'uniforme de leur corps, avec les insignes d'aumônier.

Promotion des officiers.

23. Toutes les promotions dans les corps de troupes se font, autant que possible, à l'ancienneté, en tenant compte des besoins du service public et militaire.

24. Les officiers proposés à la nomination ou à la promotion au grade d'officier supérieur, doivent posséder un certificat d'équitation et d'aptitude pour ce grade.

25. Aucun officier ne peut être promu au grade supérieur, à moins d'avoir les certificats d'aptitude pour ce grade.

Retraite et décès des officiers.

26. Les colonels nommés après le 18 juillet 1900, qui ont atteint l'âge de 63 ans, les lieutenants-colonels, 60 ans, les majors, 58 ans, les capitaines, 50 ans et les lieutenants, 45 ans, sont mis à la retraite, à moins de circonstances très exceptionnelles ; et aucun officier, ayant dépassé la limite d'âge fixée pour chaque grade, ne peut être promu à ce grade.

(2) Ce règlement s'applique également aux officiers des états-majors régimentaires, d'après leur grade honoraire.

(3) En calculant l'âge de la retraite, le grade le plus élevé occupé auparavant par l'officier, soit que ce grade fût effectif, par brevet ou honoraire, sert de base à l'établissement de sa retraite.

27. L'âge des officiers, qui sont dans la situation indiquée ci-dessus, est calculé à dater du 1er septembre de chaque année.

28. Si des officiers de la milice d'un grade quelconque, qui sont en retraite, ou qui peuvent prendre leur retraite en retenant leur grade par faveur spéciale, reprennent du service plus tard dans la milice active, ils ne peuvent qu'occuper le grade et exercer le commandement de leur nouvel emploi. Les états de services antérieurs à ce nouvel emploi ne sont pas comptés pour l'obtention d'un grade par brevet.

29. Le grade indiqué dans la liste des officiers en retraite ne donne aucun droit à un commandement quelconque.

30. Les officiers de la milice active ne sont pas autorisés à retenir leur grade, en prenant leur retraite, à moins d'avoir servi cinq ans, dont trois ans consécutifs comme officier possédant un grade réel.

31. Pour retenir son grade à sa retraite, l'officier doit avoir possédé ce grade au moins pendant deux ans, sinon le grade accordé est celui immédiatement inférieur.

32. Les officiers commandants font parvenir aux quartiers-généraux les noms des officiers de leurs corps qui sont impropres au service pour cause de maladie, afin que ces officiers soient mis à la retraite, s'ils sont reconnus incapables par une commission médicale.

33. Les officiers commandants rendent compte sans délai des décès, par la voie hiérarchique, et transmettent, pour être approuvées, toutes les demandes de démission volontaire faites par les officiers de leurs corps.

34. La mort de l'officier commandant est de suite annoncée par l'officier commandant en second, par la voie hiérarchique.

35. Quand un officier commandant désire donner sa démission, il transmet sa demande par la voie hiérarchique, et quand l'avis que sa démission est acceptée paraît aux Ordres généraux, le commandant en second rend compte immédiatement de la vacance existante au commandant du district.

Permutations et réductions d'effectifs.

36. Les demandes de permutations sont transmises par les commandants des deux unités intéressées, par la voie des commandants de leur district respectif.

37. Les officiers qui permutent prennent la gauche de la liste d'ancienneté des officiers de leur grade, dans leur nouveau corps.

38. Dans le cas de réduction d'effectifs d'un corps, les officiers supérieurs et subalternes, placés à la suite, sont nommés aux premières vacances d'emploi qui se présentent ; mais, pour ne pas trop retarder l'avancement des lieutenants, les capitaines, à la suite, sont pourvus d'emplois, en alternant avec les lieutenants, c'est-à-dire qu'ils sont nommés à la 1re, 3e et 5e vacance.

Tableau régimentaire d'emploi dans l'artillerie de campagne.

39. La confection d'un tableau des lieutenants-colonels de l'artillerie de campagne canadienne, proposés pour l'emploi de commandants de brigade, est autorisée, quand cela est nécessaire.

Officiers de réserve.

40. La réserve des officiers est instituée pour fournir des officiers supplémentaires, en cas de nécessité.

Cette réserve comprend :

(1) Les élèves sortants du Collège militaire royal du Canada qui sont nommés officiers de la milice, en disponibilité.

(2) Les officiers commandants, à l'expiration de leur commandement.

(3) Les officiers retraités, provenant des corps de la milice active, et susceptibles de garder leur grade, en prenant leur retraite, pourvu qu'ils n'aient pas dépassé la limite d'âge du grade auquel ils peuvent être nommés.

(4) Les officiers de réserve n'ont droit à aucune promotion, dans la milice active, tant qu'ils restent dans la réserve, à l'exception des élèves sortants du Collège militaire royal, qui peuvent obtenir un grade par brevet, dans les conditions suivantes:—

Lieutenants—Après avoir pris part aux manœuvres annuelles, pendant cinq années consécutives, attachés comme officiers combattants à une unité de la milice active: le grade supérieur par brevet.

Capitaines—Après avoir pris part aux manœuvres annuelles, pendant dix années consécutives, attachés comme officiers combattants, avec le grade de capitaine, à une unité de la milice active: le grade supérieur par brevet.

(5) Les officiers de réserve sont requis de rendre compte de leur situation, par écrit, à l'adjudant général, aux quartiers-généraux, le (ou avant le) 30 novembre de chaque année, sinon les noms des officiers qui négligeraient de remplir cette obligation, sont rayés du tableau des officiers de réserve.

Remplacement des officiers (seconded officers).

41. Un officier, d'un grade inférieur ou grade réel de major, peut être remplacé dans son corps ou son régiment, dans des circonstances spéciales, quand il est détaché en mission d'un caractère militaire ou autre.

42. Les officiers ainsi remplacés doivent passer tous les examens pour promotion au grade supérieur, et, à leur promotion au grade de major dans leur corps ou régiment, ils sont requis de rejoindre leur corps, ou sont placés dans la réserve, ou enfin sont mis à la retraite.

Grade par brevet.

43. Les promotions, pour services exceptionnels en campagne ou services utiles au pays, sont spécialement décrétées par le Gouverneur en conseil.

44. Les services dans la réserve des officiers ou dans toute position analogue ne comptent pas pour l'obtention du rang par brevet dans le cas de nomination ou de nouvelle nomination dans un corps de la milice active.

45. Les officiers, dûment qualifiés et recommandés, par les commandants de corps de troupes, par la voie hiérarchique, obtiennent le grade par brevet, dans les conditions suivantes:—

Etats de services requis.	Grade par brevet.
A. Après 5 ans de service*, avec le grade réel de lieutenant	Grade supérieur (step of rank).

D. Après 5 ans de service* réel comme capitaine et pas moins de 15 ans de service
E. Après 7 ans de service consécutifs, avec le grade réel de capitaine dans une unité de la milice active, étant en outre pourvu d'un diplôme du collège militaire royal du Canada	Major.

I. Après 15 ans comme major (ou major par brevet) de cavalerie, d'artillerie de forteresse, de génie militaire et d'infanterie; ayant eu pendant 10 ans le grade réel de major	Lieutenant-colonel.

*Le mot service, dans le tableau ci-dessus signifie service dans une unité permanente ou dans l'état-major permanent de milice active.

46.

Grade honoraire.

Etats de services requis.	Nomination.	Grade honoraire.
A la nomination.....	Officier-payeur ; quartier-maître ...	Capitaine.
"	Maître-instructeur d'équitation.	Lieutenant.
Après 5 ans de service avec com- mission	Maître-instructeur d'équitation.	Grade-supérieur.

Après 15 ans de service, avec le grade réel du moment.....	Major du corps de service médical ...	Lieut.-colonel du corps de ser- vice médical.

47. En calculant "le service avec commission" pour avoir droit au grade honoraire, les services antérieurs comme officier dans les unités de la milice active sont comptés, pourvu qu'ils aient été sans interruption.

Officiers en général.

48. L'approbation de Sa Majesté pour les nominations, les promotions, les destitutions et les démissions des officiers est annoncée par la voie de la "Gazette du Canada". A moins d'avis contraire publié dans la "Gazette du Canada", ces promotions, etc., prennent effet à la date même du numéro de la gazette où elles paraissent.

49. Un officier qui désire obtenir une nomination de non-combattant, doit d'abord donner sa démission d'officier combattant.

50. Les officiers des forces impériales, servant dans la milice canadienne, n'exercent de commandement, pendant la durée de ce service, qu'en vertu seulement de leur commission dans la milice.

51. Quand deux officiers d'un même corps possèdent des commissions de la même date, celui dont le nom apparaît le premier dans les Ordres généraux, prend préséance de l'autre. Dans les autres cas, quand se présente une question d'ancienneté, on doit se reporter aux commissions précédentes pour résoudre cette question.

52. L'ancienneté des officiers qui suivent un cours d'instruction dans une école militaire et qui y obtiennent des certificats d'aptitude, n'est pas changée par la priorité des dates de ces certificats.

53. Les capitaines, ayant le grade d'officier supérieur par brevet, peuvent être appelés à faire le service d'officier supérieur dans les camps et en garnison ; mais ils doivent également faire, dans leur corps, le service requis par leur grade régimentaire.

54. Les officiers de la milice active, à moins d'exemptions spéciales, doivent résider dans les limites de la ville, du comté ou des comtés où sont recrutés les hommes de leur corps.

55. Quand un corps de troupes est licencié et rayé du tableau des corps de la milice active, ses officiers (à l'exception de ceux qui reçoivent la faveur spéciale de prendre leur retraite, en retenant leur grade, ou d'être placés dans la réserve) sont en même temps rayés du tableau des officiers de la milice active.

DISCIPLINE.

56. Les règlements militaires du roi et les sections de l'Acte de l'Armée concernant la discipline doivent être lus à toutes les troupes incorporées pour un service continu, au moins tous les trois mois, et en outre aussi souvent que l'officier commandant le juge nécessaire.

57. Les délibérations ou discussions entre officiers ou soldats, ayant pour but de louer, de censurer ou d'approuver leurs supérieurs ou autres, appartenant à la milice active, sont défendues. La publication d'ordres élogieux à l'adresse d'officiers quittant leur poste ou abandonnant leur emploi, est défendue. Les officiers commandants ne doivent permettre aucune souscription ayant pour but de donner des témoignages d'estime quelconques à des supérieurs qui quittent le service ou qui sont rayés des cadres de leur corps. Tout officier est tenu responsable devant la loi militaire, s'il permet aux hommes qui servent ou qui ont servi sous ses ordres, de lui présenter, à titre complimentaire, de l'argenterie, des épées, etc., ou de lui exprimer leur estime d'une manière collective.

58. Il est défendu aux officiers, dans les demandes personnelles quelconques qu'ils peuvent adresser aux quartiers-généraux, d'y joindre des témoignages flatteurs concernant leurs services ou leur caractère. Dans le cas où un officier veut faire appel en sa faveur à l'opinion des officiers, sous les ordres desquels il a servi, il doit fournir les noms de ces officiers, afin qu'ils puissent être consultés, s'il y a lieu.

59. Il est défendu à tout officier d'assister en uniforme aux manœuvres d'une armée étrangère, à moins d'une autorisation du ministre de la Milice et de la Défense.

60. La courtoisie entre militaires est indispensable à la discipline. Les officiers commandants doivent, non seulement se pénétrer eux-mêmes de cette maxime, mais la communiquer également à ceux qui servent sous leurs ordres. Quand cela est nécessaire, les reproches et les réprimandes, à l'occasion de mollesse ou de négligence dans le service, doivent être faits en particulier, à moins que les circonstances n'exigent un exemple public ; et quand on désire récompenser le zèle et le mérite, les éloges doivent être faits en public.

61. Un officier d'état-major qui remet un ordre à un officier commandant, le salue, si celui-ci est plus ancien que lui.

62. Si un officier de la milice, ou de l'état-major des troupes permanentes, touchant sa solde entière, devient insolvable et ne paie pas ses dettes légitimes, et qu'une plainte en conséquence est portée contre lui au ministre de la Milice et de la Défense par les créanciers, une commission d'enquête est instituée pour étudier la cause, et, si les faits sont prouvés, cet officier est susceptible d'être suspendu ou destitué, selon les circonstances.

63. Dans une cour civile, un officier ou un homme de milice enlève son chapeau, son képi ou son casque, en présence du juge ou du magistrat, excepté quand cet officier ou ce soldat est de service en armes, l'escorte entière ou partie de cette escorte étant dans l'intérieur de la cour.

64. Si les officiers, les sous-officiers ou les hommes ont une plainte ou une accusation à porter contre un supérieur ou un autre officier, ils doivent soumettre cette plainte à leur commandant, qui la transmet, avec ses remarques, par la voie du commandant du district, aux quartiers-généraux, où la cause est examinée, s'il y a lieu. Il leur est strictement défendu de porter des accusations contre leurs supérieurs ou camarades devant l'opinion publique, au moyen de lettres ou de discours insérés dans un journal quelconque ; de tels procédés sont de flagrantes infractions aux règlements de la discipline militaire et un mépris de l'autorité.

65. Les officiers sont, en toutes circonstances, responsables dans leur service du maintien de l'ordre et de la discipline, et de l'exécution des règlements militaires ; et, à cet effet, ils doivent en outre prêter à leur officier commandant leur appui et leur aide tout entière. C'est leur devoir d'observer et de réprimer ou de signaler immédiatement, aux autorités compétentes, toute négligence ou mauvaise conduite de la part de sous-officiers ou d'hommes, soit dans le service ou hors du service, même si les coupables n'appartiennent pas à leur propre corps.

66. Un officier commandant doit s'efforcer de bien faire comprendre à ceux qui sont sous ses ordres, les nécessités de la politesse et de la courtoisie dans leurs relations avec toutes les classes de la société, et insister encore davantage sur la déférence et le respect qu'ils doivent aux magistrats et aux autorités civiles.

67. Les officiers doivent toujours rendre un salut, excepté quand ils ont le sabre au poing. Les saluts des soldats sont rendus par tous les officiers qui les reçoivent, et non par le plus ancien seulement.

68. Les sous-officiers brevetés (warrant officers), les sous-officiers et les hommes doivent le salut, en toutes circonstances, aux officiers, que ceux-ci soient en tenue ou non. Quand un soldat parle à un officier, il prend la position militaire, après l'avoir salué en s'approchant de lui. Quand un soldat se présente devant un officier dans une chambre, il ne se découvre pas. Un soldat sans képi ne salue pas, mais prend la position militaire jusqu'à ce que l'officier soit passé. Cette règle s'applique également au soldat portant quelque chose qui l'empêche de saluer convenablement. Quand des officiers ou des hommes rencontrent une colonne en marche, ils saluent en passant l'officier commandant et le drapeau, s'il y est.

69. Il est défendu aux officiers et aux soldats de publier ou de communiquer à la presse, (à moins d'une autorisation spéciale), soit directement ou indirectement, toute information concernant les affaires militaires. Ils ne doivent pas non plus essayer d'intervenir dans des questions soumises à l'enquête, en publiant leurs opinions, d'une manière anonyme ou autrement, ni doivent-ils critiquer, dans des écrits ou discours publics, les actes du gouvernement qui les emploie.

70. Les réunions d'officiers sont ordonnées par les officiers commandant seulement, qui sont responsables de ce qu'elles ne sont convoquées que pour des motifs légitimes.

71. Il est défendu aux officiers, aux sous-officiers et aux hommes d'organiser des assemblées, des démonstrations ou des processions dans un but politique, ou d'y prendre part, soit dans les casernes ou les camps ; s'ils sont en uniforme, cette défense est absolue en tout temps et en tout endroit.

72. La milice active, à l'exception des troupes permanentes, étant composée d'officiers et d'hommes qui ne donnent qu'une partie de leur temps aux manœuvres et au dressage militaires, il faut que les officiers maintiennent, à l'égard des uns et des autres, cette courtoisie propre à créer et à perpétuer entre eux des relations amicales et sociables, qui forment l'esprit de corps. Un officier qui n'est pas en uniforme ne doit se comporter, dans ses relations avec son corps ou avec les officiers, d'une manière différente qu'il le ferait si lui et ses camarades étaient en tenue. Si les officiers, comme citoyens, agissent autrement qu'ils ne le font, quand ils ont une responsabilité militaire immédiate, la discipline ne peut être observée d'une manière satisfaisante, et le jeu harmonieux des rouages nécessaires au maintien d'un corps de troupes efficace est sérieusement mis en danger.

73. Une des lois fondamentales et des plus indispensables de la discipline militaire, c'est de défendre tout ce qui comporte la moindre apparence de complot parmi les individus formant une force militaire, pour obtenir le redressement de torts ou de griefs quelconques. Si les officiers ou les hommes ont des griefs contre quelqu'un, leur plainte doit être soumise à leur officier commandant, dans un langage respectueux, chaque individu parlant pour son propre compte seulement. Les appels de redressement, au moyen de "round robins" ou de document signé par plus d'un plaignant sont strictement défendus.

74. Les officiers, commandant des compagnies, se rendent compte avant le jour de l'inspection, si quelques-uns de leurs hommes désirent voir l'officier inspecteur, pour une raison quelconque ; s'il s'en trouve, le sujet d'enquête est mis en écrit. Comme la plupart des plaintes sont faites concernant l'habillement et la solde et peuvent être réglées par des explications, les officiers commandants doivent faire eux-mêmes une enquête au préalable et s'efforcer de les apaiser. S'ils ne peuvent y réussir, un rapport contenant le nom des hommes et le sujet de leur plainte est soumis à l'officier inspecteur, avec une colonne en blanc pour ses remarques.

75. Les plaintes anonymes et la publication dans la presse de tout ce qui pourrait être préjudiciable aux intérêts du service, ou exciter le mécontentement dans la milice, sont strictement défendues.

COURS D'ENQUETE.

76. Une cour d'enquête peut être convoquée par tout officier commandant, pour l'aider à trouver une solution exacte de tout sujet, sur lequel il est important qu'il soit renseigné d'une manière approfondie ; et elle peut être requise de donner son opinion sur un point quelconque, n'impliquant pas la conduite d'un officier ou d'un soldat. Le procès-verbal est mis par écrit, autant que possible, dans la forme prescrite pour les cours martiales, signé par le président et par tous les membres, et transmis par le président, à l'officier commandant qui a convoqué la cour.

77. Les cours d'enquête, en règle générale, siègent à huis-clos, mais elles peuvent être publiques, selon la nature de l'investigation ou les instructions de l'officier qui les convoque. L'accusé, dont la conduite est examinée, est présent et il peut répondre ou refuser de répondre aux questions qu'on lui pose, ou il peut encore saisir l'occasion d'expliquer toute action particulière ou partie de sa conduite contre laquelle une imputation préjudiciable à sa cause aurait pu être soulevée. Il ne peut poser de questions ni produire de témoignages. La présence d'un avocat défenseur n'est pas autorisée devant une cour d'enquête. Les officiers, faisant partie de la cour, doivent être d'un grade supérieur ou égal à l'officier dont la conduite ou le caractère est soumis à l'enquête. Le président doit toujours être un officier combattant. A moins d'instructions contraires, le président indique l'heure et l'endroit, dans la localité, de la réunion de la cour, en fait prévenir tous les témoins et les personnes intéressées, et préside aux séances. Si les membres ne peuvent s'entendre pour arriver à une opinion unanime, tout membre dissident doit déclarer par écrit la nature et l'étendue de son dissentiment ou donner son opinion au président pour être transmise avec les procès-verbaux.

78. Une cour d'enquête peut être composée d'un nombre quelconque de membres, mais la composition de ces cours est fixée à la discrétion de l'officier qui les convoque, d'après les circonstances qui les nécessitent. Trois membres, avec le plus ancien comme président, sont suffisants pour les cas ordinaires. Les règlements, qui guident les cours d'enquête, sont contenus dans les règles de procédure.

79. Quand un officier de la milice est membre d'une cour martiale, ou d'un conseil ou d'une cour d'enquête, dans la cité, la ville ou l'endroit où il réside, il a droit à la solde entière de son grade pour le temps qu'il est ainsi employé, à moins qu'il n'ait déjà droit à l'époque à la solde d'officier.

CONSEIL D'OFFICIERS.

80. Les comités et les conseils ne diffèrent des cours d'enquête qu'en ce qu'ils sont convoqués pour des raisons qui n'impliquent aucun point de discipline. Ils sont guidés, autant que possible, dans leur procédure, par les règles qui régissent les cours d'enquête, mais ils ne sont nullement forcés de s'y astreindre.

81. Quand les conseils régimentaires sont réunis pour examiner l'habillement, les armes, l'équipement, etc., et pour rendre compte de leur état, ils doivent chercher à s'assurer de la durée pendant laquelle ces effets ont été en service et fournir un rapport, non seulement sur leur condition, mais aussi sur les causes qui auraient pu amener leur détérioration.

82. Un comité d'officiers sur place, composé du commandant du district, d'un officier du corps intéressé désigné par le commandant de ce corps, et de l'officier du service de l'artillerie du district, se réunit, à chaque endroit où une unité incorporée est stationnée, le deuxième jour des mois d'avril et d'octobre, tous les ans, pour inspecter tous le matériel et les utensiles de caserne, que possèdent ce corps et l'école d'instruction militaire de cette station, et pour rendre compte de leur état réel, en mentionnant les objets qui seraient hors de service ou près de l'être, et ceux qui auraient besoin d'être remplacés ou renouvelés.

83. Un conseil d'officiers, composé du commandant du district militaire n° 3, d'un officier de l'état-major du collège militaire royal désigné par le commandant de ce collège, et de l'officier du service de l'artillerie du district, se réunit, à Kingston, le troisième jour des mois d'avril et d'octobre, tous les ans, pour inspecter également tous le matériel et les utensiles de caserne que possède le Collège militaire royal et pour rendre compte de leur état réel, en mentionnant les objets qui seraient hors de service ou près de l'être, et ceux qui auraient besoin d'être remplacés ou renouvelés.

84. Les conseils doivent s'assurer de la date de la mise en service des objets hors d'usage, que ces objets ont été bien entretenus pendant ce temps et des causes qui ont amené leur détérioration.

85. Si le jour fixé pour la réunion de ces conseils tombe un dimanche ou un jour de fête, ils doivent s'assembler le lendemain. L'heure de la réunion est fixée et communiquée aux membres par le commandant du district. Le procès-verbal de chaque conseil doit être adressé à l'adjudant-général, aux quartiers généraux, immédiatement après chaque inspection.

86. Tout conseil ou cour d'enquête, dont la réunion entraînerait des dépenses publiques, ne peut être convoqué que par autorisation du quartier-général de la milice.

PRISONS MILITAIRES.

87. Conformément aux dispositions de la section 74, de l'Acte de la Milice, de 1904, certains bâtiments ou partie de bâtiments, sous le contrôle du département de la Milice et de la Défense, situés en divers endroits et indiqués dans les ordres généraux, peuvent être affectés comme prisons militaires pour garder les personnes, condamnées à l'emprisonnement, par une cour martiale ou un chef de corps.

88. Les règlements suivants pour la direction, l'administration et la tenue des prisons militaires, pour les travaux des prisonniers, et le maintien de la discipline parmi eux, sont observés par tous les corps de la milice active, quand ils sont organisés comme troupes permanentes ou appelés à un service actif.

89. Quand un homme est puni d'emprisonnement par son chef de corps ou par sentence d'une cour martiale, ses rations sont supprimées à partir du jour de son incarcération, et il n'y a droit de nouveau qu'à la date de sa libération.

90. Tous les prisonniers, qui sont condamnés à une peine dépassant quarante-deux jours, sont envoyés à la prison civile la plus rapprochée de la station militaire, à laquelle ils appartiennent.

91. Les condamnations de quarante-deux jours et au-dessous sont subies dans les prisons militaires.

92. La nourriture des prisonniers militaires est fournie par la cantine régimentaire ou l'entrepreneur, sur l'ordre du sergent faisant les fonctions de prévôt, qui en tient compte dans un registre fourni à cet effet, lequel registre doit être balancé et certifié toutes les semaines par l'adjudant.

93. Le montant des rations ainsi fournies est payé au sergent faisant fonctions de prévôt, et le total des dépenses encourues de ce fait par tous les prisonniers sera chargé à la feuille nouvelle de solde de leurs corps, en y ajoutant deux cents par jour pour blanchissage.

94. Quand un soldat de la milice active est détenu dans une prison locale pour un délit civil, aucune dépense de solde ou de rations n'est encourue de ce fait pendant la période d'incarcération, mais une somme de 25 cents par jour et par prisonnier est remise aux autorités civiles.

COMMANDEMENT.

95. Le commandement de la milice est exercé par l'officier le plus ancien, de service en uniforme à la parade ou la manœuvre, à l'exception de l'officier nommé au commandement d'un district.

96. Les officiers de régiments prennent dans leurs régiments la préséance et l'ancienneté, selon la date de leur nomination dans leur corps, sans égard à un grade plus élevé qu'ils pourraient posséder dans la milice.

97. Si deux officiers du même grade ont été gazettés à ce grade à la même date, leur préséance est déterminée par la date de leur nomination au grade immédiatement inférieur.

98. Les officiers, nommés à un emploi permanent, commandent tous les officiers du même grade, nommés provisoirement.

99. Les officiers, ayant un grade local ou permanent, ont la préséance sur ceux qui servent avec eux et qui ne sont titulaires que d'un emploi temporaire du même grade.

INSPECTIONS.

100. Les inspections sont faites, à certaines époques, par les inspecteurs des différentes armes, d'après des instructions spéciales données par le quartier-général.

101. Aux inspections d'artillerie, tous les magasins et le matériel d'artillerie, l'équipement, etc., que possèdent les unités d'artillerie, sont inspectés annuellement par les inspecteurs d'artillerie de campagne et de forteresse, qui sont accompagnés, dans leur tournée d'inspection, de leurs maîtres-canonniers, et le nombre, l'état et la condition du matériel des magasins, des effets, etc., en charge sont vérifiés par comparaison avec les entrées faites au grand-livre du magasin.

102. Ces inspections doivent être faites à temps pour permettre aux officiers inspecteurs de soumettre avec leurs rapports aux quartiers généraux, le 1er novembre au plus tard, une demande générale de matériel, etc., pour compléter l'équipement des unités, dont ils sont responsables.

DEVOIRS DES COMMANDANTS DE DISTRICTS.

103. Les commandants de districts sont responsables de la discipline des troupes de leur district. Ils doivent constamment s'assurer qu'elles sont toujours prêtes à faire un service actif, et qu'en cas de circonstances imprévues, elles peuvent être mobilisées rapidement pour être mises à la disposition des autorités militaires.

104. Afin d'avoir toujours sous la main un plan efficace de défense, les commandants de districts doivent se tenir au courant des ressources militaires de leur district, en hommes, en chevaux, en approvisionnements et en moyens de transport. Ils doivent connaître à fond les principaux points topographiques, les routes et moyens de communication, enfin tous les détails d'intérêt militaire, qui pourraient servir à la défense du territoire de leur commandement. Ils doivent également bien se pénétrer de tous les points faibles de leur district.

105. Les commandants de districts sont responsables:—

1. Du recrutement, de la valeur, de la discipline et de l'entretien des différents corps de la milice.

2. De l'inspection réglementaire des armes, des arsenaux, des magasins d'armes, des salles d'exercice, de l'équipement, de l'accoutrement, de l'habillement, en un mot du matériel de toute espèce, appartenant à l'Etat et en service dans les corps de troupes. Ils doivent faire parvenir leur rapport là-dessus au quartier général, aussitôt que possible tous les ans, après les premiers jours de janvier et de juillet. Une de ces inspections semestrielles doit être faite au chef-lieu de chaque régiment ou de compagnie, et l'autre, à l'inspection annuelle ordinaire, dans les camps ou au chef-lieu de chaque corps.

3. De l'inspection annuelle de tous les corps de leur district et de la transmission des rapports aux quartiers généraux.

4. De l'examen et de l'approbation des feuilles de solde des corps pour les manœuvres annuelles ou spéciales, et des gardes d'honneur et des saluts.

5. De l'examen et de la recommandation de paiement de tous les comptes et des listes de paie des employés du département dans leur district.

6. De l'inspection et de l'entretien des champs de tir.

7. De la transmission des demandes nécessaires d'armes et d'équipement pour les forces actives sous leurs ordres.

8. C'est par leur intermédiaire (voie hiérarchique) que tous les documents, concernant les affaires militaires de leur district, sont transmis à l'adjudant général, aux quartiers généraux.

106. Ils doivent rendre compte immédiatement des désordres ou bagarres, qui auraient pu se produire parmi les troupes, soit entre elles, soit avec des citoyens, et ensuite faire parvenir un rapport détaillé, après enquête, des causes de ces désordres.

107. Le commandant du district a la direction générale des salles de manœuvres et des arsenaux de son district. Quand les salles de manœuvres doivent servir à plusieurs corps, il fait entre eux la distribution des chambres et des magasins d'armes et fixe les heures et les jours, où chaque corps peut occuper la salle pour des fins militaires.

108. La surveillance locale des salles d'exercice et des arsenaux, dans les cités, les villes, les villages et les districts ruraux, est exercée par l'officier le plus ancien de la milice active de la station, sous la direction du commandant du district. Les salles de manœuvres, aux quartiers généraux du district sont sous la direction personnelle du commandant de ce district.

109. Les gardiens et autres employés des salles d'exercice ou des arsenaux, sont sous le contrôle direct du commandant du district.

110. Dans le cas d'inconduite ou de négligence dans le service de la part de ces personnes, le commandant du district doit les suspendre immédiatement et rendre compte de son action aux quartiers généraux, pour renseigner le ministre de la Milice et de la Défense.

111. Le salaire de tout gardien ou employé, suspendu par le commandant du district, cesse à la date de sa suspension jusqu'à ce qu'une décision du ministre de la Milice et de la Défense soit intervenue.

112. En cas de nécessité, le commandant du district peut employer temporairement une personne compétente pour faire le travail d'un employé suspendu de son service, et il en rend compte immédiatement aux quartiers généraux.

113. Les commandants de districts ne doivent, en aucune circonstance, sortir du territoire de leur commandement sans autorisation des quartiers généraux, et, en faisant leur demande de permission, ils indiquent le nom et le grade des officiers qu'ils proposent pour les remplacer.

114. Le commandant du district est responsable de l'exécution des règlements dans le transfert des armes et du matériel militaire.

DEVOIRS DES COMMANDANTS DE CORPS.

115. Les commandants de corps sont responsables de la bonne garde et de la conservation de tout le matériel public, qui a été distribué à leur corps; et, sous leur direction, les capitaines des compagnies sont responsables de la propreté et du bon état des armes de leurs hommes.

116. Un officier, qui reçoit le commandement d'un corps, est investi d'une autorité, qui le rend responsable vis-à-vis de son souverain et de son pays, du maintien de la discipline, de l'ordre, et de la bonne administration de ce corps; il doit posséder une connaissance pratique approfondie des lois et des règlements militaires, et exiger de ses officiers et de ses hommes une obéissance absolue à ces lois et règlements. Il ne doit pas se contenter de commander, mais il lui faut aussi donner l'exemple pour encourager l'énergique exécution du service, et toujours se montrer ferme et inébranlable dans les difficultés et les privations, qui sont inhérentes au service militaire.

117. Quand un officier, ayant du matériel public sous sa responsabilité, vient à mourir, ou donne sa démission, ou est relevé de son commandement, ou quitte la localité, un officier de l'état-major du district se rend immédiatement au chef-lieu de ce corps, où il prend lui-même charge de ce matériel ou est témoin de leur passage à l'officier suivant à l'ancienneté, ou à tout autre officier qualifié.

118. L'officier d'état-major, qui doit être présent en pareille occasion, prévient l'officier qui est relevé et celui qui recevra les effets en question, d'être présents le jour fixé par lui, pour le transfert des armes et du matériel. En cas de déficits, il exige des explications complètes des causes de ces déficits, et si l'officier intéressé ne lui donne pas l'assistance nécessaire pour le renseigner, ou encore si cet officier ne lui rend pas un compte satisfaisant de sa gestion ou ne lui remet pas tous les effets dont il est responsable, l'officier d'état-major établit un état de la quantité et de la valeur des déficits pour renseigner l'officier qui doit recevoir ces effets et transmet immédiatement un rapport de l'affaire, pour être soumise aux quartiers généraux. Dans ce rapport, l'officier d'état-major doit noter avec soin, dans la colonne des remarques, toutes les mesures qu'il a prises concernant les déficits au moment du transfert des effets.

119. Quand des troupes en armes sont appelées pour l'exécution d'un service extraordinaire, les commandants doivent personnellement s'assurer que les officiers désignés connaissent complètement les ordres et les directions, pour l'exécution du service qu'ils sont appelés à remplir.

120. Aucune fraction de troupes armées, composée de 20 hommes ou plus ne peut être chargée d'exécuter un service quelconque, sans être sous les ordres d'un officier. Tous les détachements de cavalerie de 50 hommes et plus sont accompagnés d'un maréchal-ferrant ou d'un forgeron ayant un certificat de capacité pour ferrer les chevaux.

121. Quand l'occasion se présente, les commandants des corps examinent personnellement les officiers, particulièrement les subalternes, sur toutes les questions des manœuvres en campagne, car l'instruction et les progrès de leurs officiers et de leurs hommes forment une partie essentielle des devoirs des commandants.

122. Ils doivent s'assurer que les officiers connaissent d'une manière pratique le service des piquets et des avant-postes, la conduite des patrouilles, la manœuvre et l'emploi de l'artillerie dans les stations où pareille instruction peut se faire; et, autant que possible la construction des travaux de campagne. A l'occasion, ils donnent à la parade le commandement à des officiers supérieurs ou à des capitaines, en leur prescrivant de faire manœuvrer le bataillon ou le régiment devant eux; il leur faut aussi encourager les subalternes à se mettre au courant des devoirs de l'adjutant, soit sur le terrain de manœuvre, soit dans la salle du rapport et leur fournir toute facilité pour acquérir ces connaissances.

123. Les commandants de corps signalent tout spécialement à l'inspecteur général, sans faveur ni partialité, tout officier qui se distingue dans l'exécution de son service; comme ils signalent également tout officier incapable, plein de mollesse, manquant habituellement à son service, mal disposé à rendre à son commandant l'appui et l'aide auxquels celui-ci a droit de sa part, en un mot, se conduisant d'une manière à amoindrir l'efficacité et le prestige de son corps.

124. Les commandants de corps doivent vérifier les états d'effectifs des compagnies et les rectifier de temps à autre, et il leur est strictement défendu d'enrôler des hommes de milice qui appartiennent déjà à d'autres corps.

125. Ils sont aussi responsables des poursuites, qu'ils doivent intenter, d'après l'Acte de la Milice, contre les hommes, régulièrement inscrits aux contrôles de leurs unités et qui s'absentent des manœuvres annuelles sans raisons valables.

126. Les commandants de corps veillent à ce que tout ordre ou circulaire, d'un intérêt général, soit publié dans les ordres régimentaires ou communiqué de toute autre manière à leur corps; ils doivent fournir à tous les officiers sous leurs ordres, les facilités voulues de se mettre au courant de tout changement, qui pourrait se produire dans les ordres et les règlements. L'ignorance des ordres publiés n'est jamais une excuse pour leur non-exécution. Tous les ordres, qui concernent particulièrement les hommes, doivent leur être communiqués et expliqués immédiatement après qu'ils ont paru; et ceux d'une nature importante, leur sont lus à trois assemblées consécutives. Tout événement qui affecte la solde ou le service d'un homme, est mis à l'ordre immédiatement après qu'il s'est produit, pour l'information de tous les intéressés.

127. Rien n'est plus essentiel, pour maintenir le bon ordre et l'uniformité d'action dans un corps de troupes, que l'enchaînement des responsabilités à partir du plus haut jusqu'au plus bas grade. En vue de ce principe, les bataillons sont divisés en demi-bataillons, et ceux-ci, en compagnies, qui sont placées sous la direction immédiate d'un officier supérieur ou plus ancien, qui rend compte au commandant de leur état et de leur condition.

OFFICIERS SUPERIEURS REGIMENTAIRES.

128. Il est important, pour les officiers supérieurs régimentaires, d'être bien renseignés, en tout temps, sur la capacité de tous les officiers, placés sous leurs ordres, afin d'aider ensuite les commandants de corps à se former une appréciation exacte des aptitudes militaires de ceux qui appartiennent à leur commandement. Pareillement, les commandants d'escadrons, de batteries et de compagnies doivent être au courant des capacités et des besoins de leurs subalternes, qui ont naturellement recours à eux, leurs chefs immédiats, pour tout avis ou renseignement.

129. Les officiers supérieurs régimentaires doivent aider et assister leur commandant, de tout leur pouvoir, dans le maintien de l'efficacité de leur corps et dans sa bonne administration intérieure; en l'absence du commandant, le plus ancien officier régimentaire le remplacera dans son commandement.

130. Le commandant d'un escadron, d'une batterie ou d'une compagnie de la milice active, avec l'aide de ses officiers et de ses sous-officiers, établit un état exact de l'effectif de son unité et le tient à jour, tel qu'ordonné par Sa Majesté; et le lieutenant-colonel ou tout autre officier commandant un régiment ou une batterie de la milice active (ou encore un délégué sous ses ordres, particulièrement l'adjutant) doit vérifier ces états d'effectifs, les faire corriger, de temps à autre, par les capitaines ou tout autre officier, et rendre compte au besoin que certains officiers ont négligé de remplir leur devoir à cet égard.

131. Il incombe à tout commandant d'un escadron, d'une batterie ou d'une compagnie, de maintenir au complet l'effectif de son unité, en recrutant, à certaines époques, le nombre d'hommes nécessaires pour combler les vides formés par les libérations ou tout autre cause.

132. En l'absence du commandant, à l'époque des manœuvres annuelles, ou en toute autre circonstance, l'officier le plus ancien présent prend le commandement et il devient responsable du bon ordre de l'escadron, de la batterie ou de la compagnie, sous tous les rapports, comme s'il en était le commandant réel.

133. Les commandants d'escadrons, de batteries ou de compagnies doivent veiller, avec le plus grand soin, à la propreté des hommes, sur leurs personnes, dans leur habillement, leurs armes, leur équipement et leurs casernes, leurs camps ou leurs quartiers; une stricte surveillance sur ces points essentiels de la discipline, contribue grandement à la santé et au confort des hommes.

134. Avant de se rendre au camp, les capitaines de compagnies doivent s'assurer que chaque homme est en bonne santé, qu'il s'est fait couper les cheveux, qu'il possède une chemise de rechange, des chaussettes, une serviette, un peigne, du savon, une brosse à dents, des aiguilles et du fil, des lacets de souliers et que sa chaussure est bien ajustée et munie de larges semelles et de talons bas—car le confort dans les marches sur un sol dur et accidenté doit passer avant l'élégance. Une chaussure légère, de rechange ou de repos, est presque indispensable dans les camps.

135. Quand les corps ruraux ne sont pas assemblés pour le dressage annuel, il est entendu que le capitaine ou l'officier commandant une unité, peut, de sa propre autorité, réunir ses hommes pour assister aux funérailles d'un officier ou d'un homme appartenant à cette unité; il peut également assembler ses hommes pour un service utile tels qu'exercices ou tirs à la cible prescrits par les autorités du quartier général local.

ADJUDANTS.

136. L'adjutant est un officier nommé pour aider le commandant dans tous les détails du service et de la discipline. Il doit être énergique, d'une belle tenue, capable d'un travail ardu, vigoureux, bon cavalier, plein de ressources et de prévoyance, posséder une bonne plume, être bon tacticien, bien connaître la manœuvre, être capable d'enseigner la pratique du tir et en outre savoir à fond la loi militaire, les règlements de la milice, l'Acte de l'Armée, enfin tout ce qui concerne le service d'une manière générale. Il doit prendre connaissance de tout événement extraordinaire arrivé, soit aux camps, soit dans les casernes. Il est présent à toutes les assemblées pour l'exercice, il reçoit les rapports des officiers, fait faire les appels à la parade et rend compte de tout à l'officier le plus ancien présent. Il doit tenir tous les livres et les documents officiels, la correspondance, un tour pour tous les services, le registre des congés et des permissions, la liste d'ancienneté des sous-officiers, etc., le tout correctement et conformément.

ment aux règlements et aux ordres généraux. Il inspecte toutes les escortes et les gardes, reçoit les ordres du commandant et les communique aux compagnies. Il communique enfin au régiment, en général, tous les ordres qu'il reçoit. Il est responsable vis-à-vis du commandant, de la tenue exacte de tous les documents et de tous livres réglementaires, et il est également tenu de lui faire connaître tous les manquements aux ordres et aux règlements.

137. Les adjudants d'état-major des districts et les autres officiers, nommés à l'état-major des districts ou qui y sont employés temporairement, peuvent être détachés par le commandant de district pour remplir telles fonctions qu'il jugera à propos.

MEDECINS-MAJORS REGIMENTAIRES.

138. Ces officiers sont responsables vis-à-vis du commandant de tout ce qui concerne le service médical, l'hygiène et l'inspection des recrues. Quand les troupes sont de service, ou dans les camps annuels d'instruction, ils fournissent au commandant un rapport quotidien des malades. Ils inspectent également tous les hommes de leur corps, au moins une fois par semaine. Un médecin-major est toujours commandé pour assister aux manœuvres en campagne et au tir à la cible.

OFFICIERS PAYEURS.

139. Il y a un officier payeur dans chaque régiment. Dans tout détachement de pas moins de 5 compagnies, un officier est désigné pour remplir les fonctions d'officier payeur, avec un sergent comme commis et il reçoit la solde de payeur. Cette solde n'est pas ajoutée à sa solde réglementaire mais elle y est substituée. Quand deux compagnies et pas plus de quatre sont logées ensemble, on désigne un officier pour remplir les fonctions de payeur et de quartier-maître, avec la solde de payeur. Cet officier est responsable de l'accomplissement exact et ponctuel des devoirs incombant aux deux fonctions. Quand une station ne comprend qu'une compagnie ou une demi-compagnie, le commandant est responsable de l'exécution des fonctions inhérentes au payeur et au quartiers-maître.

140. Aussitôt qu'un officier payeur est mis en service actif, il établit immédiatement un état exact, numérique et nominal des hommes de son corps ou de son détachement, avec une colonne de remarques en blanc, pour inscrire les noms des hommes qui peuvent être rayés de l'effectif, et il s'empresse de transmettre une demande, faite d'après le modèle réglementaire, pour toucher d'avance une semaine de solde pour ses hommes. Il doit aussi se mettre au courant des tarifs de la solde et des allocations des officiers, des sous-officiers et des hommes de son corps ou de son détachement, et se tenir renseigné continuellement sur les changements qui pourraient se produire dans ces tarifs.

141. Il est du devoir d'un officier payeur de faire connaître à son commandant toute distribution incorrecte et inutile de solde et d'allocations. Le commandant fait faire une enquête et exige que toute allocation illégalement perçue soit remboursée.

142. Les fonds votés annuellement par le parlement ne doivent pas être considérés comme autorisant certains paiements. Quand un payeur reçoit un compte à payer qui lui paraît ne pas être autorisé spécialement, ou par les règlements du département ou du service, il est de son devoir de prévenir le commandant de son corps, ou tout autre officier intéressé, selon le cas, que ce compte n'est pas appuyé de l'autorisation légale de paiement. L'officier qui présente ce compte doit alors obtenir l'autorisation nécessaire.

143. Les commandants ne doivent certifier aucun état de solde contenant un item d'augmentation de solde, de solde supplémentaire ou d'allocations, sans inscrire, dans la colonne des remarques, le numéro et la date du document officiel qui autorise de telles augmentations. Si les ordres et les règlements de la milice ne contiennent aucune prescription concernant pareils cas, une autorisation spéciale doit être obtenue des quartiers-généraux, avant que le commandant certifie ces états.

144. Il est strictement défendu aux officiers payeurs de payer toute augmentation de solde ou d'allocations, sans citer à l'appui le document officiel qui l'autorise.

145. Aucun paiement de travail exécuté ou de fournitures de matériel faites par une personne liée à un service public quelconque du Canada ne peut être fait, à moins que, en outre de toute autre pièce ou certificat nécessaire à l'appui, l'officier qui est chargé du service spécial en question, ne certifie que ce travail a été fait et ces fournitures de matériel livrées par autorisation du minis-tre, selon le cas, que le prix demandé est celui spécifié dans le contrat, et enfin, s'il n'y a pas eu de contrat, que ce prix est juste et raisonnable.

146. Des inconvénients et des délais se sont produits à propos de réclamations pour travaux exécutés au département de la Milice, le plus souvent ces réclamations n'ayant aucune autorisation à l'appui. A l'avenir, on devra citer brièvement, dans ces comptes ou ces réclamations, le numéro et la date du document officiel qui a autorisé ces travaux, y joindre la demande approuvée, si l'autorisation a été donnée sous cette forme, ou une copie de l'autorisation spéciale, et mettre le tout à l'appui de toutes ces sortes de réclamations, qui devront être établies et certifiées en double.

147. Un officier, ou un homme, qui présente une réclamation au gouvernement pour solde ou allocations, ou arrérages de solde ou d'allocations, doit déclarer, dans sa demande, s'il a déjà touché ou non un acompte sur cette réclamation. Si des paiements ont été faits, il doit aussi déclarer à quelle date, quel montant et de qui il les a reçus; et, après avoir déduit ces montants, il donne le chiffre de la balance exacte qui lui est due. Les commandants de districts doivent s'assurer que toutes ces instructions ont été observées avant de certifier ces réclamations pour paiement et de les transmettre aux quartiers-généraux.

148. Si un officier payeur éprouve quelque difficulté à obtenir le remboursement de sommes dues par des officiers ou d'autres, il doit immédiatement signaler le cas officiellement à qui de droit. Les commandants, en pareille circonstance, doivent appuyer le payeur, en prescrivant à leurs officiers de rembourser les sommes qu'ils doivent au trésor public.

149. Il est strictement défendu aux officiers payeurs de se servir des fonds publics pour toute autre fin que celle prescrite par les règlements. Ils ne doivent, sous aucun prétexte, et à qui que ce soit, prêter ou avancer un montant quelconque des sommes dont ils sont comptables; ni chercher, directement ou indirectement, à tirer aucun bénéfice de ces fonds, à part leur solde et leurs allocations.

150. Si les officiers payeurs emploient, pour payer les hommes de la milice, des agents qui ne sont pas dûment autorisés à faire ce service, ils le font à leur risque et péril; toute perte encourue de ce chef doit être supportée uniquement par eux-mêmes personnellement.

151. Quand les hommes de la milice quittent un district pour aller servir dans un autre, ils sont payés de tout ce qui leur est dû jusqu'au jour, inclusivement, qui précède leur départ, par le payeur du district qu'ils abandonnent, et sont pris à l'effectif de leur nouveau district à la date même de leur mise en route pour rejoindre leur nouvelle destination.

152. Toute réclamation pour paiement de logement doit être accompagnée d'un certificat spécifiant que l'officier a été forcé de se procurer lui-même un logement, faute de place dans les bâtiments loués par l'Etat ou lui appartenant.

153. Les officiers employés à l'état-major de la milice ne doivent jamais oublier qu'aucune dépense ne peut être faite sans être au préalable légalement autorisée.

154. Aucun officier, sous-officier ou soldat de la milice n'a droit à la solde et aux allocations, pour service actif, le jour qui suit sa libération du service.

155. A part les états de solde réguliers pour le service lui-même, aucun compte contre le département de la Milice ne doit être établi par les officiers ou commis de ce département, ou par l'état-major du district, ou par un officier, ou sous-officier, ou soldat quelconque de la milice, ayant des rapports avec le service, qui est le débiteur de pareil compte. Les créanciers établissent eux-mêmes leurs propres comptes.

156. La signature de l'un des officiers ou autres mentionnés dans l'article précédent ne peut, en aucun cas, être acceptée comme reçu de tels comptes. Les créanciers doivent donner leurs propres reçus, ou celui de leur agent légalement autorisé, mais cet agent ne peut être une des personnes citées à l'article 155.

157. Quand un créancier ne sait pas écrire, ses comptes doivent être établis par d'autres personnes et ses reçus, signés en présence de témoins, qui ne peuvent être pris parmi les personnes désignées à l'article 155.

QUARTIERS-MAITRES.

158. La nomination d'un quartier-maître compétent est d'une grande importance pour la santé et le confort du soldat. Les commandants de corps doivent donc apporter le plus grand soin dans leur choix d'un officier pour remplir les fonctions de quartier-maître.

159. Quand un corps est en service actif, il appartient au quartier-maître, sous la direction du commandant, de prendre charge de tous les approvisionnements et du matériel de toute sorte appartenant au corps, et de les distribuer à la troupe, conformément aux règlements. Il est responsable, vis-à-vis de son commandant, de la propreté du camp ou des casernes. Il veille au logement des hommes chez l'habitant, il trace le camp et préside au chargement et au transport des bagages de son corps pendant les marches.

DEVOIRS A BORD DES NAVIRES.

160. Aussitôt après l'embarquement des troupes à bord d'un navire, les officiers, sous aucun prétexte que ce soit, ne peuvent quitter le vaisseau, sans une permission spéciale du général ou de tout autre officier chargé de diriger l'embarquement.

161. Les commandants de troupes, aussitôt que l'embarquement a eu lieu, doivent décider du nombre d'officiers nécessaires pour faire le service, pendant le voyage. A bord des transports militaires ou transports réquisitionnés, en outre de l'adjudant et du quartier-maître, quand l'effectif à bord ne comprend pas moins de 800 hommes de troupes mixtes, le nombre nécessaire pour le service du jour est ordinairement composé comme suit:—

- 1 capitaine du jour,
- 1 subalterne du jour,
- 3 officiers de garde.

A bord de navires de plus petite dimension, on peut diminuer ce nombre. Tous les officiers de compagnies, appartenant à des unités ou à des détachements, sont bons pour le service.

162. Le commandant, tout en maintenant la discipline dans ses troupes, ne doit pas oublier que le capitaine du navire possède l'autorité légale pour faire observer le bon ordre parmi tous ceux qui sont à bord, et qu'il est seul entièrement responsable de la sécurité de son navire et des passagers. En cas d'incendie ou d'événement imprévu, le commandant des troupes doit tout particulièrement tenir compte des responsabilités du capitaine du navire, lui rendre toute l'aide possible, et ne jamais essayer de lui enlever son commandement.

AIDE AU POUVOIR CIVIL.

163. La loi concernant les appels de la milice en aide au pouvoir civil est inscrite dans l'Acte de la Milice de 1904, sections 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86 et 87, dont une copie est jointe comme appendice au présent travail.

164. Dans les cas où un appel à l'aide est fait conformément à la loi, l'officier le plus ancien de la milice active à qui est adressée la réquisition, en informe immédiatement par télégraphe le commandant du district, qui en rend compte aux quartiers-généraux. Là où il lui est impossible de communiquer rapidement avec le commandant du district, il doit adresser directement un télégramme à l'adjudant général.

165. Si la réquisition est adressée au commandant d'un district quelconque, celui-ci en rend compte immédiatement par télégraphe à l'adjudant général.

166. Les officiers de la milice active doivent se convaincre qu'ils n'ont aucun pouvoir discrétionnaire ou autre pour juger de la nécessité de l'aide à accorder aux autorités civiles.

167. Toute force de la milice qui est appelée à aider le pouvoir civil, doit être munie des munitions légalement prévues, avant d'aller prendre son service. Les munitions non utilisées doivent être retirées aux hommes, après le service accompli, et versées sans délai au magasin qui les a distribuées.

168. Le commandant des troupes, sous la direction d'un des magistrats qui a signé la réquisition appelant l'aide de la milice, doit se rendre avec ses troupes à l'endroit indiqué. Il veille avec soin à ce que ses hommes marchent en formation militaire régulière, avec les précautions d'usage, et qu'ils ne soient ni éparpillés, ni détachés, ni placés dans une position où il leur soit impossible de se défendre. Le magistrat accompagne les troupes, et l'officier se tient près de lui.

169. Quand le détachement compte moins de vingt files, il doit être divisé en quatre sections, mais s'il comprend plus de vingt files, il forme plus de quatre groupes.

170. Tous les ordres, donnés aux hommes, émanent de leur chef militaire. Les soldats ne doivent, en aucun cas, faire usage de leurs armes que par l'ordre formel de leur officier, qui doit limiter son feu à un champ d'action strictement nécessaire, agir avec la plus grande humanité et n'ordonner de faire feu que sur l'invitation expresse du magistrat.

171. Afin d'éviter tout malentendu, les commandants de troupes ou de détachements, chargés de réprimer les émeutes ou de faire exécuter les lois, doivent, en toutes circonstances, prendre les moyens les plus efficaces, (de concert avec le magistrat sous les ordres duquel ils sont placés), pour bien faire comprendre à la populace en émeute que le feu sera effectif dans le cas où leurs hommes recevraient l'ordre de tirer.

172. Si le commandant est d'opinion qu'une démonstration légère est suffisante pour apaiser la foule et atteindre son but, il donne l'ordre de faire feu à une ou deux files seulement. Si un plus grand effort devient nécessaire, il choisit deux sections, ordonne à l'une de faire feu, maintient l'autre en réserve, et, au besoin, il commande aux deux sections d'exécuter un feu alternatif ou d'ensemble. Tous ces feux sont exécutés au commandement personnel du commandant lui-même.

173. S'il y a plus d'un officier présent avec le détachement et qu'il devienne urgent d'employer le feu de plus d'une section, le commandant choisit un officier et le désigne clairement aux hommes comme étant le chef qui doit commander le feu d'un nombre indiqué de sections. Cet officier reçoit ses instructions du commandant, quand celui-ci a été invité par le magistrat de tirer sur la foule. Aucune autre personne, excepté celle que le commandant a expressément désignée, ne peut ordonner de faire feu à une file ou à une section quelconque.

174. Le feu doit cesser, quand il n'est plus nécessaire, et à la discrétion du commandant, que le magistrat ait ou non donné l'ordre de le faire. On doit prendre grand soin de ne pas faire feu sur les personnes détachées de la foule. Il est à remarquer que tirer pardessus la tête de la foule a pour effet d'encourager et de favoriser les plus téméraires et les plus coupables, au détriment de personnes innocentes ou timides, qui peuvent être ainsi sacrifiées inutilement.

175. Quand le feu devient malheureusement nécessaire et qu'il est ordonné par le magistrat, les officiers et les hommes doivent se pénétrer qu'ils ont un devoir bien pénible et bien sérieux à remplir, qu'il leur faut l'accomplir avec sang-froid et fermeté et de telle sorte qu'ils puissent pouvoir faire cesser leur feu à l'instant où ils se rendent compte qu'il n'y a plus de cause de le continuer.

176. Quand les services d'une troupe, appelée en aide au pouvoir civil, ne sont plus requis, le commandant de la milice active présent sur place la fait se retirer, après en avoir reçu avis des autorités intéressées.

177. Pendant la période où une partie des forces de la milice sont de service en aide au pouvoir civil, le commandant doit fournir, chaque jour, directement à l'adjudant général, un état indiquant le nombre d'hommes de tous grades qui sont employés à ce service.

178. A l'expiration du service pour l'exécution duquel une troupe est réquisitionnée, son commandant adresse immédiatement au commandant du district un rapport détaillé des événements auxquels il a pris part, et ce rapport est transmis par celui-ci aux quartiers-généraux. Le commandant de la troupe établit également un état de solde, spécifiant les diverses sommes dues d'après la loi, demande à la municipalité intéressée de payer ces sommes, et, en cas de non paiement immédiat, il transmet le tout aux quartiers-généraux, où s'effectue le règlement de la difficulté.

UNIFORMES.

179. Les uniformes des troupes canadiennes sont conformes aux patrons publiés de temps en temps dans les règlements sur la tenue de la milice canadienne.

180. Les règlements pour la distribution et le soin des armes, de l'habillement et de l'équipement varient de temps à autre, tel qu'indiqué dans les règlements sur l'équipement.

181. A l'avenir, aucun officier ne sera nommé ou promu dans la milice active, à moins de s'engager à se procurer les uniformes convenables, dans la période de trois mois qui suit sa nomination ou sa promotion. Une sellerie complète sera distribuée gratuitement à tous les officiers montés, nommés après le 1er novembre 1904. Les officiers qui ont actuellement des emplois ou qui pourraient y être nommés à l'avenir, dans la milice active, sont susceptibles de voir leur nomination à ces emplois annulée, s'ils ne se maintiennent pas toujours pourvus de tous les effets d'uniforme indispensables.

182. Il est strictement défendu aux commandants de corps de troupes d'introduire ou de tolérer toute addition ou altération aux modèles réglementaires d'uniformes.

183. Aucun officier ou soldat ne peut porter d'ornements ou d'emblèmes, à moins d'y être autorisé par son commandant.

184. Les officiers qui occupent une place en évidence, aux revues militaires et aux cérémonies ou fonctions officielles, doivent porter la grande tenue de leur grade. Ils ne doivent pas être montés, à moins d'y avoir droit en vertu de leur grade ou de leur position.

185. Les officiers présents aux revues en habits bourgeois doivent éviter de se mettre en évidence. Ils forment simplement partie des spectateurs ordinaires.

186. Les officiers mis en retraite, avec permission de retenir leur grade, peuvent porter la tenue de leur ancien corps.

187. Les officiers d'état-major mis en retraite, avec permission de retenir leur grade dans la milice, n'ont pas le droit de continuer à porter la tenue d'état-major, mais il leur est permis de porter l'uniforme du dernier corps dans lequel ils ont servi.

188. Les officiers de la réserve ne sont pas obligés de se procurer d'uniformes, à moins d'être appelés en service actif. Ils sont cependant autorisés à porter la tenue décrite dans les règlements sur les uniformes.

INSIGNES DE BONNE CONDUITE.

189. Afin de distinguer les hommes, au-dessous du grade de caporal, qui ont servi sans interruption dans leur corps pendant une période de trois ans, avec un certificat de bonne conduite, et se sont rengagés pour une autre période de trois ans dans le même corps, il leur est donné un chevron simple de bonne conduite et de long service à être porté sur l'uniforme pendant le temps de leur rengagement.

190. Un autre chevron simple, formant chevron double en tout, leur sera donné pour être porté tel qu'indiqué ci-dessus, après six ans de services accomplis, pendant leur troisième période de trois ans de rengagement.

191. Enfin un autre chevron simple, formant triple chevron en tout, leur sera donné pour être porté, tel qu'indiqué à l'article 189, après neuf ans de services accomplis, pendant leur quatrième période de trois ans de rengagement.

192. Les insignes donnés par la Ligue militaire canadienne de Tir (C.M.R.L.) peuvent être portés par les hommes de la milice sur la manche gauche de l'uniforme, conformément aux mêmes règlements qui régissent le port chez les hommes de la milice des insignes donnés par l'Association nationale de Tir (N.R.A.), l'Association de Tir du Dominion du Canada (D.R.A.C.) et l'Association canadienne d'Artillerie (C.A.A.).

ADMINISTRATION INTERIEURE.

193. Pour fins d'administration intérieure, chaque escadron, chaque batterie et chaque compagnie sont désignés comme suit:—

Tous les corps à cheval—par une lettre de l'alphabet, en commençant par la lettre A.

Tous les corps à pied—par un numéro de série.

194. Pour l'inspection et la surveillance en général, chaque escadron est divisé en quatre troupes; chaque batterie d'artillerie de campagne, en trois sections, et chaque section, en deux demi-sections; chaque compagnie d'artillerie de forteresse et chaque compagnie d'infanterie, en sections.

195. Les officiers subalternes qui ont la surveillance des troupes, des sections ou des demi-sections, en sont responsables vis-à-vis de leur chef immédiat, qui, lui, à leur tour, répond à l'officier supérieur intéressé. Les officiers subalternes, en rejoignant leurs corps, doivent immédiatement se procurer un état nominatif de leurs troupes, de leurs sections ou de leurs demi-sections et étudier aussitôt que possible la disposition, le caractère, l'âge et le service de chacun de leurs hommes.

196. Dans les casernes, les camps ou le logement en ville, on doit prendre soin de placer les hommes dans les chambres, ou les tentes, ou les logements de manière à les grouper, autant que possible, par demi-compagnies, sections, demi-sections ou escouades, afin que les officiers et les sous-officiers puissent, avec plus de facilité, exercer sur eux une surveillance effective et continue, qui est indispensable en toutes circonstances.

197. La tenue, l'apparence et la conduite des soldats, en tout temps et en toutes circonstances, doivent être toujours correctes, de manière à inspirer le respect du service militaire. En règle générale, le commandant de troupes, au camp ou en station, doit fixer, à sa discrétion, et indiquer au livre d'ordres les limites de la garnison que les sous-officiers et les soldats ne peuvent dépasser sans permission. Les soldats ne doivent pas sortir des limites de leurs casernes ou de leurs camps, sans être en tenue régulière, ni fumer dans les rues, excepté aux heures permises.

198. Les directions suivantes concernant l'entretien des cheveux doivent être strictement observées par tous les grades. Les cheveux sont coupés proprement et tenus courts. Les moustaches sont obligatoires, et le menton et la lèvre inférieure sont rasés, excepté chez les sapeurs, qui portent la barbe entière. Les favoris sont d'une longueur modérée. En service actif, en campagne, on peut porter la barbe entière, à la volonté du chef de l'état-major général.

COMITES.

199. Le commandant d'un corps de troupes adresse, tous les ans, une circulaire à ses officiers, pour les convoquer à une réunion, à une époque convenable, en janvier, en février ou en mars, en leur donnant avis quatorze jours d'avance. Si cela était plus facile, cette assemblée pourrait avoir lieu au camp, pendant la période de manœuvres annuelles. Cette réunion a pour but de former un comité régimentaire et un comité de la musique, si le corps a une musique, et de transiger toutes les autres affaires régimentaires, s'il y a lieu. Chaque comité est composé de trois membres, qui sont élus pour un an, ou qui en restent membres jusqu'à ce qu'ils soient relevés. Chaque comité nomme un président et un secrétaire, pris parmi ses membres.

200. Comme aucun corps d'officiers régimentaires, en matière d'affaires régimentaires, ne peut être indépendant du commandant, celui-ci est d'office membre des deux comités.

201. Chaque comité soumet à la réunion annuelle des officiers les états suivants, détaillés:—

1° De toutes les sommes reçues et dépensées pendant l'année écoulée, ou depuis le dernier rapport annuel.

2° De la balance en caisse et l'endroit où elle est déposée.

3° Des factures et des comptes impayés et des engagements de toutes sortes dont le corps pourrait être tenu responsable.

202. Une copie certifiée de ces états, avec le procès-verbal de l'assemblée annuelle, est adressée, dans le cours du mois suivant, au commandant du district, pour être transmise aux quartiers-généraux.

203. Le secrétaire-trésorier de chaque comité est responsable vis-à-vis du président de toutes les sommes en sa possession, et il tient des registres montrant les recettes et les dépenses, avec pièces à l'appui. Les comptes sont soumis aux officiers à l'assemblée annuelle, et à tout autre époque fixée par le commandant. Toute demande de dépenses à mettre à la charge des officiers et qui n'a pas été prévue à l'assemblée annuelle, doit être soumise et approuvée à une réunion spéciale des officiers.

204. Les allocations de l'Etat pour la musique ne sont payées que lorsque le commandant du district certifie que cette musique est efficace, qu'il en a examiné les comptes et les pièces à l'appui, et qu'il a trouvé tout en bon ordre.

205. Quand on reçoit l'autorisation de toucher les allocations pour la musique, le président reçoit la somme et la dépense d'accord avec les autres membres du comité.

206. Aucune rémunération n'est accordée aux membres des comités de la musique et du régiment, car ces fonctions sont purement honorifiques.

207. Les commandants pratiquent la plus grande économie dans la dépense des fonds régimentaires et ne doivent autoriser l'emploi de ces fonds que dans l'intérêt du bien-être de leurs corps.

208. Les dépenses exagérées pour la musique et les réunions de concours doivent être évitées, et aucun officier ne peut être appelé à souscrire aux dépenses de bals, de fêtes et de rafraichissements, sans qu'il ait, au préalable, donné son consentement pour de telles dépenses.

209. Les commandants doivent donner leur appui aux officiers qui, pour cause d'économie, refusent de souscrire à tous ces déboursés, et attirer l'attention des commandants des compagnies sur cette clause des règlements.

CONTRIBUTIONS ET SOUSCRIPTIONS.

210. Les officiers de la milice sont obligés de contribuer aux fonds régimentaires. Le montant des contributions est fixé par les chefs de corps, mais il doit être proportionné à la contribution du plus haut grade et ne point dépasser les sommes fixées ci-dessous:—

211. A la première nomination d'officier subalterne et à chaque promotion subséquente au grade de capitaine, de major et de lieutenant-colonel, $10.

A la nomination directe—

Au grade de capitaine.. . . .	$20 00
Au grade de major.. . . .	30 00
Au grade de lieutenant-colonel. . . .	40 00

212. Une promotion d'une unité de la milice dans une autre ne doit pas être considérée comme une nomination directe à un grade plus élevé.

213. Ces fonds sont employés à la discrétion des chefs de corps, mais aucune autre contribution aux fonds régimentaires ne sera exigée des officiers, soit à leur arrivée au corps, soit pendant leur service, ou quand ils quittent leur unité.

214. Les souscriptions des officiers sont réglées par les chefs de corps et sont proportionnelles à la solde nette initiale de chaque grade.

215. Les contributions et les souscriptions des officiers de l'état-major du régiment sont réglées en prenant pour base leur grade régimentaire.

CONGES.

216. Tout officier qui désire quitter le Canada, ou voyager à l'étranger pendant son congé, ou bien se rendre au delà des frontières du Dominion, doit s'adresser aux quartiers-généraux pour l'obtention d'un tel congé.

217. Un congé d'un mois ou au-dessous en faveur des officiers de l'état-major et des troupes permanentes est accordé par l'adjudant général.

218. Un congé de plus d'un mois, en faveur de ces officiers, ne peut être accordé que par le ministre de la Milice et de la Défense, sur la recommandation du chef d'état-major général.

219. Un congé de trois mois peut être accordé par le commandant du district, excepté aux officiers cités à l'article 217 et au commandant d'unités; de trois à six mois, par le chef d'état-major général. Congés pour plus de six mois doivent être demandés, par la voie hiérarchique, au ministre de la Milice et de la Défense, qui seul a le droit de les accorder.

220. Avant d'accorder un congé à un commandant d'unité, le commandant de district s'assure que le commandant en second ou l'officier le plus ancien après le chef d'unité est disponible pour le remplacer dans son commandement pendant son absence. Toute demande de congé de plus d'un mois, en faveur de commandants d'unités, est adressée au chef de l'état-major général, qui en décide.

221. Aucun congé de plus d'un an ne doit être accordé, excepté dans des circonstances tout à fait exceptionnelles.

222. Les officiers en congé doivent laisser leur adresse, afin que les ordres puissent leur être communiqués. Ils doivent également prévenir qui de droit de tout changement d'adresse. Un officier qui demande une prolongation de congé, doit toujours indiquer le temps pendant lequel il a été absent. Les officiers en congé qui s'arrêtent aux quartiers-généraux laissent leur carte de visite à l'adresse du chef d'état-major général, et aussi chez le commandant du district, quand ils font séjour aux quartiers-généraux d'un district.

223. Quand les corps sont campés pour l'instruction annuelle, le commandant n'accorde de congé à aucun officier, si ce n'est dans des circonstances très exceptionnelles, qui doivent être expliquées d'une manière satisfaisante à l'inspection annuelle. Un officier, en pareil cas, n'a droit à aucune solde, pendant son absence.

224. Les commandants de district peuvent exempter des manœuvres annuelles les hommes de bonne conduite, sur la recommandation de leur chefs de corps, quand ceux-ci croient que les circonstances justifient de telles exemptions. Les hommes dont l'engagement expire pendant les manœuvres annuelles, peuvent être exemptés d'y assister, s'ils le désirent, et ils reçoivent alors leur certificat de libération du service.

225. Quand les corps sont réunis au camp pour les exercices annuels, aucune permission ne doit être accordée aux sous-officiers et aux hommes, excepté dans des circonstances très urgentes, qui doivent être expliquées d'une manière satisfaisante à l'inspection annuelle. En pareil cas, ces hommes n'ont droit à aucune solde, pendant leur absence.

ABSENCE ILLEGALE.

226. Les sous-officiers et les hommes qui s'absentent illégalement, pendant la période des exercices annuels, sont soumis aux peines prescrites par l'Acte de l'Armée, et les Règlements du Roi, et par l'Acte de la Milice, quand cela est plus facile.

227. Les sous-officiers et les hommes qui refusent ou négligent d'être présents à l'instruction annuelle, après en avoir été légalement prévenus, sont soumis aux peines prescrites par l'Acte de la Milice.

228. Aucune action ou poursuite ne peut être prise contre un sous-officier ou un homme, sans en obtenir, au préalable, l'approbation du commandant de l'unité à laquelle appartient le délinquant.

CORRESPONDANCE, MODELES, REGISTRES ET RAPPORTS.

Correspondance.

229. Toute correspondance pour le quartier-général doit être adressée comme suit:—

L'Adjudant général,
Quartiers-généraux, Ottawa.

230. Les chefs des sections militaires et les officiers d'état-major signent leur correspondance officielle en faisant suivre leur nom de leur grade ou de leur titre officiel. La correspondance de routine, adressée au sous-ministre, peut être signée par les assistants des chefs de sections intéressées.

231. Tous les documents officiels sont en général de nature confidentielle et ne peuvent être utilisés que sous la responsabilité de la personne qui en a la garde, mais la valeur confidentielle de ces documents varie selon leur contenu, et quand il y a lieu de le faire, on doit se servir des mots "secret" ou "confidentiel".

232. Toutes les lettres d'un caractère secret ou confidentiel doivent être marquées "secrètes" ou "confidentielles", selon le cas. Ces lettres sont mises dans deux enveloppes, celle de l'intérieur marquée "secrètes" ou "confidentielles" et celle de l'extérieur ne portant que l'adresse. Les plans confidentiels ou autres documents doivent être traités de la même manière. Les enveloppes portant les mots "secrètes" ou "confidentielles" ne sont ouvertes que par un officier.

233. Aucun document secret ou confidentiel ne peut être employé dans un but particulier, littéraire ou autrement, ni être cité dans un catalogue ou une publication qui n'est pas de soi-même un document secret ou confidentiel.

234. Les lettres officielles doivent contenir tous les renseignements sur les sujets qu'elles traitent, et portent l'entête suivante:—

Ici indiquer le sujet. De———. Ici indiquer le grade, le nom et le corps de celui qui écrit la lettre.
A———. Ici indiquer l'officier ou le chef du département à qui la lettre est adressée.

Station———. Date———.

235. Excepté dans des cas spéciaux, chaque lettre ne traite que d'un sujet, brièvement indiqué, comme suit:—Discipline—Transport—Route, etc., etc., et doit être écrite sur papier-ministre, avec une marge d'un quart de la largeur de la feuille. Les paragraphes sont numérotés, et les pièces incluses notées en marge ou portées sur un bulletin d'envoi séparé. En règle générale, les courtes communications sont écrites sur une demi-feuille; mais, quand la lettre dépasse une page ou est accompagnée de pièces, elle doit être écrite sur une feuille entière. La transmission de pièces incluses inutiles doit être évitée, mais, quand il est nécessaire de le faire, on doit en détacher toutes les pages en blanc. Le grade et le corps de l'officier suivent en toutes circonstances sa signature. Les signatures imprimées au moyen d'un cachet ne sont pas autorisées pour les lettres et les documents officiels. Tous les officiers qui ont la mission de signer des documents, doivent le faire eux-mêmes de leur propre écriture. Quand une communication a trait à une correspondance précédente provenant des quartiers-généraux, on doit citer, comme référence, le numéro, la date et le résumé du sujet de cette correspondance.

236. A moins d'indications ou de directions contraires, toutes les réponses, les remarques ou les questions, résultant d'une lettre ou d'un memorandum original, doivent se faire sous forme de notes (minutes). La première minute suit immédiatement la fin de la lettre ou du memorandum, et la personne qui l'écrit marque la lettre originale n° 1, et sa propre note, n° 2 (autant que possible en encre rouge). Toutes les autres minutes se suivent immédiatement, avec leur numéro d'ordre, et prennent date après la dernière note inscrite au document original. On peut ajouter une demi-feuille pour commencer ou continuer d'écrire ces minutes, mais aucun espace en blanc ne doit être laissé entre elles, et rien ne peut être écrit en marge.

237. Les commandants de districts et les autres chefs intermédiaires sont responsables de l'exactitude des faits contenus dans les documents qu'ils transmettent. Il est de leur devoir de régler tous les cas litigieux qui sont du domaine de leur compétence. En transmettant les lettres ou les demandes, ils doivent y joindre leurs opinions ou leurs recommandations, en y ajoutant toutes les observations nécessaires pour permettre aux autorités aux quartiers-généraux de décider de la question, sans autre référence ou correspondance. De même, les commandants de districts doivent exiger des commandants sous leurs ordres de donner toutes les informations nécessaires, dans tous les documents qu'ils soumettent à leur décision.

238. Les demandes des officiers de régiment sont d'abord soumises aux commandants de leurs unités. Les demandes des sous-officiers et des soldats sont faites personnellement, et non par écrit, par l'entremise de leur commandant de compagnie, etc., au commandant de leur unité.

239. Dans la correspondance directe entre les commandants de district, les officiers d'état-major, les chefs de corps et de départements, les lettres doivent être signées par les officiers les plus élevés en grade, et non par leurs officiers d'état-major ou leurs officiers subordonnés. Quand un officier emploie un officier de son état-major dans l'échange de correspondance avec un autre officier de même grade ou de pareille position, les réponses sont adressées à cet officier d'état-major.

240. Les officiers qui reçoivent des communications officielles, directement des quartiers-généraux, ne doivent pas se séparer du document original avant de le renvoyer aux quartiers généraux.

241. Tous les documents portant le cachet officiel du département de la Milice et de la Défense, ou du bureau de l'adjudant général, transmis des quartiers généraux à un officier d'état-major, pour lui fournir des renseignements ou lui prescrire d'agir dans certains cas spécifiés, doivent être renvoyés aux quartiers généraux aussitôt que possible par cet officier, avec les mots "pris en note et renvoyé" ou "détails de l'action prise", selon le cas, et ces mots sont datés et signés par lui.

242. Aucune correspondance ne doit être échangée entre les commandants de compagnies, etc., de différents corps sur des questions concernant les hommes de leurs compagnies, etc., quand la chose peut se faire plus facilement entre les bureaux des régiments.

243. Les demandes par écrit des sous-officiers et des hommes pour être admis à suivre un cours dans une école militaire, ne doivent pas être transmis par leurs commandants, qui sont responsables de ce que les intéressés possèdent l'éducation nécessaire pour suivre ces cours.

244. Les états des effectifs de parade sont transmis au commandant du district de la manière suivante:—

(1) Par les commandants d'unités de ville et de milice rurale, tous les jours, pendant la période des exercices annuels.

(2) Par le commandant d'une unité, quand des gardes d'honneur, des escortes ou d'autres parades ou services ont été commandés et doivent être payés par le trésor public.

245. On ne doit pas envelopper les lettres d'une lettre de transmission, car cela ajoute un poids inutile au document, sans donner aucun renseignement.

246. Les lettres qui ne traitent pas du service public, ou qui ne sont pas destinées aux départements militaires, ne doivent pas être mises sous enveloppes officielles.

Etats et rapports.

247. Les états et les rapports périodiques, indiqués dans le tableau ci-dessous, doivent être fournis par les commandants de district et d'unités, quand il y a lieu.

248. Etats que doivent fournir les commandants de district ou d'unité des forces permanentes:

DISTRIBUTION DES MODELES ET DES REGISTRES.

249. Les modèles militaires sont distribués aux ayants droit le 1er juillet de chaque année. Les commandants d'unités transmettent leurs demandes de registres, de modèles, etc., aux commandants de district le 1er juin de chaque année. Les registres et les modèles sont transférés, comme tout autre objet de propriété public, par l'officier, qui les détient, quand il abandonne son commandement.

Modèles en usage pendant le dressage annuel.

250. Etat de la parade du bataillon. Etat journalier des rations. Résumé de l'état des rations du bataillon. Résumé de l'état des rations de la brigade. Soumissions pour la viande. Soumissions pour le pain. Soumissions pour les pommes de terre et les épiceries. Soumissions pour le bois. Soumissions pour le fourrage. Soumissions pour la paille pour les hommes.

251. Les rapports journaliers des rations et les modèles de soumissions sont semblables à ceux décrits à l'article ci-dessus pour le dressage annuel, en y retranchant les mots des modèles, concernant ce service. Les modèles pour les rapports, indiquant les réceptions et les distributions, seront décrits en temps utile selon la nature du service pour lequel ils sont requis.

Registres.

252. Les registres suivants sont achetés avec les allocations accordées à cet effet, savoir :—

Régimentaires—Pour les ordres généraux, de brigade et de régiment.

Régimentaires—Livre de lettres.

Régimentaires—Registre des punitions.

Régimentaires—Registre pour les cours martiales, les cours d'enquête, etc.

De compagnie—Livres d'ordres.

De compagnie—Registre de présence à l'exercice.

De compagnie—Grand livre ou journal de solde.

De compagnie—Registre des punitions.

Tous ces registres sont passés à leurs successeurs par les officiers détenteurs, quand ils quittent le service.

253. Ces registres doivent être présentés par les commandants d'unités, à chaque inspection afin de leur donner droit aux allocations du gouvernement pour registres, timbres et papeterie.

254. Les états de services des officiers sont tenus avec le plus grand soin au chef-lieu de chaque corps. Les officiers inspecteurs, lors de leur inspection annuelle, doivent s'assurer de la tenue correcte de ces registres.

255. Quand les corps de la milice active sont de service, des demandes, approuvées par le commandant de la station, doivent être faites, de temps à autre, pour la fourniture de registre et de papeterie qui sont absolument nécessaires pour le bureau du corps et celui de l'officier payeur, et ces demandes sont accordées par le département.

256. Une allocation de $2 par mois pour papeterie est comprise sur l'état de solde et payée par le commandant de compagnie, qui porte cette somme à son registre de comptes mensuels.

257. Les registres à être distribués à chaque unité, en service actif, sur demandes des officiers commandants, sont :—

Un livre d'ordres du régiment, et un registre des tours de service des officiers.

Pareille distribution a lieu pour chaque escadron, chaque batterie ou chaque compagnie, en service actif, savoir :—

Un livre d'ordres de compagnie, un registre des permis, un grand livre de compagnie et un registre des tours de service.

TIMBRES-POSTE.

258. Un compte de timbres-poste est tenu dans le bureau du commandant de chaque district, ou dans celui de chaque unité permanente, lequel compte ou une copie de compte, selon le cas, est transmis à l'adjutant général, aux époques fixées de temps à autre.

259. Toute correspondance entre les quartiers généraux, à Ottawa, et les corps de troupe ou autres, est exempté de frais de poste.

ENROLEMENTS.

260. Le recrutement pour la milice est fait par les commandants d'unités, ou d'escadrons ou de compagnie des corps de la campagne.

261. Les recrues pour la milice active doivent être sujets britanniques de naissance ou naturalisés, entre les âges de 18 et 45 ans, avoir une taille d'au moins 5 pieds 4 pouces, et un tour de poitrine de 34 pouces.

262. Il n'est pas permis d'engager les hommes indiqués ci-dessous, savoir :—

Les hommes appartenant à l'armée régulière, l'infanterie de marine royale, à la marine royale, à la réserve navale royale, à une unité permanente de la milice active, ou à la police montée du Nord-Ouest, ou qui ont été libérés des troupes mentionnées plus haut ou de la gendarmerie royale irlandaise, pour causes suivantes : (1) impropres au service, (2) mauvaise conduite, (3) mauvais caractère.

263. Des jeunes garçons, de bonne conduite, entre les âges de 14 (13, dans des cas spéciaux) et de 16 ans peuvent être enrôlés pour être employés comme tambours, clairons ou trompettes, mais on ne doit engager aucun jeune garçon, qui ne promet pas de devenir un bon soldat de milice, quand il aura atteint l'âge requis. Le consentement des parents ou des tuteurs est nécessaire pour enrôler un jeune garçon.

264. Quand un homme, qui a servi antérieurement dans l'armée régulière, l'infanterie de marine royale, la réserve de l'armée, la marine royale ou la milice canadienne, désire contracter un engagement ou un réengagement dans la milice, il doit donner des explications sur ses services antérieurs, sur les causes de sa libération, et fournir, si c'est possible, son certificat de libération, qui lui sera remis avec l'endos très visible suivant à l'encre rouge :—

dans.....corps
le.....

265. Les commandants de corps sont prévenus qu'ils doivent s'être eux-mêmes conformés aux prescriptions de l'Acte de la Milice, en prêtant le serment de fidélité devant un juge de paix, avant d'administrer ce même serment à un officier ou à un homme.

266. Tout homme de la milice active, qui a accompli son temps de service et se rengage pour une autre période, doit signer l'état de service de son corps et prêter le serment prescrit pour les premiers engagements.

267. Il est strictement défendu aux commandants de corps d'engager des hommes de milice, qui font, à la même époque, partie d'un autre corps.

RENGAGEMENTS.

268. Un soldat de milice, au-dessous de 45 ans, peut être rengagé à l'époque du dernier dressage annuel de son engagement, ou, dans la suite, à une époque antérieure à l'expiration de son temps de service, pour une période de trois ans comptés à dater du jour qui suit l'expiration de son engagement; les sergents et les sous-officiers d'un grade plus élevé peuvent rengager jusqu'à l'âge de 55 ans.

NOMINATIONS ET PROMOTIONS DES SOUS-OFFICIERS.

269. Toutes les nominations et les promotions de sous-officiers, excepté dans les troupes permanentes, sont faites par les commandants de corps, et tous les sous-officiers gardent leur grade durant le bon plaisir de leur commandant.

270. Tous les sous-officiers doivent être encouragés à rechercher l'avancement en obtenant leurs certificats d'aptitude dans une école militaire.

271. Les sous-officiers ne peuvent être nommés ou promus au grade de sergent sans être possesseurs d'un certificat d'aptitude obtenu dans une école militaire.

272. Les sous-officiers, avec le consentement de leurs chefs de corps, peuvent donner leur démission de leur grade et reprendre le grade qu'ils avaient auparavant, mais, à moins de sanction spéciale provenant des quartiers généraux, il ne leur est pas permis de le faire pour échapper à un procès devant une cour martiale.

CHANGEMENT DE RESIDENCE.

273. Les hommes de milice, qui changent de résidence, doivent donner leur nouvelle adresse au commandant de leur escadron, de leur batterie ou de leur compagnie.

ENROLEMENTS ILLEGAUX.

274. Quand on découvre qu'un homme, appartenant déjà à une fraction quelconque de la milice régulière ou des forces navales de Sa Majesté, s'est engagé dans la milice, son cas est soumis aux quartiers généraux, par la voie du commandant du district.

275. Quand on découvre qu'un homme appartenant à un corps de la milice, s'est engagé illégalement dans un autre corps, son cas (après avoir mis en vigueur les clauses de l'Acte de la Milice, ayant trait à de telles questions) est soumis aux quartiers généraux, qui désignent le corps où cet homme doit être affecté pour le service.

276. La libération des hommes de la milice est réglée comme suit :—

Les sous-officiers brevetés et les sous-officiers de la section des commis d'état-major du service du train des équi-pages de l'armée, ainsi que ceux qui ont un astérisque vis-à-vis de leur grade, n'ont pas le droit de prendre le commandement à la parade ou en service, mais ils jouissent des prérogatives de leur grade à l'égard de soldats spécialement placés sous leurs ordres.

SERVICE ACTIF ET ORDINAIRE.

283. Quand un corps de la milice est appelé en service actif, son commandant prend toutes ses dispositions pour faire prévenir ses hommes, et, après la première parade, il transmet au commandant du district un état exact de l'effectif de ses officiers et de ses hommes. Sans cette formalité, aucune solde ne peut être distribuée. Dans les districts de la campagne, les commandants de compagnies qui ne sont pas présents au chef-lieu de leur corps, sont responsables de l'exécution des prescriptions mentionnées ci-dessus. L'état de leur effectif sera adressé au commandant de leur régiment, s'ils font partie d'un régiment, sinon, au commandant du district.

284. Avant que le corps quitte son chef-lieu, son commandant fait faire une copie du contrôle des présents au corps, indiquant les noms des officiers et des hommes partants, avec les renseignements suivants:—

- 1° Le nom de chaque homme en toutes lettres.
- 2° Sa résidence habituelle.
- 3° Son âge.
- 4° Marié ou célibataire.
- 5° Son parent le plus rapproché.
- 6° La date de son engagement.

Au départ du corps une copie de ce contrôle, un état de mise en route par écrit, un certificat du médecin militaire, indiquant que tous les règlements ont été observés, et aussi un certificat du commandant lui-même déclarant que tout a été fait selon les règlements, sont immédiatement adressés par celui-ci, par la voie hiérarchique, au commandant du district, qui les transmet à l'adjudant général, aux quartiers-généraux.

285. Tous les états et les prescriptions ci-dessus sont absolument nécessaires, afin de permettre de tenir aux archives un registre des détails concernant la personnalité de tout homme qui est commandé de service actif.

286. Avant le départ, un médecin vétérinaire examine tous les chevaux du corps, et ne désigne pour le service que ceux qui sont forts et bien portants.

287. Le commandant du district ne doit permettre à aucun corps de quitter son chef-lieu, pour prendre un service actif, avant de s'être assuré que toutes les prescriptions indiquées dans les articles ci-dessus ont été strictement remplies. Quand il reçoit les états et les rapports, il les transmet immédiatement aux quartiers-généraux.

REVUES D'EFFECTIFS.

288. Aucun état de solde d'état-major, d'escadron, de batterie ou de compagnie ne peut contenir plus de noms que le nombre fixé par la loi comme ayant droit à la solde.

289. L'officier inspecteur est requis de comparer les états de solde avec les contrôles des corps, après la revue d'effectifs.

290. Avant la fin d'un camp d'instruction annuelle, chaque corps est passé en revue d'effectifs. L'officier payeur du camp pointe tous les noms et les chevaux sur la liste de solde, et il est responsable de ce qu'aucun paiement de solde ne soit fait à des personnes qui n'y ont pas droit.

291. Les revues d'effectifs des corps à cheval sont faites aux parades à cheval, et aucun excédent d'allocation n'est accordé, soit aux corps à cheval ou aux corps à pied.

EXERCICES ET DRESSAGE.

292. Sa Majesté peut ordonner aux officiers et aux hommes de la milice active, ou à une fraction quelconque de la milice, de faire l'exercice pendant une période ne dépassant pas 30 jours, tous les ans, et, pour chaque jour d'exercice d'une durée d'au moins trois heures, tous les officiers, les sous-officiers et les hommes reçoivent la solde de leur grade.

293. Quand les corps de la milice active sont campés pour l'exercice et le dressage annuels, ils sont considérés comme étant en service actif pendant la durée du camp, et de ce chef, les hommes de tout grade reçoivent les rations et l'abri aux frais du trésor public, en outre de la solde journalière; en pareils cas, la solde journalière est due pour chaque période de 24 heures, et le service et l'exercice à faire au camp sont prescrits à la discrétion du commandant.

EXERCICE.

294. L'exercice se fait tel qu'autorisé, de temps à autre, dans les ordres généraux ou les ordres de la milice.

295. Les sous-officiers des forces permanentes, quand ils sont disponibles, peuvent être détachés pour aider à l'instruction des corps des villes, sur l'autorisation des quartiers généraux, obtenue par la voie des commandants de districts.

CAMPS D'INSTRUCTION.

296. Quand la milice d'un district quelconque doit être exercée dans un camp d'instruction, les facilités de campement et de mouvement des troupes et de tir à la cible doivent être particulièrement étudiées en choisissant l'emplacement d'un camp, et il faut aussi tenir compte de sa position en ce qui concerne les facilités de réunion des différents corps qui y sont campés.

297. Un champ de tir convenable et n'offrant aucun danger est absolument indispensable dans un camp d'instruction.

298. Toutes les troupes présentes au camp sont sous les ordres de l'officier nommé au commandement de ce camp.

299. Les cadets du Collège militaire royal, recommandés par le commandant de ce collège et acceptés par les quartiers généraux, peuvent être attachés comme officiers subalternes aux corps campés pour l'instruction annuelle, et, pendant cette période de service, ils ont le grade de lieutenant, et sont en excédent de l'effectif pour la solde, les rations et les allocations.

300. Chaque corps qui doit faire partie d'un camp d'instruction envoie, au moins un jour d'avance, dimanche non compris, un détachement pour recevoir l'équipement et tracer le camp avant l'arrivée de leur corps. Ce détachement est composé du quartier-maître, du sergent quartier-maître et de quatre hommes, (y compris un cuisinier) par escadron de cavalerie, et de trois, dont un cuisinier, par compagnie d'infanterie.

301. Les batteries d'artillerie et les compagnies du génie envoient d'avance le capitaine, un sous-officier et quatre hommes, dont un cuisinier et un conducteur d'animal de bât, et les corps départementaux, un sergent quartier-maître et trois hommes, dont un cuisinier.

302. Il n'est permis ni aux officiers, ni aux hommes campés de découcher, à moins d'une permission particulière du commandant du camp. Le commandant du camp lui-même doit loger au camp.

303. Un seul drapeau national doit flotter dans le camp, et cela devant la tente du commandant; il est hissé au lever du soleil et descendu au soleil couchant. Les régiments peuvent employer des banderoles rouges portant leur numéro ou leur devise; le commandant d'un régiment a une large banderole devant sa tente.

304. Les femmes, les amies ou les enfants des officiers ou des hommes ne sont pas logés dans les limites d'un camp quelconque; il en est de même des chiens, qui y sont défendus.

305. Les commandants de camp, selon les besoins du service, peuvent exiger des commandants de corps de leur fournir certains états concernant l'administration intérieure de leur corps, et cela en outre des rapports réguliers prescrits par les règlements.

306. Pendant les exercices, le commandant du camp se rend compte de la valeur personnelle des officiers de chaque corps, dans l'exécution de leur service.

307. Les rapports d'inspection des commandants de camp sont adressés aux quartiers-généraux dans les quinze jours qui suivent cette inspection.

308. Le commandant du camp se rend compte du système employé pour communiquer les ordres, pour tenir le registre de correspondance et les archives des régiments, et de toute autre question concernant la discipline et l'administration intérieure des corps. Il inspecte les contrôles et les registres de libération des compagnies et rend compte de quelle manière les prescriptions de l'Acte de la Milice et les règlements ayant trait aux engagements et aux libérations sont observés partout.

309. A l'inspection de l'infanterie sur le terrain, il met pied à terre et inspecte chaque compagnie séparément, afin de se rendre compte de la condition des armes et de l'habillement, ainsi que du physique des hommes. Les capitaines sont ensuite invités à faire manœuvrer leur compagnie. Quand les compagnies ont moins de seize files, les hommes manœuvrent sur un rang. Le commandant du corps et les majors sont invités à faire manœuvrer le régiment.

310. A l'inspection de la cavalerie, dans les camps, un jour entier est consacré à la manœuvre de chaque escadron, et un autre jour à celle du régiment, sous les ordres du commandant et des majors.

311. Il n'est pas nécessaire de faire l'inspection d'un corps, au camp et sur le terrain, le même jour. L'inspection au camp, pour l'examen des officiers, peut se faire le soir, tout en tenant compte du bien-être général des officiers.

312. Les officiers inspecteurs doivent tenir compte qu'une revue et un défilé ou d'autres mouvements de parade et de cérémonie ne constituent pas une inspection, et même qu'ils n'en font pas nécessairement partie. Le but de l'inspection est de s'assurer et prendre note de l'état de l'organisation et la valeur du travail accompli dans chaque corps.

313. Les commandants de camp doivent adresser aux quartiers-généraux, dans les quinze jours qui suivent la clôture d'un camp, les états et les rapports suivants:—

- (1) Un état d'effectifs des corps de troupes campés.
- (2) Un rapport du travail journalier accompli au camp, pour démontrer le système d'instruction adopté.
- (3) Un état des malades traités à l'hôpital.
- (4) Un rapport sur le tir à la cible, en indiquant les meilleurs tireurs des régiments et du camp.
- (5) Modèle A.G.O. n° 215, dûment rempli.

314. Les rapports doivent être courts et concis, en éliminant toute question étrangère au sujet.

315. Une inspection médicale de chaque officier et de chaque homme doit, autant que possible, être faite avant que le corps quitte ses quartiers-généraux; sinon, immédiatement après son arrivée au camp. Pour les règlements spéciaux qui doivent guider les médecins militaires de régiment dans leur service, voir : "Services médicaux".

316. Le commandant du camp doit de suite faire une demande de transport, pour renvoyer dans leurs foyers les hommes qui ont été trouvés physiquement impropres au service. Il peut aussi renvoyer chez eux les hommes qu'il juge d'une force physique insuffisante, quoique ces hommes aient pu passer l'inspection préliminaire du médecin militaire du régiment.

Revue d'effectifs des troupes dans les camps d'instruction.

317. Une revue dans ce but est commandée pour le matin du second jour de l'arrivée au camp, à l'heure fixée par le commandant du camp. Tous les officiers d'état-major, les officiers, les sous-officiers brevetés, les sous-officiers, les hommes et les chevaux du camp doivent être présents à l'état-major ou avec leur unité, à l'exception des hommes de garde, des cuisiniers et de ceux dont rend compte le médecin principal militaire; et ils doivent rester sur le terrain jusqu'à ce que l'officier payeur du camp ait fait l'appel des contrôles respectifs, pointé les présents, effacé les noms des absents et noté sur le contrôle d'effectifs le nombre de chaque grade présents au camp, ainsi que le nombre de chevaux présents à l'état-major ou dans les unités. Ces contrôles et ces chiffres servent de direction pour perception de la solde, pour le transport, les rations, etc., pendant la durée du camp, à l'exception des pertes qui pourraient se produire d'une manière quelconque. Un duplicata de ce contrôle général d'effectifs est joint aux états de solde.

318. Avant que les hommes soient congédiés, ceux dont les noms figurent sur les contrôles d'effectifs, sont amenés devant le commandant du camp, qui, avant de certifier l'état de solde, compare les noms de ces hommes avec ceux qui sont sur l'état de solde, et s'assure que les réclamations de chaque personne pour la solde ont les pièces requises à l'appui. Le commandant du camp détient une copie de cet état.

319. Les commandants de compagnie, à moins d'ordres contraires, doivent personnellement payer leurs hommes une fois la semaine, et, également, quand leurs hommes sont logés sur billets, il leur faut personnellement payer avec ponctualité les comptes des billets de leurs hommes, tous les samedis, ou avant de se mettre en route.

320. Dans le cas où un homme de milice perd ou endommage un objet quelconque appartenant à l'Etat et qui lui a été confié pour le service, son commandant doit immédiatement en rendre compte aux quartiers-généraux, pour que le montant de la perte ou du dommage soit déduit de sa solde sur l'état de solde suivant. Afin de s'assurer de l'exécution de cette prescription, une inspection spéciale est faite une fois par mois ou à la fin du service, par le commandant de chaque station, dans toutes les casernes occupées par la milice, ainsi que des effets ou des propriétés de l'Etat, qui ont pu être mis à sa disposition. Un état, indiquant les dommages et les pertes, est adressé au commandant du district après chacune de ces inspections.

321. Les pertes d'effets personnels des hommes de milice en service ne sont pas remboursées par l'Etat, à moins qu'il soit clairement démontré que ces pertes ne sont aucunement dues au manque de soin, mais qu'elles étaient inévitables et que ces effets formaient partie de l'équipement nécessaire à un homme de milice.

MESS DES OFFICIERS.

322. La création d'un mess régimentaire, sur des bases régulières, est de la plus grande importance et demande l'attention soutenue et la surveillance continuelle du commandant, qui est responsable de la tenue correcte et de la vérification des comptes et de ce que chaque membre paie ses comptes de mess d'une manière régulière.

323. Quand un corps est campé pour l'instruction annuelle et qu'il a créé un mess régimentaire, tous les officiers présents doivent en faire partie; il n'y a aucune exception, sans une permission spéciale du commandant du camp.

324. Les commandants de corps ont la responsabilité de veiller à ce que les dépenses journalières du mess ne dépassent pas les moyens des officiers les moins élevés en grade.

325. Il ne faut pas oublier que le "mess" est une parade et que le plus ancien officier combattant présent est responsable du maintien de la discipline et de la bonne tenue au mess, et qu'il doit aussi prendre la préséance militaire en de telles occasions.

326. Un mess de sergents doit aussi être formé, quand la chose est possible.

CANTINES.

327. Rien dans les Règlements du Roi ou dans les Ordres de l'armée, en ce qui concerne l'installation des cantines, ne peut être compris comme permettant, dans les limites du camp (pendant l'instruction annuelle de la milice du Canada) la vente de spiritueux (vins compris) ou de bières de toutes sortes; cette vente est strictement défendue dans les limites du camp.

328. Les commandants de camps d'instruction sont tenus responsables de l'exécution de l'ordre ci-dessus, et, en outre, dans les parties du pays où la loi l'exige, ils sont passibles d'être poursuivis, ainsi que les commandants des unités de la milice active, pour toute vente de liqueurs dans les tentes ou autres endroits, sous leur contrôle, abstraction faite des punitions militaires auxquelles ils s'exposent à la suite d'un tel manquement à la discipline.

SERVICE DIVIN.

329. Quand la milice est de service, ou dans les camps d'instruction, les commandants de corps, autant que possible, doivent prendre des dispositions pour organiser des offices religieux spéciaux, et conduire de temps à autre leurs troupes à l'église.

330. Dans les réunions de troupes pour offices divins sur le terrain, on doit prendre soin de pas grouper un plus grand nombre d'hommes que celui que la voix peut atteindre. Les soldats qui assistent aux offices religieux portent sabre et ceinturon.

331. Tous les officiers, les sous-officiers et les hommes sont libres de suivre les exercices religieux de leur propre culte, quand ils ne sont pas empêchés par leur service militaire.

332. Les hommes de chaque dénomination religieuse, si leur nombre ne dépasse pas le chiffre de vingt, sont accompagnés au temple ou à l'église par un sergent, et par un officier, s'ils sont plus nombreux. L'officier ou le sergent doivent rester avec leurs hommes durant l'office divin.

MUSIQUES.

333. L'effectifs des musiques est indiqué dans le tableau des cadres des troupes.

334. Il est défendu aux musiciens, lorsqu'ils sont en tenue militaire, d'organiser des assemblées, des démonstrations et des processions politiques, et même d'y prendre part.

335. Les musiques qui ne se conforment pas à ces règlements, n'auront aucun droit aux allocations, instituées par le ministre de la Milice pour venir en aide à ces corps.

336. Les musiciens appartenant à des troupes permanentes doivent porter l'uniforme militaire en tout temps, dans les réunions particulières ou publiques auxquelles ils peuvent être appelés ou autorisés d'assister.

ORDONNANCES ET RÈGLEMENTS

337. Les chefs de musique ne doivent pas porter l'habit bourgeois lorsqu'ils sont de service, et leur uniforme doit être du modèle réglementaire.

338. Afin d'assurer l'uniformité d'exécution à l'occasion de réunions de plusieurs musiques pour être embri-gadées, chaque musique régimentaire reçoit un diapason et une série de pas redoublés arrangés en 24 parties sur 72 cartes, savoir :—

L'hymne national; pas redoublé; défilé au trot.

339. Les corps de troupes qui, dans la suite auraient besoin d'une nouvelle série de morceaux de brigade, peuvent se les procurer au prix de $1.50 la série. Cette somme est déposée au crédit du Receveur-général, et le reçu est transmis aux quartiers-généraux, avec la demande de morceaux.

340. Dans les camps, la musique régimentaire de service du jour doit jouer au réveil—le réveil, le défilé au trot et un pas redoublé. Au coucher du soleil (retreat)—la retraite et un pas redoublé. A la retraite (tattoo)—premier "post", un pas redoublé, suivi de l'hymne national et du dernier "post"; "L'extinction des feux" est sonnée par un clairon ou un musicien.

341. Les musiques doivent aussi, autant que possible, se réunir pour faire la répétition de la musique de brigade, sous la direction du chef de musique de brigade, nommé par le commandant du camp, et sont en outre exercées dans leurs mouvements par un tambour-major de choix, ou par une autre personne compétente.

342. Le chef de musique de brigade est responsable de l'ensemble et de l'exécution de la musique de brigade, mais les autres chefs de musique doivent lui aider, bien préparer leurs musiciens et s'assurer qu'ils sont compétents pour jouer leurs parties en toutes circonstances.

ESCORTES, SALUTS ET GARDES D'HONNEUR.

343. A la réception d'un avis par écrit du secrétaire militaire que Son Excellence le Gouverneur général exige une escorte, une garde d'honneur ou un salut, d'après les prescriptions des Règlements du Roi, le commandant de district ordonne immédiatement aux troupes permanentes d'exécuter ces services. S'il n'y a aucune troupe permanente disponible, un corps quelconque de la milice active est commandé à sa place, et cela se fait, dans les deux cas, sans en référer aux quartiers-généraux, mais l'avis par écrit du secrétaire militaire de Son Excellence est adressé aux quartiers-généraux, avec les états de solde.

344. Les gardes d'honneur auprès de Son Excellence le Gouverneur général sont composées, autant que faire se peut, tel qu'indiqué ci-dessous, avec les couleurs régimentaires :—

- 1 capitaine.
- 2 subalternes.
- 4 sergents.
- 4 caporaux.
- 96 hommes.

Total 107 de tout grade.

345. En sus des hommes ci-dessus, la solde est allouée à la musique, aux tambours et clairons du corps qui fournit les gardes d'honneur, pour le nombre d'hommes prescrit par les tableaux d'effectifs.

346. En sus des officiers mentionnés dans l'article 344, l'adjudant, ou l'officier qui en remplit les fonctions, le sergent-major du régiment, le sergent quartier-maître et le commis de l'officier payeur du corps qui fournit la garde d'honneur, sont de service pendant la journée que dure la garde d'honneur.

347. Une escorte de cavalerie, auprès de Son Excellence le Gouverneur général, se compose, autant que possible, du nombre d'officiers et d'hommes indiqué ci-dessous :—

- 1 capitaine.
- 2 subalternes.
- 1 sergent-major d'escadron.
- 3 sergents.
- 3 caporaux.
- 1 trompette.
- 27 hommes.

Total 38 de tout grade.

348. Quand la milice est de service comme garde d'honneur, etc., elle reçoit Son Excellence le Gouverneur général avec un "salut général", drapeaux et couleurs déployés, les officiers saluant et les musiques jouant la première partie de l'hymne national (six mesures); mais, à l'ouverture ou à la prorogation du parlement, elle reçoit Son Excellence avec un salut royal, les drapeaux et couleurs saluant, les officiers saluant, les hommes présentant les armes, les musiques jouant les six premières mesures de l'hymne national. Les gardes de service auprès du Gouverneur général ne rendent les honneurs à aucune autre personne.

349. Des gardes d'honneur qui rendent les mêmes honneurs tels qu'indiqué ci-dessus, sont fournies aux lieutenants-gouverneurs des provinces, pour l'ouverture et la prorogation des législatures provinciales. Les demandes pour ces gardes d'honneur sont faites au commandant du district, qui les commande sans autre formalité.

350. Un officier général, nommé au commandement des forces canadiennes, a droit, à son arrivée pour prendre son commandement, et à son départ, quand il le quitte, à une garde d'honneur composée d'un capitaine, d'un subalterne, de 2 sergents et de 50 hommes, avec musique.

351. En l'absence du Gouverneur général, l'Administrateur du gouvernement reçoit les mêmes honneurs que le Gouverneur général.

352. Quand la milice est au camp, pour les exercices annuels, tout le monde sort sans armes, quand Son Excellence le Gouverneur général passe devant le front de bandière du camp. En pareil cas, les troupes sont formées en colonne à rangs serrés, tous les officiers à leur poste.

353. Quand deux régiments ou détachements en armes se rencontrent en marche, ils sont mis au "garde à vous" et défilent, tenant leur droite, l'arme sur l'épaule, le sabre au clair, les musiques jouant. Une batterie d'artillerie avec ses pièces est sur le même pied qu'un régiment avec ses couleurs et doit être saluée en conséquence.

354. Quand l'artillerie exécute un salut avec des batteries et des pièces de campagne, la solde est allouée au détachement suivant :—

- 1 major ou capitaine.
- 3 lieutenants.
- 1 médecin militaire.
- 1 officier vétérinaire.
- 1 sergent-major.
- 1 sergent quartier-maître.
- 6 sergents.
- 6 caporaux.
- 6 bombardiers.
- 18 canoniers.
- 12 conducteurs.
- 1 trompette.
- 56 de tout grade.
- 38 chevaux.

355. Si le salut est exécuté par l'artillerie de forteresse avec des pièces de forteresse, la solde pour le vétérinaire, les 12 conducteurs et les 38 chevaux n'est pas allouée.

356. En exécutant les saluts avec les pièces de campagne, un intervalle de quinze secondes est observé entre chaque coup, mais s'il y a moins de six pièces disponibles, aucune d'elle ne doit être chargée deux fois en moins d'une minute. Quand on se sert de canons en fonte et que le nombre de pièces le permet, les coups sont espacés de quinze secondes, mais aucune pièce ne doit être chargée deux fois en moins de deux minutes.

357. Voici la liste des stations où sont autorisés les saluts royaux, aux anniversaires de la naissance du Roi et de la Reine, et à la fête nationale du Dominion :—

- Winnipeg, Man.
- London, Ont.
- Toronto, Ont.
- Kingston, Ont.—Fort Henry.

A Halifax, N.-E., et à Victoria, C.-B., les saluts sont exécutés par les troupes impériales pour les anniversaires de la naissance du Roi et de la Reine, et par les troupes canadiennes pour la fête du Dominion.

358. Québec est le seul port où soit autorisé l'échange de saluts avec les navires de guerre nationaux ou étrangers.

359. A Québec, tous les saluts des vaisseaux de guerre étrangers faits aux forts ou aux batteries de Sa Majesté sont rendus coup pour coup.

360. Les saluts d'artillerie sont exécutés dans les forts et les batteries désignées plus haut, comme suit:—

* Les hauts commissaires de l'Afrique du Sud et du Pacifique de l'Ouest, auront droit au même nombre de coups de canon quand ils font des visites, soit au débarquement ou à l'embarquement, quand le navire est en dehors des limites de leurs gouvernements, mais dans les limites indiquées dans leur commission.

362. Aucun salut, autre que ceux prescrits par les Règlements du Roi ou mentionnés dans le tableau ci-contre, ne doit être tiré, à moins d'une autorisation spéciale des quartiers-généraux.

363. Tous les saluts rendus aux stations désignées doivent l'être par les batteries indiquées.

364. Le commandant d'une batterie permanente d'artillerie, d'un poste quelconque, fixe l'heure à laquelle la batterie doit tirer le salut. Aux autres endroits, les dispositions pour exécuter le salut sont prises par le commandant du district.

365. Afin de prévenir toute erreur ou malentendu dans les villes où des troupes régulières de Sa Majesté sont en garnison, chaque fois qu'un corps de la milice exécute des exercices de tir à blanc ou des saluts, etc., dans les limites de la garnison, le commandant de la milice active en avise le commandant des troupes régulières.

OBSEQUES MILITAIRES.

366. Les officiers, les sous-officiers et les hommes de la milice active, excepté ceux qui meurent en service actif, n'ont pas droit aux honneurs militaires à leurs funérailles; cependant, si le désir en est exprimé et que cela n'entraîne aucune dépense du trésor public, on peut autoriser les honneurs militaires aux obsèques, quand la milice n'est pas en service actif.

367. Les affûts des batteries de campagne peuvent être obtenus pour les funérailles sur demande faite au commandant du district, à toutes les stations où les batteries de campagne ont leur dépôt, pour le transport du corps, quand le cimetière est distant de plus d'un mille de la résidence du défunt.

368. Des saluts de feux d'infanterie, aux obsèques, sont strictement réservés pour les obsèques militaires seulement.

369. L'ordre à observer et de plus amples directions pour ces obsèques sont indiqués dans les règlements pour les exercices d'infanterie.

POSTES A DRAPEAUX ET DRAPEAUX A DEPLOYER.

370. Quand deux drapeaux de même description sont distribués, le plus petit doit être employé pendant le mauvais temps.

DRAPEAUX DES GOUVERNEURS DES COLONIES.

371. L'étendard royal flotte sur l'Hôtel du Gouvernement aux jours de naissance du Roi et de la Reine, et également aux jours de l'avènement du Roi au trône et de son couronnement.

372. Le drapeau national, sans insigne colonial, flotte les autres jours, sur l'Hôtel du Gouvernement, du lever au coucher du soleil.

373. Le drapeau national, avec les armes et l'insigne du Canada, peints au centre et entourés d'une guirlande verte, est employé par les gouverneurs, les lieutenants-gouverneurs ou les administrateurs du gouvernement du Canada ou des provinces quand ils sont à bord de bateaux ou de navires.

374. Le pavillon de poupe bleu britannique, avec les armes et l'insigne de la colonie peints sur les plis (tel que décrit dans le dessin joint à la dépêche-circulaire du 23 août 1875) et la flamme, doit flotter sur tous les vaisseaux armés à l'emploi du gouvernement d'une colonie.

375. Le pavillon de poupe bleu, tel que décrit plus haut, mais sans la flamme, doit flotter sur tous les navires non-armés qui appartiennent ou qui sont au service du gouvernement d'une colonie.

376. Tous les autres navires enregistrés comme appartenant aux colonies ou aux dépendances de Sa Majesté doivent déployer le pavillon de poupe rouge, sans insigne.

377. Quand le commandant d'un des navires de Sa Majesté reçoit l'ordre de prendre à son bord et de transporter un gouverneur, un haut-commissaire, un lieutenant-gouverneur, un administrateur du gouvernement d'une colonie ou d'une dépendance, le plus ancien officier présent peut ordonner de hisser le pavillon spécial d'un de ces personnages officiels quelconque, au mât de perroquet de misaine du navire sur lequel il est embarqué, pourvu qu'après consultation avec ce personnage officiel, il soit reconnu que le déploiement de ce pavillon peut être nécessaire pour l'accomplissement de la mission de ce fonctionnaire, et qu'il ne doit flotter que dans les limites de son gouvernement ou de la juridiction de sa haute commission, où il a droit aux saluts tels que prescrits par les règlements du roi et de l'amirauté.

378. Si le plus ancien officier considère que, dans certaines circonstances, il n'y a pas lieu de hisser le pavillon, il fait part au gouverneur, au haut-commissaire, etc., de ses raisons et en rend compte immédiatement à l'amirauté.

379. Quand un gouverneur, un haut-commissaire, etc., d'une colonie est envoyé en mission étrangère, en sa capacité officielle de gouverneur ou de haut-commissaire, des instructions spéciales sont données, dans chaque cas, concernant le pavillon qui doit flotter sur le navire de guerre, sur lequel il est embarqué ; faute de telles instructions, le plus ancien officier présent doit agir à sa discrétion après s'être consulté avec le fonctionnaire en mission.

DRAPEAUX DES CORPS DE TROUPES (COLOURS).

380. Quand les drapeaux sont portés d'un endroit à un autre, ils sont toujours accompagnés d'une escorte, qui leur rend les honneurs réglementaires.
